BATTLE IN JAVA SEEN AS BITTER WAR TO DEATH

Will Last for Days, Says Tribune Man

Set Fire to City

SOERABAJA, Java., Nov. 15 (AP)—Smoke and clouds dimmed Java's sun today as Indonesians applied the torch in their scorched earth retreat before the British Indian and Yorkshire forces. The largest fire broke out last night east of the city. Civilians said it was one of the city's largest clothing warehouses, but it was obvious the adjoining rubber and oil stocks had caught fire. This morning three other warehouses were set afire.

SOERABAJA, Java, Nov. 15—This war in Soerabaja is war to the death. Never in the Pacific war has the fighting been more bitter than in the occupation of this Java port. The Indonesians are taking no prisoners and British troops kill every armed man they can get their guns on.

Ever since the third day British Indian troops have been held virtually to a standstill, their way completely blocked by machine guns and rifles manned by men who give up their weapons only when dead.

A Japanese tank fired upon British lines today just ahead of government house in central Soerabaja. A British tank moved quickly into that section. One light Japanese tank was knocked out by a British tank yesterday from a distance of only 20 yards.

Shell Hits Jeep

Fire from an Indonesian 75 mm. gun continued thruout the night, one shell hitting a jeep and killing one occupant.

Because both sides are keeping under cover of thick concrete buildings, the casualties are fairly light. But that's because only a few people stick up their heads to get shot at. On the first day Indonesian casualties were heavy. At 11 a. m. last Saturday British ships, planes, and artillery laid down a severe five minute barrage. The Indonesians were crowded in the streets, men, women, and children, and were easy victims of the long range weapons.

Yet nightly from the British Broadcasting corporation and stations in San Francisco, Cal., troops hanging on for their lives hear fantastic reports of the easy British progress, crediting Batavia correspondents. If ever the press got a black eye it is with the soldiers fighting today in Soerabaja.

Correspondence Limited

Complete reports have not been emanating from Soerabaja for one reason alone: lack of communications. The British check correspondents' copy, and so far have made no cuts. Each of the 10 correspondents, American, British, and Australian, here is limited to 200 words daily. The only communication is handled by a frigate whenever its transmitter is idle. This report is being sent by plane to Batavia.

Eva's Album of Hitler and Baby Found

FRANKFURT, Germany, Nov. 15 (AP)—Eva Braun's treasure chest was found today and American intelligence officers discovered beneath its hoard of jewelry and money dozens of photographs showing family pictures of her and Hitler and a mysterious baby girl called Uschi.

Hitler, it seems, was quite generous with nazi loot to the woman who is believed to have died with him in the gloom of the Berlin chancellery while Berlin burned.

The pictures of the baby were in Eva's personal album.

The treasure trove contained the woman's diary, which employed every other sentence to tell of "my undying love."

$500,000 Silver Set

Thousands of dollars in American bills in varying denominations and a brooch set with 50 diamonds and valued at $15,000 were found. The prize treasure, however, was an 18th century silver set bearing the royal emblem of the Polish crown and valued by American officers at between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

The announcement of the treasure's discovery called Eva Hitler's "supposed wife."

There have been various reports that the couple had at least one child, altho British intelligence investigations concluded that Hitler and Eva Braun were married only the day before they died.

Eva's pictures showed Hitler and the blonde Uschi in many poses, from infancy until the little girl appeared to be about 3 years old in the last snapshots, dated 1944.

"And here is Uschi again," was the only identification under the snapshots pasted in the pages, much as normally they would be in any family album.

Kept Bloodstained Uniform

Another of Eva's prizes in the treasure chest was the uniform Hitler wore July 20, 1944, when an attempt was made on his life. The bloodstained and tattered field gray coat and the black trousers were torn to shreds, indicating they had been ripped off Hitler swiftly after the explosion. Hitler's coat bore a 1940 date. His black shoes carried the trademark of a Warsaw shoemaker.

Several pictures of Hitler showed him carrying a cane at diplomatic functions, apparently because he was suffering from the July bomb explosion. Eva kept several pictures also of herself in bathing suit poses.

The tip-off which led to the discovery of the chest came when a German officer, whose name is being kept secret, told a friend: "I know where the suit is that was worn by the fuehrer at the time of the attempt on his life."

On Bavarian Estate

A grilling of this officer resulted in the finding of Eva's possessions on a Bavarian estate whose precise location was not disclosed.

American investigators also hinted that stamp collections stolen from countries overrun by the nazis formed an important link in the discovery.

THE IMPATIENT HITCH-HIKERS

Lewis Asked to Head New Labor Group

BY GEORGE HARTMANN
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers union, was asked tonight to head a new national federation of labor to be made up of independent unions.

The veteran miners' leader, who was responsible for the formation of the Congress of Industrial Organizations when he left the American Federation of Labor in 1936, is "considering the proposition."

Spokesmen for the independent unions said the need for an amalgamation of their organizations has been apparent from the opening day of the current national labor-management conference. At that time a dozen independent union leaders who said they represented nearly 200,000 workers, picketed the conference hall because they had not been invited to attend.

Urged to Form 3d Federation

Lewis' invitation to head a new federation was disclosed after Walter W. Cenerazzo of Boston, Mass., international president of American Watch Workers' union, met with Lewis for nearly an hour.

Cenerazzo said Lewis had been rged to join with other independent unions leaders in forming a "third federation."

"Recognizing the need for a new federation of labor in America," Cenerazzo said, "we have undertaken to canvass the presidents of all unaffiliated unions to get their views on setting up a federation devoted to the principles of union democracy and labor management coöperation."

Cenerazzo told Lewis he would call a meeting in January in Washington to discuss plans for the new federation.

"Need Lewis' Leadership"

Cenerazzo said "the independent unions of the nation need Lewis' kind of leadership and national affiliation today more than ever. To remain as small independent unions will mean economic suicide to many of them. To those of us to whom the AFL and the 'political actionist CIO' are not acceptable, the only answer is another labor federation."

He said the independent unions are not represented at the labor-management conference because "we had no way for selecting leadership. This must never happen again."

Lewis' union is the most powerful of the big independents, with a membership of about 600,000.

PRICE OF NYLONS IS REDUCED 25 PCT. EFFECTIVE NOV. 20

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—The office of price administration today unveiled good news for the ladies—a cut of at least 25 per cent in ceiling prices for nylon stockings. It goes into effect Nov. 20 in retail stores and at all other sales levels.

The new prices are based on production costs of June, 1941, which Price Administrator Bowles said was the "last normal pre-war market for nylons."

Subsequently, Bowles added, military demand for nylon caused prices for hosiery "to skyrocket." He said ceiling set for 1942 checked this rise.

Here are some examples of the new and old ceilings:

First quality full-fashioned nylons will range from 95 cents to $2.05. Previously the range was $1.65 to $2.50 a pair.

OPA said the most popular kind of nylons would sell at retail for $1.20 to $1.40, or from 45 to 65 cents a pair below present ceilings. These prices apply to 45 gauge first quality full-fashioned hose.

RELEASE OF CAR PRICE CEILINGS DELAYED AGAIN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Acceding to dealers' demands, the OPA today again postponed announcement of price ceilings for new automobiles.

Price Administrator Bowles had said previously that ceilings on some makes of new cars would be made public today.

The postponement, the second in a week, is to permit OPA to examine new financial information submitted by dealers to the house small business committee, the agency said in a statement.

An OPA spokesman said it might be "early next week before any announcement is made."

TRUMAN'S GOT ICEBOX TO RAID ON THIRD FLOOR

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Now that he's President, Harry Truman can raid the icebox at night without going downstairs.

The regular White House refrigerator is a huge affair, but there's a family sized one on the third floor which is kept stocked with fruit juice, milk, and various foods to which the President can help himself.

This and a few other details of the first family's routine were reported to a news conference today by Mrs. James Meredith Helm, the White House social secretary, and Miss Reathel Odum, secretary to Mrs. Truman.

Baptists Assail Truman Over Booze, Poker

Fort Worth, Tex., Nov. 15 [Special]—President Truman, a Baptist, who has been known to take a drink and deal a hand of poker, may not receive an honorary degree from a Texas Baptist university because of his attitude toward drinking and gambling.

On the motion of the Rev. L. L. Roloff of Corpus Christi the Texas Baptist general convention today adopted the following as a resolution:

"Because of the reported attitude of the President of the United States as a Baptist toward gambling and drinking and because of the invitation of Baylor university to confer upon him the high recognition of a honorary degree, I move that we instruct the trustees of all our colleges and universities not to confer any honorary degree on those holding to such a position."

Can't Be "Good Baptist"

After the resolution had been adopted unanimously, the Rev. W. L. Shuttleworth of Houston, chairman of the convention's civic righteousness committee, said:

"No Baptist school should confer a degree on a man who likes poker and drinks bourbon. I know that we all agree that no man—even the President of the United States—could be a good Baptist and drink his liquor."

Eight Texas Baptist colleges and universities are affected by the convention action. The largest of them is Baylor university in Waco and Dallas, which had invited President Truman to accept an honorary degree Dec. 5 in Waco.

"No Comment," Says Neff

Pat Neff, former Texas governor and now president of Baylor, was asked what his university would do about the invitation. "No comment," he replied.

In Washington, D. C., there was no immediate comment from the White House.

Polish Mission on Way to Seek Credits in U. S.

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 15 (AP)—A Polish economic mission was on its way today to Washington, D. C., to seek credits for reconstruction and to present Polish requirements to UNRRA officials. Ludwig Rajchman heads the mission, which includes representatives of the coal, textile, steel, chemical, and railroad industries.

Billions Worth of War Planes Being Junked

BY WILLIAM MOORE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Walnut Ridge, Ark., Nov. 15—The government today took reporters into its "white elephant" graveyard here—one of the six air fields in five states where most of the warplanes that cost American taxpayers 43 billion dollars are being scrapped.

The visitors, brought in two transport planes from Washington, D. C., watched while tremendous piles of fighting planes were flattened to sheet aluminum by a 12 ton tractor. They saw P-40s, P-47s, P-51s stacked on their noses in long rows by a derrick to save space while they awaited their turn in the crushing yard.

The planes to be scrapped were so thickly packed in the 1,400 acre scrapping field that the reporters were taken on their inspection tour in jeeps.

One from Borneo

One of the doomed planes that came in during the day had seen service in Borneo. It was navigated by Lt. Rubin Shapiro, 716 S. Lawndale av., Chicago, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sol Shipiro. He is a wearer of the air medal.

Crushing of the plane bodies was the most spectacular demonstration of the day. Partially dismantled, they had been stacked 10 feet high in a large lot. A giant tractor crushed them as it climbed the pile and backed down again.

New planes and old planes received the same treatment, after motors, radios, and other equipment had been salvaged. Unfinished ones are scrapped at the factory, but finished ones are sent here to be junked with the veterans of overseas missions. Among the new ones were 87 B-32's which were being produced as the successors of the famed B-29 when the war ended.

All told, 4,200 planes that cost 969 million dollars stand row on row waiting to be wrecked on the Walnut Ridge field. The Reconstruction Finance corporation, which is doing the wrecking for the surplus property administration, says they have no market for resale purposes.

48,000 Declared Surplus

Operations similar to those here will be carried on at Altus and Clinton, Okla.; Kingman, Ariz.; Augusta, Ga., and Ontario, Cal. The aluminum will be sold for various commercial uses, tho when remelted it will not have the qualities of new aluminum.

Government representatives who accompanied the newspaper men said 48,000 planes built for the war have been declared surplus. All combat planes are to be scrapped, as buyers can be found only for the transports, trainers, and "grasshoppers" of small size used for artillery spotting and reconnaissance. Fifteen thousand marketable planes have been sold for 30 million dollars.

Ninety per cent of all combat planes will be scrapped immediately and the other 10 per cent will be stored away, but it was learned on excellent authority that they, too, will go to the scrap pile after the taxpayers stop complaining.

Soon Become Obsolete

The government's explanation is that new developments in combat planes will make the present ones obsolete in a short time.

W. Stuart Symington, surplus property administrator, termed the excess planes "white elephants with wings" in a pamphlet illustrated with white elepants wearing wings in Disney style.

"The United States taxpayer cannot expect to recover any substantial portion of the 43 billion dollars invested in war aircraft," the pamphlet said over Symington's signature.

From Dayton, O., Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Knerr, commander of the air technical service command, sent these words:

COMMANDERS IN HAWAII NEVER TOLD OF DANGER

'WAR IMMINENT!' TOKYO TOLD ITS U. S. AID NOV. 27

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Japanese Peace Ambassador Saburo Kurusu called President Roosevelt "Miss Kimiko" and spoke of the possible outbreak of war as "childbirth" in a telephone talk with Tokyo just before the Pearl Harbor attack.

Congressional Pearl Harbor investigators today were given the transcript of a tapped conversation Nov. 27, 1941, between Kurusu and Yamamoto, chief of the Japanese foreign office's American division. Here it is, including parenthetical decoding and comments by the interceptor:

KURUSU—Hello, hello, this is Kurusu.

YAMAMOTO—This is Yamamoto.

KURUSU—Yes, hello, hello.

"Making a Record, Huh?"

[Unable to get Yamamoto for about six or eight seconds. He said aside, to himself, or to some one near him];

KURUSU—O, I see, they're making a record of this, huh?

[It is believed he meant that the six second interruption was made so that a record could be started in Tokyo.]

KURUSU—Hello. Sorry to trouble you so often.

YAMAMOTO—How did the matrimonial question get along today? [Decode: How did the negotiations go today?]

KURUSU—O, haven't you got our telegram yet? It was sent—let me see—at about 6—no, 7 o'clock. Seven o'clock. About three hours ago. There wasn't much that was different from what Miss Umeko [Secretary Hull] said yesterday.

YAMAMOTO — O, there wasn't much difference?

KURUSU—No, there wasn't. As before, that southward matter—that south, south—southward matter, is having considerable effect. You know, southward matter.

Sticks to Character

YAMAMOTO — [Obviously trying to indicate the serious effect that Japanese concentrations, etc., in French Indo-China were having on the conversations in Washington. He tries to do this without getting away from the "Miss Umeko, childbirth, marriage" characters of the voice code.] O, the south matter? It's effective?

KURUSU: Yes, and at one time, the matrimonial question seemed as

MORE DARKNESS THAN EXPECTED ENGULFS PROBE ON FIRST DAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—The Pearl Harbor investigation opened in semi-darkness today.

At 10 a. m., announced time for the opening, the chandeliers in the marble walled hearing room of the senate office building were turned off and the glaring spotlights of newsreel photographers turned on.

At 10:05 Sen. Barkley [D., Ky.] banged his gavel and the hearing was on, with witnesses, counsel, and committee members straining to see each other and their papers in the half dark.

At 10:10, Barkley demanded: "How about some light in here?"

The spotlights went off, but the chandeliers remained dark. Sergeant at Arms Wall Doxey shouted thru the darkness, "Mr. Chairman, a fuse has blown."

Committee Counsel Mitchell said he could proceed in the dark—a remark that brought a laugh from Republican members.

At 10:15 Barkley asked plaintively, "how about the light?"

It was another 10 minutes before the overhead lights were on. Everyone blinked a couple of times, then the hearing got under way.

Congress Probers Hear Tragic Lack of Preparation

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—The tragic unpreparedness at Pearl Harbor when 105 Jap planes roared down on the American fleet at 7:55 a. m. Dec. 7, 1941, was depicted in shocking detail before a congressional investigating committee today.

At the same time, a wealth of evidence was presented, in the form of more than 700 decoded Japanese messages, which revealed that the top command in Washington thruout 12 months prior to the attack was constantly informed of the increasingly warlike intentions of the enemy.

Kimmel, Short Attend

Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Gen. Walter C. Short, commanding officers at Hawaii at the time of the disaster, sat in the front row listening grimly. They were in civilian clothes, deprived of the uniforms they once wore so proudly. That they never were given an inkling of the fateful import of those decoded messages is a fact already stressed in official reports and to which they will eventually have their day in court to testify.

The two retired commanders, for nearly four years the targets of attack for neglect of duty, heard witnesses detail the terrible price paid that Sunday morning for the unreadiness against air assault. The toll was some 3,000 lives of American sailors and soldiers; four great battleships lying in the harbor mud; three others badly damaged; three light cruisers and three destroyers heavily damaged, and 49,115 tons of auxiliary navy craft sunk or damaged.

Messages Tell All

The contents of a score of the intercepted messages already have been made public but the committee, press, and an audience which jammed the senate caucus room were alike stunned by the multiplicity of detail recorded in the mass of exhibits which Committee Counsel William D. Mitchell, former attorney general, placed in the record.

Japan knew every movement of the fleet in the Pacific, from the Aleutians to the Panama canal, and westward to the Philippines, the messages showed. And American intelligence was immediately aware, thru the skill of our cryptoanalytic units, that Japan knew.

[Decoded spy messages on United States fleet movements introduced as evidence at inquiry. Story starts on page 4.]

War Preparations Known

But far more striking in significance were the contents of some 500 diplomatic messages between Tokyo, Washington, and other capitals of the world which, decoded almost as fast as they were sent, poured into Washington the story of Japan's preparation for war with the United States while its envoys negotiated with the late President Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Hull in an apparent effort to maintain peace.

Open a World of Intrigue

The decoded messages telling of ship movements, more than 200 in number dated back to Dec. 2, 1940. The report of the decoded diplomatic messages began on July 2, 1941.

There were, moreover, reports from Japanese ambassadors in Berlin and Rome of conversations with Hitler, Ribbentrop, and Mussolini. The axis leaders were wrathful at the "fanatic Roosevelt."

On Sept. 24, 1941, Japan requested information on our ships in Pearl Harbor and got it. On Nov. 15, the Jap minister at Honolulu was requested to bring this information "up to date."

The famous "winds" message of Nov. 19, giving the Jap code "Higashi no Kazeame" meaning "east wind, rain," signifying a break in diplomatic relations with the United States, was presented in its entirety for the first time. The code was broadcast in a weather forecast Dec. 4 and 5 and Washington then knew the die was cast.

On Nov. 28, a decoded message said negotiations would be "de facto" ruptured in "two or three days." On Nov. 30, Hitler was warned that a Japanese war with the United States might come "quicker than any one dreams." On Dec. 1, Japanese diplomats in London, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Manila were ordered to destroy their codes, always a sure sign of impending war.

Ultimatum Answered

From Dec. 1 to Dec. 7, a series of messages between Tokyo and Washington continued the story. On Dec. 7 [still Dec. 6 at Pearl Harbor] came the Japanese reply to the Hull ultimatum of Nov. 26 and the significant instruction to deliver it at 1 p. m., Dec. 7, Washington time, which was dawn in Hawaii.

The hearing was promptly opened at 10:05 a. m. by Chairman Barkley [D., Ky.].

Barkley was flanked at the long committee table by Sen. George [D., Ga.] on his right, and Rep. Cooper [D., Tenn.], vice chairman, on his left. The three remaining Democrats, Sen. Lucas [Ill.] and Representatives Clark [N. C.], and Murphy [Pa.], were given the next favored positions. The four Republican members, Sen. Brewster [Me.], Sen. Ferguson [Mich.], Representatives Keefe [Wis.] and Gearhart [Cal.], occupied the end positions.

Only 265 Admitted

Capital police guarded the entrances and only 265 persons bearing special cards of admission were admitted to occupy the seats in the rear of the committee room. Members of the press numbered close to 100 and the committee staff and several score navy and army officers, sporting much gold braid, helped jam the chamber to capacity.

Against one wall were mounted three great maps of the Island of Oahu, one in relief showing the cramped quarters of Pearl Harbor and the guarding mountain ranges which helped make the air attack successful.

Thruout the day, as the testimony progressed, army and navy public relations officers inundated the committee and the newspaper men with scores of maps and charts.

Barkley Irritated

The acoustics of the chamber were poor and microphones in front of the committee members, counsel, and witnesses did little to alleviate the difficulties of hearing. Photographers in great number and moving picture men swarmed about the witness table until Barkley, in some irritation, warned them off.

The chairman also admonished the spectators to make no demonstration, either of approval or disapproval.

The first witnesses, Rear Adm. T. B. Inglis, chief of naval intelligence, and Col. Bernard Thielin, member of the army general staff, testified in great detail for nearly three hours, giving an itemized account of what happened Dec. 7, 1941.

Before this testimony, however, Senators Ferguson and Brewster recorded their belief that the opening of the hearings was "premature," and predicted that confusion and delay would result from the gag tactics practiced by the majority which prevented minority members from inspecting government records and permitting the questioning of prospective witnesses only a few days ago, eight weeks after the committee was created.

Air Search Charts

Navy chart shows how Jap planes approached Hawaii unobserved by the Dec. 7, 1941 patrol of areas thru which the Japs did not pass.

NOTES PROVE SENSATION

The remarkable series of diplomatic messages, sent by the Japanese government between July 1 and Dec. 8, 1941, and almost immediately decoded by army and navy cryptoanalytic units, proved the sensation of the hearing.

The intercepted messages were placed in the record in the form of a printed document of 253 pages. Members of the committee were provided with this document two days ago. It was not indexed and did not carry any explanatory matter and most members confessed they had not had time to digest it.

The contents of a score of these messages had been divulged to congress a weak ago by Rep. Gearhart, who obtained them from a top secret source. The official record buttressed in every detail Gearhart's statement at that time that high Washington authorities were long conversant with Japan's hostile intentions before Pearl Harbor, but withheld this vital information from the commanding officers on Oahu.

Other Messages Included

The messages were mainly communications between Tokyo and Washington where Japanese envoys Kichisaburo Nomura and Saburo Kurusu were "negotiating" with State Secretary Hull in a presumed effort to stave off war. Messages between Tokyo and Berlin, Budapest, Vancouver, B. C., and Japanese diplomats thruout the world also were intercepted.

The first decoded message was sent from Tokyo to the Japanese embassy in Berlin July 2, 1941. At that time, more than five months before the Pearl Harbor attack, Tokyo advised its axis ally that Japan would adhere to the policy of establishing the greater East Asia sphere of co-prosperity "regardless of how the world situation may change."

From then, almost daily, the messages revealed, Tokyo in belligerent terms to its diplomatic agents repeatedly expressed its intention of "putting an end to Anglo-American resistance in thwarting her natural expansion." Its Washington envoys were instructed to continue diplomatic negotiations "to prevent the United States from entering the war," but were told that Japan would decide "when and how force will be employed."

The "Winds" Message

The famous "winds" message was sent from Tokyo to Washington Nov. 19. It read as follows:

"Regarding the broadcast of a special message in an emergency.

"In case of emergency [danger of cutting off our diplomatic relations] and the cutting off of international communications, the following warning will be added in the middle of the daily Japanese language short wave news broadcast:

"1. In case of Japan-United States relations in danger: 'Higashi No Kazeame.' [Translation, 'east wind, rain.']

"2. Japan-U. S. S. R. relations: 'Kitanokaze Kumori.' [Translation, 'north wind, cloudy.']

"3. Japan-British relations: 'Nishi No Kaze Hart.' [Translation, 'west wind, clear.']

"The signal will be given in the middle and at the end as a weather forecast, and each sentence will be repeated twice. When this is heard, please destroy all code papers, etc. This is as yet to be a completely secret arrangement. Forward as urgent intelligence."

Words Used Twice

On Dec. 4 and again on Dec. 5 the code words signifying "east wind, rain" and "west wind, clear" were heard in the weather forecasts, thus signifying an early break in relations with the United States and Great Britain.

Pertinent extracts from the decoded messages, together with their dates, follow:

Tokyo to Washington, Nov. 20: "We see no prospects for breaking the deadlock. . . . The premier also is absolutely in accord with this opinion."

Washington [Nomura] to Tokyo, Nov. 20: "I and Kurusu called on Secretary Hull. . . . He was terribly aroused. He said, 'So long as it is not made clear that Japan is turning toward a peaceful policy, it will be impossible to stop aiding China, just like it will also be impossible to cut off assistance from Great Britain.'"

"Deadline" Fixed, Japs Say

Tokyo to Washington, Nov. 22: "If the signing [of an agreement with the United States] can be completed by the 29th, we have decided to wait until that date. This time we mean it, that the deadline absolutely cannot be changed. After that things are automatically going to happen."

On Nov. 23 a long message in four parts was sent by Nomura to Tokyo. It described a discussion with Hull in which the state secretary was called "evasive" when asked for a clear statement of United States' attitude to the Japanese proposal. Extracts from the messages continue:

Tokyo to Washington, Nov. 24: "We have gone out of our way to venture this proposal in order to break the deadlock. we absolutely cannot make any further concessions. . . . It is necessary to warn the United States against enticing England, Australia, the Netherlands, etc., in paving the way for a joint hostile setup. A total withdrawal of troops [from China] is impossible."

Hanoi to Tokyo, Nov. 25: "We are advised by the military that we are to have a reply from the United States on the 25th. If this is true, no doubt the cabinet will make a decision between peace and war within the next day or two. . . . Our forces shall be able to move within the day."

Bangkok to Tokyo, Nov. 25: "In the event of the empire's taking decisive action in a southward advance . . . it will be absolutely necessary to bring Thai into our camp."

Tokyo to Washington, Nov. 26: "The situation is momentarily becoming more tense. . . ." [Instructions then followed for the use of a shortened code. The code for "situation taking critical turn" was given as "Keisei kyunten suru" [translated as "the child is born."].

Washington to Tokyo, Nov. 26 [by trans-Pacific Telephone, Kurusu talking to Kumaicho Yamamoto]: "I have made all efforts but they will not yield." Yamamoto: "The situation in Tokyo is extremely critical, also." Kurusu: "I imagine you had expected this outcome." Yamamoto: "Yes, I had expected it, but wished to exert every effort up to the final moment in the hope that something might be accomplished."

Predicts U. S.-Jap "Rupture"

Washington to Tokyo, Nov. 26 [from Nomura and Kurusu]: "Sorry as we are to say so, the negotiations will inevitably be ruptured, if indeed they may not already be called so. Our failure and humiliation are complete. We might suggest one thing for saving the situation. Altho we have grave misgivings, we might propose that President Roosevelt wire you that for the sake of posterity he hopes that Japan and the United States will cooperate for the maintenance of peace in the Pacific."

Washington to Tokyo, Nov. 26: "We suppose that the rupture of the present negotiations does not necessarily mean war between Japan and the United States but after we break off, as we said, the military ocupation of Netherlands India is to be expected of England and the United States. Then we would attack them and a clash with them would be inevitable. . . . In this telegram we are expressing the last personal opinions we will have to express. . . ."

Dumbfounded by Proposal

Washington [Nomura] to Tokyo, Nov. 26: "Hull outlined his proposals [the ultimatum]. . . . We were both dumfounded. . . . We argued back furiously but Hull remained solid as a rock. Why did the United States have to propose such hard terms as these? Well, England, the Netherlands, and China doubtless put her up to it. . . . Unfortunately, there are no hopes of acceptance of our demands within the time limit you set. . . . Altho we cannot allow ourselves to be caught napping by this scheming, we must follow out instructions. If we do not cause any stop in the present negotiations, in the case of taking independent action after the time set" [remainder garbled].

Tokyo to Washington, Nov. 28: "With a report of the views of the imperial government on this American proposal which I will send you in two or three days, the negotiations will be de facto ruptured. This is inevitable. However, I do not wish you to give the impression that the negotiations are broken off. Merely say to them that you are awaiting instructions. From now on, do the best you can."

Hitler Quoted in Message

A long message from Berlin to Tokyo on Nov. 29 quoted Hitler as saying: "If Japan reaches a decision to fight Britain and the United States I am confident that that will be to the interest of Germany and Japan jointly." The message quoted Ribbentrop as saying: "Roosevelt's a fanatic, so it is impossible to tell what he would do. . . . Should Japan become engaged in a war against the United States, Germany, of course, would enter the war immediately."

Tokyo to Berlin, Nov. 30: "Say very secretly to Hitler and Ribbentrop that there is extreme danger that war may suddenly break out between the Anglo-Saxon nations and Japan thru some clash of arms and add that the time of breaking out of this war may come quicker than any one dreams. The [United States] proposal is insulting. It is clear that the United States is now in collusion with those nations [England, Australia, Netherlands, and China] and has decided to regard Japan, along with Germany and Italy, as an enemy."

Codes Ordered Destroyed

On Dec. 1, Tokyo notified its envoys in Washington that it had been decided to withhold submitting an answer to the Hull ultimatum. At the same time, another intercepted message gave orders to destroy all codes, using chemicals on hand for that purpose. The four offices in London, Hong Kong, Singapore, and Manila similarly were instructed to abandon the use of code machines and to dispose of them. The message contained instructions to relay those instructions to France, Germany, Italy, and Turkey from Switzeralnd and to Brazil, Argentina, and Mexico from Washington.

The declaration of war already was considered to be an established fact in a Dec. 1 message from Tokyo to Hsinking which gave instructions for Manchuria's participation in the conflict.

From Canton, China, to Tokyo, Dec. 2, came the message: "If hostilities are to begin, we here are all prepared. The army has completed all preparations to move immediately upon Thai."

"Winds" Message Reported

On Dec. 3, came Tokyo's message to all its consulates to be on the watch for the "winds" message in the weather forecast which would mean war. Instructions were given not to destroy this code "until the last moment." The "winds" message came the following day and was repeated on Dec. 5.

On Dec. 3, the Japanese envoy in Rome sent Tokyo a message telling of conveying to Mussolini the purport of the message previously sent to Berlin. Il duce was quoted as saying: "I am not at all surprised. . . . In view of the utter bull-headedness of the United States and the meddlesome nature of President Roosevelt, I should say that the outcome was nothing but what should have been expected." He assured the Japanese envoy that Italy would declare war upon the United States as soon as Japan did so.

The Japanese embassy in Peking on Dec. 3 also treated the war as imminent in a message to Tokyo stating: "It is evident that Japan will have to put everything that they have in the coming war. . . . It can be imagined that the next war is to be a longer one than the China incident. . . ."

Warning Issued on Russia

On Dec. 4, Tokyo broadcast to Peking, Nanking, and Shanghai diplomats in coded instructions warning that "every precaution should be taken not to provoke soviet Russia."

On Dec. 5 a Peking to Tokyo message started: "Concurrent with opening war on Britain and America . . ." On this same day many Japanese envoys reported to Tokyo they had destroyed their codes as directed.

On Dec. 6, Tokyo to Washington, a message announced the reply to the Hull ultimatum would be delivered in 14 parts the following day and noted: "The situation is extremely delicate and when you receive it [the answer] I want you to please keep it secret for the time being. Concerning the time of presenting this memorandum to the United States, I will wire you in a separte message . . ."

The 14 part answer came to Washington on Dec. 6 and was decoded, as Gearhart said, "by Americans faster than the Japs could decode it." The message clearly indicated a break in relations and the 14th instalment, accusing the United States of "conspiring" with Great Britain and other countries "to obstruct Japan's efforts," was the signal for war.

Early in the morning of Dec. 7, Washington time, still many hours before the attack on Pearl Harbor, came the all-important message: "Will the ambassador please submit to the United States government [if possible to the secretary of state] our reply to the United States at 1 p. m. on the 7th, your time."

The next to last decoded Japanese message in the report was from the Japanese envoy in Budapest to Tokyo. Dated Dec. 7, it stated: "On the 6th, the American minister presented to the government of this country a British government communique to the effect that a state of war would break out on the 7th. Relayed to Berlin."

SWITZERLAND ORDERS QUIZ ON KILGORE'S NAZI PACT CHARGE

BERN, Switzerland, Nov. 15 [Reuters]—The Swiss government today ordered an investigation into allegations of a secret treaty between Switzerland and Germany yesterday in letters published at Washington, D. C., by Sen. Kilgore [D., W. Va.]. Official Swiss quarters said they were convinced that "no underhand transactions" took place with the Germans.

Kilgore, heading the subcommittee on military affairs in the United States senate, published letters said to be evidence of a secret deal between the Swiss government and the Nazis to bolster Germany's economic position and conceal her assets for use in another war. The letters were allegedly written this year by Emil Puhl, former official of the German reichsbank, to Dr. Walter Funk, then reichsbank president and nazi economic minister.

TRUMAN BUREAU REVISION WINS IN SENATE TEST

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Former Democratic cronies of President Truman scored a 37 to 26 victory in the senate today on his request for broad powers to reorganize the federal government.

They wrote into reorganization legislation an amendment that would allow any Presidential plan for revamping the executive branch to become effective after 60 days unless rejected by both the senate and house. It was a triumph for Sen. Byrd [D., Va.], author of the amendment.

Byrd, as chairman of the joint economy committee, reported there were 22,213 more people on the federal civilian pay roll in September than in May, when the European war ended. The total was 3,491,000, within 4 per cent, or 158,769 names, of the all-time employment mark in August.

WARNING TO U.S. SHIPS BEFORE DEC. 7 REVEALED

Vessels Ordered Nov. 25 to Dodge Jap Area

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—Nearly two weeks before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, American shipping in the Pacific was ordered to avoid Japanese controled waters and to use the southern route to the Philippines, it was revealed at the congressional Pearl Harbor investigation today.

The investigating committee was told the order was issued Nov. 25, 1941, the day before the American ultimatum was handed to the Japanese "peace" envoys in Washington, by Adm. Harold R. Stark, then chief of naval operations. The order indicated, one committee member told reporters, that high government officials were fearful of Japanese war acts in the Pacific.

Much of the evidence submitted today was a matter of record for nearly four years. It was presented by Rear Adm. T. B. Inglis, acting chief of naval intelligence, and Col. Bernard Thielen of the army general staff, neither of whom was at Pearl Harbor at the time of the attack.

Roberts Data Used

Both officers admitted under the questioning of Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] that most of the data they presented was culled from the report of the commission which investigated the Pearl Harbor attack early in 1942 under the direction of Supreme Court Justice Roberts.

Using massive wall charts, copies of which had been given committee members, and constantly referring to the organization tables and other data, Inglis and Thielen outlined the disposition of army and navy units at the time of the Japanese attack and described in detail the action which took place the morning of Dec. 7, 1941.

Inglis told of the order to American shipping to refrain from entering Japanese controled waters early in his testimony.

No Reasons Given

The order, Inglis said, directed American vessels to stay out of the area surrounding the Japanese mandated islands between Hawaii and the Philippines and to use the Torres straits north of Australia. Ships proceeding from Pearl Harbor to Guam consequently had to go by way of the Philippines.

"What was the reason for the order?" asked Sen. George [D., Ga.].

"All reasons for any action described are omitted from this report," Inglis said.

Later, both Inglis and Thielen testified their orders were to give only factual data concerning the Pearl Harbor attack, obtained from official records, and that they had no orders to announce any conclusions.

It was under Ferguson's questioning that Inglis revealed the order had been issued by Stark. Inglis said he did not know whether it had been given directly to Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, then navy commander at Hawaii, or whether Kimmel had been given any information concerning the need for the order.

Efforts of committee members to obtain any information beyond the bare facts of the attack on Pearl Harbor, which have been the subject of numerous reports official and otherwise, failed as Inglis and Thielen continued to reiterate that interpretations of the evidence were outside the scope of their authority.

No Mention of Sinking Sub

Sen. Lucas [D., Ill.], for example, wanted to know why there was more than an hour's delay in the start of the navy's dawn air patrol from Hawaii the morning of the attack. Inglis had reported the planes were scheduled to leave at 5:27 a. m. but did not take off until 6:40. He asserted the records show no reason for the delay.

Lucas also wanted to know if Kimmel had personally been advised, before the Japanese air attack, that the destroyer Ward had sunk an enemy submarine outside the Pearl Harbor entrance. The records do not show, Inglis declared.

Rep. Murphy [D., Pa.] asked Inglis if preparations for inspection had placed battleships in the harbor in such condition—watertight doors open, ammunition taken ashore—that an air attack would make them, more susceptible to damage than had they been ready for action.

Inglis said an inspection made shortly after the attack showed that only on the California had opened compartments contributed to the vessel's being put out of commission. Murphy said his question had been prompted by a report issued by Rep. Gearhart [R., Cal.] early this week that preparations for fleet inspection had weakened most of the ships at Pearl Harbor.

EVERY U.S. SHIP MOVE GIVEN TO TOKYO BY SPIES

Washington Knew of It, Evidence Shows

BY WILLIAM STRAND
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—Intercepted Jap spy messages introduced before the special Pearl Harbor investigating committee today by Chief Counsel William D. Mitchell, revealed that Tokyo knew months before the Dec. 7 attack the minute details of American warship movements at Hawaii and in the rest of the Pacific area, including the numbers and identities of vessels passing thru the Panama canal.

The documents also show that the United States was fully aware of the extraordinary Jap spy activity at least a year before Pearl Harbor. Notations on each of the messages show they were translated by our experts and presumably placed in the hands of top military leaders before the Pearl Harbor blow fell.

Close Watch Revealed

The Jap agents in Hawaii, the messages disclose, watched the United States fleet movements with amazing closeness as they waited for the final break in American-Japanese relations. They reported direct to Tokyo on the arrival and departures of the individual vessels; gave the location of the anchorages for each, and even included their distances apart and their course as they sailed into the harbor.

The result was inescapable as far as their work was concerned: the American warships were set up in their advance descriptions like so many pins in a bowling alley for the enemy raiders that swept down on Pearl Harbor out of the sunrise on Dec. 7, 1941.

Knew Gun Range

But the Jap spies were interested in more than ship movements. Their messages which, unknown to them, were being intercepted as fast as they were sent, displayed an amazing facility in securing information on defense preparations at Hawaii, the Panama canal, and elsewhere. For example:

The spies reported on the number of aircraft at Midway less than two weeks before the Pearl Harbor attack; gave the range of anti-aircraft batteries ringed around the harbor and airfield; were able to give officials in Tokyo the timing of the anti-aircraft fire in drill and the results of target practice.

The spies also reported on the absence of barrage balloons to guard the island installations, and in November predicted that the garrison would be reënforced in the next two months by 12,000 additional troops.

Knew Panama Secrets

Besides reporting on the movement of ships at Panama, spies there told of the movement of aircraft to and from the canal bases and detailed the number of troops guarding that outpost. Another series of messages told of the Japanese furnishing Italian diplomatic officials with plans for the canal and surrounding territory.

Running thru the messages exchanged with Tokyo were frequent admonitions to the various agents to maintain strictest secrecy.

Detailed testimony later on in the investigation is expected to show what, if anything, United States officials did upon receiving the translations of the intercepted communications. Today they were merely put in evidence with a brief explanation by Mitchell as to what the bulgy set of documents contained.

The 126 pages in the file have hundreds of messages exchanged between Tokyo and Jap agents in the Philippines, southeast Asia, and the west coast of the United States, besides Hawaii and Panama.

List Ships by Name

First of the messages is one from Pearl Harbor dated more than a year before the nation was plunged into war. It is merely a report, apparently one in a routine series, of the number of ships and the types in the harbor on that date, Dec. 2, 1940. Then follows a regular series of other similar reports continuing with increasing frequency thruout the year.

On May 12, the reports are continuing but by this time the Jap agents were beginning to list the various vessels by name, at the conclusion there is a further note:

"The airplane carrier Lexington, accompanied by two destroyers is cruising off the east shore of Oahu Island."

In June they included word of the arrival of two British cruisers with the explanation that they were in drydock undergoing repairs.

Get New Instructions

In September an agent reported that a United States destroyer had left for New Caledonia, carrying officials of the Free French to their posts there.

On Sept. 24, less than three months before the attack, the Jap agents were given new instructions as to their description of the Hawaiian installation. This message read:

"Strictly secret. Henceforth we would like you to make reports concerning vessels along the following lines insofar as possible:

"1. The waters of Pearl Harbor are to be divided roughly into five subareas.

"Area A—Waters between Ford Island and the arsenal; Area B—Waters adjacent to the island south and west of Ford Island; Area C—East Loch; Area D—Middle Loch; Area E—West Loch, and the communicating water routes.

Want Warships Listed

"2. With regard to warships and aircraft carriers, we would like to have you report on those at anchor [these are not so important], tied up at wharves, buoys, and docks. Designate types and classes briefly. If possible we would like to have you make mention of the fact when there are two or more vessels alongside the same wharf."

Other subsequent messages from Tokyo gave further code references for various designated docks, repair points, and fleet anchorages which the agents in Hawaii were instructed to use in their reports on ship movements.

Greater Detail Asked

On Nov. 15 a message from Tokyo signed "Togo" informed agents in Honolulu that relations with the United States were "most critical" and urged increased secrecy precautions on the part of the agents.

"Make your ships in harbor report irregular but at the rate of twice a week," the Togo message ordered.

On Nov. 18 came one of the most detailed spy reports of all, including specific courses and the distances the vessels were apart when they entered the harbor. It was as follows:

"1. The warships at anchor in the harbor on the 15th were: Area A, a battleship of the Oklahoma class entered and one tanker left port. Area B, three warships of the heavy cruiser class were at anchor.

"2. On the 17th the Saratoga was not in the harbor. The carrier Enterprise, or some other vessel

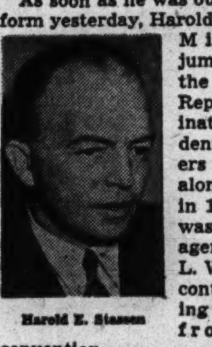
STASSEN OPENS RACE FOR THE PRESIDENCY AS HE LEAVES NAVY



Harold E. Stassen

As soon as he was out of navy uniform yesterday, Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota jumped back into the race for the Republican nomination for President. His backers started work along this line in 1940, when he was floor manager for Wendell L. Willkie, and continued it during his absence from the 1944 convention.

After a brief spell of home life, Stassen will tour Europe, Russia, and South America. Then he will take up his travels in this country by September.

At a press conference in Hotel Sherman attended by a score of reporters, one asked him whether he will participate in the 1946 political doings as a Republican. Some Republicans have been saying he belongs in the other party.

"Yes, as a Republican," Stassen said. "That's my party and will continue to be."

THE OLD GENTLEMAN TOOK ONE LOOK AT OUR ARRAY OF PHONOGRAPH-RADIOS AND EXCLAIMED—

What! all these Radios ready for Christmas!

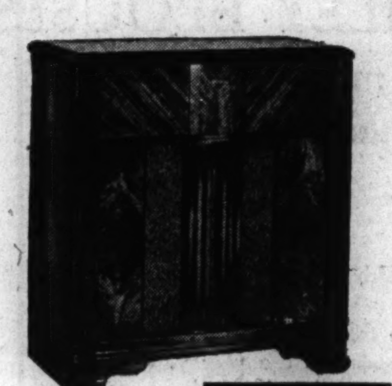
YES, the 1945 Holiday Season can be ushered into your home on the wings of the finest radio and recorded music that money can buy . . . meaning, of course, the Capehart phonograph-radio . . . and the Magnavox phonograph-radio and the RCA Victor phonograph-radio.

A poet could easily write a sonnet on the exquisite detail alone of this Adam cabinet with burled panels and inlaid satinwood—perfect copy of the Adam Brothers design. This, plus the Capehart turn-over record changer, plus radio's "concert-hall" realism, plus, F. M.—are sufficient reasons why there probably won't be enough Capehart "Adams" this Christmas.........$1175.00

Beauty of Tone . . .
Beauty of Cabinets

The mere mention of these revered names in radio is to bespeak their tonal perfection . . . as well as the utmost in record-changing convenience. . . . The styling—from period designs to the sophisticated modern—affords the widest choice of fine cabinetry . . . with prices from $135 to $1175

When once you have seen the Belvedere and heard its superb performance, you will understand why this model has always been a popular seller. . . . Its perfectly balanced tone can be traced to two 12" Duosonic speakers . . . 25 watts undistorted super-power . . . pianissimo phonograph pickup . . . fine automatic record changer . . . Chippendale cabinet in mahogany.
$348.50 with F.M.



Here is a splendid Christmas "buy" for the careful budgeteer. The RCA Victrola (model V-209) plays 10" or 12" records automatically; no changing of needles with the New Jewel-point pickup . . . excellent American and European radio reception. Available in walnut.............$135.00

Early Christmas Buying Advisable

Thousands of Chicago music-lovers like you have been looking forward to the Christmas when they could have one of these beautiful phonograph-radios . . . We only wish there were enough for all to have one, but under present-day circumstances, we shall have to stand by the old formula of "first come, first served."

The Chippendale End-Table is the perfect phonograph-radio for the small home . . . Automatic record changer . . . fine radio programs in this handsome little model that doubles as an end table. Available in walnut.

EVERY U.S. SHIP MOVE GIVEN TO TOKYO BY SPIES

Notes Show Washington Was Aware of It was in area C. Two heavy cruisers of the Chicago class, one of the Pensacola class, were tied up at docks 'KS'. Four merchant vessels were at anchor in area D.

"3. At 10 a. m. on the morning of the 17th, 8 destroyers were observed entering the harbor. Their course was as follows: In a single file at a distance of 1,000 meters apart at a speed of 3 knots per hour, they moved into Pearl Harbor. From the entrance of the harbor thru area B to the buoys in area C, to which they were moored, they changed course five times, each time roughly 30 degrees. The elapsed time was one hour. However, one of these destroyers entered area A after passing the water reservoir on the eastern side."

On Nov. 18, came a brief order from Tokyo, signed by Togo, for a report on vessels anchored in Pearl Harbor and adjacent waters. Two days later there was another Togo message asking for a comprehensive investigation of all fleet bases in the Hawaiian area. And finally on Nov. 29 came this definite prelude to the sneak attack:

"From Tokyo.

"To Honolulu.

"29 November 1941.

"We have been receiving reports from you on ship movements but in the future will you also report even when there are no movements."

On Dec. 2 came this message from Togo to the agents in Honolulu, further setting the scene for the Jap blow:

"In view of the present situation, the presence in port of warships, airplane carriers, and cruisers is of the utmost importance. Hereafter, to the utmost of your ability, let me know day by day. Wire in each case whether or not there are any observation balloons above Pearl Harbor or if there are any indications that they will be sent up. Also advise me whether or not the warships are provided with anti-mine nets."

A message in the latter category, dated Nov. 28, informed Tokyo there were 17 Flying Fortresses at Midway and that the maximum range of the island anti-aircraft guns was 5,000 feet.

"Our observations at the Sand Island maneuvers are: number of shots, 12; interval of flight, 13 seconds; interval between shots, 2 minutes; direct hits, none," said this message regarding anti-aircraft drill.

Final Report by Spies

Replies in the next few days gave the numbers and types of ships in the harbor as well as those leaving and arriving. Another message informed Jap leaders that there were no barrage balloons over the harbor and no immediate preparations for them. And then came the final message sent from Honolulu on Dec. 6:

"The following ships were observed at anchor:

"Nine battleships, three light cruisers, three submarine tenders, 17 destroyers, and in addition there were four light cruisers, two destroyers lying at the docks. The heavy cruisers and airplane carriers have all left. It appears that no air reconnaissance is being conducted by the fleet air arm."

A Light at Night Told Japs All!

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—One of the longest of the military spy messages from Jap agents in Hawaii to Tokyo gave detailed arrangements for transmitting word of the movement of American warships by means of light signals flashed to enemy observers off Oahu Island, evidence introduced before the special investigating committee disclosed today.

The message, sent Dec. 3 but not translated until Dec. 11, was concerned entirely with the departure of the United States vessels from Pearl Harbor. Previous spy communications had established the numbers and identities of ships that were anchored at the base.

Contact Task Force

Presumably the off shore observers made radio contact with advance elements of the Jap task force which was then on its way to launch the Dec. 7 attack.

In their message, the Jap agents gave eight different signals to cover as many types of warship movements such as the departure of battle ships or carriers, or departure of both on various days, or preparations to depart. One or two lights shown from a house on Lanikai beach at specified hours would transmit one of the eight signals.

Sail Used as Signal

The spies also gave alternate locations for signaling, using longitude and latitude or designation of points of land. In daytime, signals were to be given by hoisting the sail of a fishing boat in Lanikai bay with either a star or Roman numeral III. near the mast top.

As a further means of transmitting the same signals, the Jap spies told their Tokyo headquarters they would have various want ads broadcast over the Honolulu radio station, KGMG. For example, offering a Chinese rug for sale with prospective purchasers told to write to post office box 1476 would mean that all battle ship divisions had departed between Dec. 1 and 6.

North Shore Train Hits Truck; Driver Injured

Charles J. Eichelberg, 55, who lives in Milwaukee av., north of Dundee rd., Wheeling, suffered a shoulder bone fracture and lacerations yesterday when his motor truck was struck by a six car North Shore Electric line train at the E. Prairie rd. crossing, Skokie. He was taken to St. Francis hospital, Evanston. Police said that Eichelberg drove his truck thru the crossing gates and in front of the approaching train. No one on the train was hurt.

200 Killed by Explosion of Kyushu Arms Dump

TOKYO, Nov. 15 (AP)—More than 200 persons were killed or injured Nov. 12 at Muruyama, Kyushu island, when occupation troops exploding an ammunition dump accidentally touched off the explosives, Kyodo News Agency reported today. The explosion destroyed 31 houses and damaged nearly 150 others. Kyodo did not specify whether any of the fatalities were Americans.

Decoded Phone Talk with Washington Bared

if it would be settled. [Decode: "Yes, and at one time it looked as tho we could reach an agreement."]

KURUSU: But—well, of course, there are other matters involved too, but—that was it—that was the monkey wrench. Details are included in the telegram which should arrive very shortly. It is not very long and you'll be able to read it quickly.

YAMAMOTO: O, you've dispatched it?

KURUSU: O, yes, quite a while ago. At about 7 o'clock. [Pause.] How do things look there? Does it seem as if a child might be born? [Decode: "Does it seem as if a crisis is at hand?"]

"Birth Seems Imminent"

YAMAMOTO: [In a very definite tone]: Yes, the birth of the child seems imminent.

KURUSU: [In a somewhat surprised tone, repeating Yamamoto's statement]: It does seem as if the birth is going to take place? [Pause.] In what direction?

[Stopped himself very abruptly at this slip which went outside the character of the voice code. After a slight pause he quickly recovered, then to cover up the slip, continued]:

KURUSU: Is it to be a boy or a girl?

Yamamoto hesitated, then laughing at his hesitation took up Kurusu's cue to reëstablish the voice code character of the talk. The "boy, girl, healthy" byplay has no other significance.

"A Strong, Healthy Boy"

YAMAMOTO: It seems as if it will be a strong healthy boy.

KURUSU: O, it's to be a strong healthy boy?

YAMAMOTO: [Rather long pause.] Yes. Did you make any statement [to the newspapers] regarding your talk with Miss Kimiko today? [Decode: "Did you make any statement regarding your talks with the President today?"]

KURUSU: No, nothing. Nothing except the mere fact that we met.

YAMAMOTO: Regarding the matter contained in the telegram of the other day, altho no definite decision has been made yet, please be advised that effecting it will be difficult.

KURUSU: O, it is difficult, huh?

YAMAMOTO: Yes, it is.

KURUSU: Well, I guess there's nothing more that can be done then.

YAMAMOTO: Well, yes. [Pause.] Then, today. . . .

KURUSU: Today?

"Don't Break Them Off"

YAMAMOTO: The matrimonial question, that is, the matter pertaining to arranging a marriage—don't break them off. [Decode: "Regarding negotiations, don't break them off."]

KURUSU: Not break them? You mean talks? [Helplessly.] O, my. [Pause and then with a resigned laugh]: Well, I'll do what I can. [Continuing after a pause]:

KURUSU: Please read carefully what Miss Kimiko [President Roosevelt] had to say as contained in today's telegram.

YAMAMOTO: From what time to what time were your talks today?

KURUSU: O, today's was from 2:30. [Much repeating of the numeral two.] O, you mean the duration. O, that was for about an hour.

YAMAMOTO: Regarding the matrimonial question. [Decode: "Regarding the negotiations."] I shall send you another message. However, please bear in mind that the matter of the other day is a very difficult one."

Army Champing at Bit

KURUSU: But without anything—they want to keep carrying on the matrimonial question. They do. In the meantime we're faced with the excitement of having a child born. On top of that Tokugawa is really champing at the bit, isn't he? Tokugawa is, isn't he? [Decode: "But without anything, they want to keep on negotiating. In the meantime we have a crisis on hand and the army is champing at the bit. You know the army.

[Laughter and pause.]

KURUSU: That's why I doubt if anything can be done.

YAMAMOTO: Well, we can't sell a mountain. [Decode: "Well, we can't yield."]

"Not Debatable Any More"

KURUSU: O, sure, I know that. That isn't even a debatable question any more.

YAMAMOTO: Well, then, altho we can't yield, we'll give you some kind of a reply to that telegram.

KURUSU: In any event, Miss Kimiko is leaving town tomorrow, and will remain in the country until Wednesday.

YAMAMOTO: Will you please continue to do your best.

KURUSU: O, yes. I'll do my best. And Nomura's doing everything, too.

YAMAMOTO: O, all right. In today's talks, there wasn't anything of special interest then?

KURUSU: No, nothing of particular interest, except that it is quite clear now that that southward—ah—the south, the south matter is having considerable effect.

YAMAMOTO: I see. Well, then, good-by.

KURUSU: Good-by.

LEGION COMMANDER, HERE, DEMANDS ALL PEARL HARBOR FACTS

Edward N. Scheiberling, national commander of the American Legion, asserted yesterday that all facts should be made public concerning the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

E. N. Scheiberling

"The war is over," he said, "and the people are entitled to know what happened. If the people get all the facts it might keep us from repeating the mistakes of the past."

The Legion commander, who arrived for the national convention opening Sunday in the Coliseum, held that the organization should take a more active part in politics. By doing this, Scheiberling said, the service organization could put teeth in its demands on Washington for Legion proposals.

As foremost objectives he named universal military training, then a navy second to none, an adequate army, merchant marine, and a powerful air force.

Another Legion arrival was John Thomas Taylor, organization lobbyist in Washington.

Legion officials announced that at 6 o'clock Monday night there would be a bobtailed parade. The parade will assemble on the lower level of Wacker dr., move upstairs, to State st., south to 7th st., east to Wabash av., and south to Roosevelt rd.

Scheiberling told an audience of 1,400 in the Waukegan Township High school auditorium last night that the United States cannot afford to disarm. He inducted 400 veterans into Legion membership.

UNHEATED PARIS SHIVERS ON 5TH DAY OF FREEZE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 15—Parisians shivered for the fifth successive winter morning today as the temperature suddenly dropped below freezing. Clerks on the open front market and at sidewalk counters in front of stores worked in hats and overcoats and with long scarves wound around their necks. Housewives, leaving their heatless homes to do a day's marketing in a chilly morning fog, were blue with cold.

Mme. de Gaulle sent hot grog out to French reporters who were hovering over a bonfire in front of the gates to the general's Neuilly home checking political leaders as they drove in to confer with him on the formation of a new government.

Few hotels, office buildings, or stores were heated, but the majority of householders and apartment house tenants either had coal in their cellars or were hoarding their stocks for really cold weather. Temperatures inside Paris homes varied between 35 and 45 degrees.

Paris Actress Suspended for Entertaining Nazis

PARIS, Nov. 15—Cecile Sorel, once the leading actress of the Comedie Francaise and star of musical reviews, today was suspended for one year from all professional activities by the national purge committee. She was accused of appearing at entertainments during the German occupation.

Eire to Send $2,400,000 Gift to Europe's Needy

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Nov. 15—Eire is sending $2,400,000 worth of food and medical supplies to Austria, Poland, and Germany as a result of an appeal by the international committee of the Red Cross at Geneva.

SOVIET PERMITS RED CROSS AID FOR AUSTRIANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Nov. 15—International Red Cross relations with Russia apparently have improved thanks to the organization's activities in Vienna, according to the Red Cross committee in Geneva, Switzerland.

"After Vienna's fall in April a delegation to the Austrian capital found conditions bad with most of the distress caused by the lack of food," the report said. "The delegation was not recognized either by the Russian occupation authorities or the new Austrian government. Nevertheless, the delegation was permitted to go on with its regulation tasks in behalf of the impoverished population, substituting for the Austrian Red Cross, which had been suppressed by the Russians because part of its membership was German."

One of the first tasks of the Red Cross group was to compile a roster of 200,000 Austrian prisoners in allied hands. After the query forms were filled out 92,000 names were transmitted to Geneva and many contacts were established for prisoners and their families.

TRUMAN HANDS OUT BILLIONS IN FOREIGN LOANS

Others in Prospect for Britain and Russia.

BY ROBERT YOUNG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—Lend-lease aid to 47 foreign countries, which cost America more than 42 billion dollars during the war, technically stopped with the surrender of Japan, but the Truman administration since has been pouring billions of dollars into foreign loans and commitments in continuation of its policy of rehabilitating Europe with American money.

So far under President Truman, this country either has paid or authorized more than 10 billion dollars in loans and contributions to foreign nations and international aid and rehabilitatiton organizations. Other billions of dollars in loans or gifts are in prospect on the basis of Mr. Truman's foreign policy statements.

Dutch Get 100 Million

Within the last few days, the United States government has advanced 100 million dollars in credit to the Netherlands. France has applied for a 550 million dollar loan, and Belgium is asking for 100 million. These loans are expected to be made soon. Negotiations are underway for advancing 400 to 600 million dollars to China.

On a far larger scale, Great Britain and the United States are about to conclude arrangements for a low interest, 50 year loan of 4 billion dollars to aid British economic recovery. The British have stated flatly that they cannot afford a regular commercial loan, and appeal for liberal, long term credit on the grounds that the United States would be investing in its own future trade and prosperity.

Reds to Ask 6 Billions

Altho no formal negotiations have been known to have opened to date, authoritative reports persist that Russia plans to ask the United States for a 6 billion dollar loan.

Under the Bretton Woods world monetary agreement, vigorously supported by the Truman administration and approved by congress last July, this country's share in the international bank is 3 billion 175 million dollars. The United States quota in the Betton Woods pact's international stabilization fund is 2 billion 750 million dollars.

When congress voted for Bretton Woods, it also increased the authority of the export-import bank to lend money to foreign nations by 2 billion 800 million dollars to a total of 3½ billion dollars. Some of the imminent British loan and the loan which Russia might seek could come out of these authorized export-import bank funds, but the bulk of such big loans would require additional appropriations.

The United States share of 1945 contributions to the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration is 1 billion 350 million dollars. Of this, 800 million dollars already has been appropriated, and the house voted the remaining 550 million a few days ago.

For 1946, President Truman has asked congress to appropriate another 1 billion 350 million dollars toward UNRRA.

Miami, Fla., Nov. 15 (AP)—The navy today identified a body recovered from the wreckage of a torpedo bomber that crashed into the ocean 100 miles east of Miami as that of Seaman 1st Class Harold Alton Mooney, Pontiac, Mich. Search was continuing for American Merchant Marine 3d Class Robert D. Meunke, Eau Claire, Wis.

Divorce Granted

MRS. DELORES M. VAUGHN

Mrs. Delores M. Vaughn, 25, of 2718 N. Rockwell st., yesterday won a divorce before Judge Edwin A. Robson in Superior court from her husband, Forrest, 31, manager of a chain grocery store, whom she charged with cruelty. Questioned Vaughn said that the inspiration by Atty. Harry X. Cole, Mrs. for frequent quarrels was her husband's interest in a 19 year old high school girl. Custody of a son, Forrest Jr., 4, will remain with the court until Mrs. Vaughn is able to furnish a home for the boy. In lieu of alimony she received real estate valued at $4,050 and $1,000 worth of cemetery lots. A cross complaint for divorce, which her husband had filed, was dismissed. He also charged cruelty.

AUXILIARY HEAD HITS ARTIFICIAL LIMB COMPANIES

Criticism was directed here yesterday by Mrs. Charles B. Gilbert of Norwich, Conn., national president of the American Legion auxiliary, against manufacturers of artificial limbs for amputees for neglecting research to improve their prosthetic devices. Her remarks, made upon her arrival here for the 25th anniversary convention of the auxiliary, which opens Sunday night, were related to an indictment returned Wednesday by a District of Columbia grand jury charging 45 corporations, 34 individuals, and a trade association with violation of anti-trust laws in the manufacture, sale, and fitting of artificial limbs for amputees, including war veterans.

Mrs. Gilbert said that, in a cooperative effort with an aircraft company official and army technicians, the Legion auxiliary had given $10,000 to further research in the field. "That was less than a year ago," she said, "and we have shown that improvements are possible even in that short time.

"The manufacturers have been producing artificial limbs on the old pattern, with no money spent for research. It proves that they have not been interested primarily in the good of the disabled who have to use them, but in making money."

Re-Count Granted G. O. P. in Louisville Mayor Vote

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 15 (AP)—Jefferson Circuit Judge Lawrence F. Speckman today issued an order granting a recount of the vote in the Nov. 6 mayoralty election, won by Democrat E. Leland Taylor by a margin of 221 votes over his Republican opponent, Roy W. Easley. Easley charged "tabulation errors, mistakes, and neglect, both deliberate and otherwise."

THIEVES GET $824 AT SCHOOL

Thieves stole $824 and checks for $1,624 yesterday from second floor rooms in the chapel rectory of St. Rita's High school and shrine at 6312 S. Oakley av., the Rev. R. P. Fink reported yesterday to the police.

A SAILOR LIVES TO SPARE FOLKS GRIEF OF DEATH

BY NORMA LEE BROWNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

St. Albans, N. Y., Nov. 15—The soft ripple of piano music filled the room and all the thin young faces staring up from their pillows were relaxed as they listened.

There was a sudden break in the music.

No one turned to stare. They knew as soon as the pain went away the music would start again as cheerful as ever.

For this was a paralytic ward in the St. Albans Naval hospital and the pianist was a patient, AMM 3/C Alan Wagner, 22, Garden City, N. Y., who "sort of got in the way" when a Jap suicide plane hit his ship, the Bismarck.

Paralyzed from Hips Down

Paralyzed from the hips down, Wagner, formerly an aviation mechanic, spends his "spare time" in the hospital building a new future for himself.

"I guess mechanics is out," he said, "but you don't need legs to be a professional pianist—if this arm ever gets okay."

The fingers on one hand are still stiff, but Alan exercises them on the hand squeeze over his bed and on the piano keyboard.

The keyboard was removed from the piano and placed on a stand across the bed so Alan can play as he sits propped up against pillows. There is an electric attachment between the keyboard and the rest of the upright piano which stands behind the bed.

Never Walk Again

Realizing he'll never walk again, Alan said:

"Some people think it's better to die than to come back like this. I had my choice. I knew I was hit bad. It would have been easy to go down the hatch and nobody would know the difference. Then I saw that telegram going thru the front door at home. . . ."

His cheerfulness now is an inspiration to his wardmates and a tribute to the hospital's rehabilitation program which has as its goal the restoration of spirit as well as body.

This is achieved thru a full time schedule of educational, recreational, and vocational activities and entertainment of all kinds.

Tutor Chinese Boy

Alan is only one of hundreds of wounded vets who are taking advantage of the hospital's educational program. During September there were 1,249 patients enrolled in classes; 235 receiving individual instruction.

One boy, a Chinese who could not read or write a complete sentence, was tutored privately for three months and then granted his American citizenship papers while still in the hospital.

Another, Marine Sgt. Earl Thomas of New London, Conn., was accepted this fall as a freshman at Columbia university without having completed his high school education.

The sergeant spent three years in a Jap prison camp, during which time he read three books—Durant's "Story of Philosophy," Will James' "Psychology," and an algebra text—and decided he wanted to go to college.

Passes Entrance Exams

At St. Albans Thomas caught up on his education enough to pass the hospital's general development test and the entrance exams for Columbia.

The educational program here is more individualized than at many hospitals and its "ward services" are among the best.

Quiz programs and public speaking forums are held in wards for bed patients; private lessons are given in photography, Spanish, or any subject the patient requests; kits on auto repair, mechanical drawing, radio repair are brought around to bedsides and many bed patients earn money for repairing precision instruments for the Arma corporation.

During the summer the hospital has a beach club, sponsored by the Citizens Committee for the Army and Navy. Almost 500 wounded men are taken to the beach daily in ambulances and Red Cross cars. Unlike some similar programs, in which only ambulatory patients are allowed to participate, St. Albans equipped the beach with both beds and wheelchairs for paralytics and others more seriously handicapped.

Only 25 miles from the heart of Manhattan, the hospital gets many of the Broadway plays with their original casts.

Helps Vets Get Jobs

This hospital, the navy's center for plastic and neurosurgery, gives its patients practical training in such fields as mechanics, refrigeration, Diesel engineering, and radio technique, and then helps them find jobs.

"Our job here," explained Capt. Edwin D. McMorries, commanding officer of the hospital, "is to prepare these men to resume a normal life in spite of their handicaps. The big job, however, is up to the public whose responsibilities to the war's wounded are just beginning."

Patients at St. Albans from the Chicago area include AMM 1/C Arthur F. Rosinski, 2846 W. 39th pl., Chicago; Pvt. 1st Class Harry Larison, 7412 S. Stewart av., Chicago; Pvt. Marshall Gandy, Janesville, Wis.; GM 3/C Leo Rody, Saginaw, Mich., and Seaman C. N. Day, Terre Haute, Ind.

NATIONAL GUARD OF 572,000 SET, ADJUTANT SAYS

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 15 (AP)—James I. Bowers, New Jersey state adjutant general, said today he had learned at a Nov. 6 conference in Washington that the eventual over-all strength of the National Guard thruout the nation would be 572,000 officers and men.

Bowers said that on Oct. 13 the secretary of war approved plans for reorganization of the National Guard, calling for an initial procurement of not less than 425,000 enlisted men. At the subsequent conference, Bowers said the over-all figure of 572,000 was set.

Bowers outlined the national picture plans in testifying at a state budget hearing for additional funds to increase by three times the National Guard in New Jersey over pre-war forces.

U. S., BRITAIN AND CANADA TO KEEP A-BOMB SECRET

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—President Truman, British Prime Minister Attlee, and Canadian Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today an agreement to withhold the secret of the production of atomic energy until its use in bombs or other implements of war can be effectively prevented.

At the same time, they proposed a commission of the new united nations organization to devise a plan to banish the atomic bomb and similar weapons, to control atomic energy to insure its use for peaceful purposes only and to promote reciprocal international exchange of scientific information.

Solemn Conference

The announcement was made by the President at a special press conference, which was about the most solemn one ever held in the White House. Mr. Truman received the press in his office flanked by Attlee and Mackenzie King. They were unsmiling and grave. The President, without introducing or otherwise noticing the prime ministers, rose and began reading the 1,000 word "atomic energy agreed declaration." When he finished he said that questions would be deferred to a later time and dismissed the reporters.

The agreement had been signed by the three negotiators shortly before the press conference at a ceremony witnessed by State Secretary Byrnes, Chairman Connally [D., Tex.], and Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] of the senate foreign relations committee, Sen. McMahon [D., Conn.], chairman of the senate committee on atomic energy, and other dignitaries.

Attlee Sees Truman

Attlee, who will depart with Mackenzie King for Ottawa tomorrow, had another conference of an hour with the President late this afternoon. Also participating was State Secretary Byrnes. This meeting had to do with matters other than the atomic bomb, presumably among others the multibillion dollar loan Great Britain is seeking from the United States, the negotiation of which is nearing conclusion. The pending proposal is a 50 year loan of 3½ to 4 billions, plus credit for post-war delivered lend-lease goods and surplus military property, with interest at 2 per cent.

The decision to withhold the secret of the production of atomic energy, whether for military or peaceful industrial uses, was based on the consideration that the same methods and processes are involved in both. Therefore, it would be unwise to divulge the secret until the danger of the use of the atomic bomb in warfare should be removed. The heart of the declaration was the following paragraph:

"We are not convinced that the spreading of the specialized information regarding the practical application of atomic energy before it is possible to devise effective, reciprocal, and enforceable safeguards acceptable to all nations, would contribute to a constructive solution of the problem of the atomic bomb. On the contrary, we think it might have the opposite effect. We are, however, prepared to share, on a reciprocal basis with others of the united nations, detailed information concerning the practical industrial application of atomic energy just as soon as effective, enforceable safeguards against its use for destructive purposes can be devised."

Must Lift Curtain

This is a condition that may delay the sharing of the bomb secret with Russia and other nations for a long time, for Attlee and many other statesmen do not conceal their skepticism of the efficacy of an inspection system or other means of detecting a nation's secret manufacture of the atom bomb. Sen. Vandenberg pronounced this the key paragraph of the agreement.

"In other words, he said, "this state paper says that the iron curtain must be lifted in this world if there is to be effective peace."

Since the destruction of the axis powers the only remaining iron curtain 's that behind which the soviet union conceals its acts and purposes. The disposition of Russia to lift the iron curtain will be tested by the UNO atomic energ; commission.

Sen. Connally and numerous other leaders in congress would not comment on the three power plan. It was evident congress intends to decide the circumstances under which the atom bomb secret is to be shared with other nations.

Proposals for UNO

As the most effective means of banishing the use of atomic power for war and promoting its industrial and humanitarian use, the heads of the three nations proposed that the commission to be set up under the UNO make recommendations:

"[a] For extending between all nations the exchange of basic scientific information for peaceful ends.

"[b] For control of atomic energy to the extent necessary to insure its use only for peaceful purposes.

"[c] For the elimination from national armaments of atomic weapons and of all other major weapons adaptable to mass destruction.

"[d] For effective safeguards by way of inspection and other means to protect complying states against the hazards of violations and evasions."

Applies to Rockets, Too

The proposal to outlaw all major weapons adaptable to mass destruction would apply to rockets and bomber planes, presumably, as well as new and more terrible implements of war with which the scientists are only beginning to acquaint the public.

The commission, its proposers said, should proceed by successive steps to develop the international reciprocity required for the success of the plan. The first step suggested is "the wide change of scientists and scientific information." The second step would by "the development of full knowledge concerning natural resources of raw materials."

The whole plan was based on the recognition that there is "no adequate military defense" from the atomic bomb and that no one nation can have a monopoly of the secret of its production. While the responsibility to insure the use of the new force for the benefit of mankind rests upon the whole civilized world, said the authors, the progress made by the three countries in its development demands that they take the initiative toward barring it from war use and devoting it to peaceful ends.

The signatories admitted there is no system of safeguards against the production of the atomic bomb by nations bent on aggression and that the "only complete protection of the civilized world from the destructive use of scientific knowledge lies in the prevention of war."

As a first contribution the three countries declared their willingness to exchange fundamental scientific information and scientists for peaceful ends with any nation that will reciprocate.

The program represents a compromise which, however, departs in no essential respect from Mr. Truman's frequently expressed stipulation that the bomb secret be withheld until the weapon is outlawed. Attlee won agreement on his proposal to commit the control of the atomic bomb to the UNO but without the proviso he originally proposed. This condition was that the sharing of the secret be made contingent on withdrawal by Russia of territorial demands conflicting with British interests in the Mediterranean and the near east.

The closest Attlee got to this was a hint presumably addressed to Russia. After stating that the basic scientific information for development of atomic energy for peaceful purposes already has been made to the world the signatories said that all further information will be similarly shared.

BRITON RUNS AUTO WITH ATOMIC POWER, SAYS LONDON PAPER

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Daily Sketch said today that an obscure Briton had driven an "atomic powered" engineless automobile thru the streets of London at ordinary speeds. No one in authority could confirm the report.

The newspaper identified the inventor as J. Wilson. It said the vehicle's mechanism consisted of a mysterious metal box three inches in diameter which had been fitted into the place ordinarily occupied by a gasoline engine. An invisible stream of atomic energy flowed from the box, the newspaper added.

Wilson has submitted blueprints of his invention to the ministry of fuel, the Daily Sketch said. A ministry spokesman said the department was "interested" in the idea, but could furnish no information on the claim.

W. Foster, parliamentary secretary of the ministry of fuel, and T. E. Naylor, also a member of parliament, rode in the car yesterday, the newspaper said.

CHARGE NAZIS ARE AT WORK ON ATOM IN SPAIN

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—A delegation of trade unionists asserted today that Nazi scientists who experimented with atomic energy in Germany have found refuge in Franco Spain where they are continuing their research.

The assertion was made in a letter which the delegation of 50, claiming to represent 500,000 CIO and AFL workers in New York, Pennsylvania, and Maryland, left at the state department. The delegation came to Washington under auspices of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom to urge the United States to sever its ties with Generalissimo Franco's regime.

The letter added that Spain has told the world that it possesses one of the world's largest deposits of uranium, a source of atomic energy.

KEY MINISTRY REFUSED REDS BY DE GAULLE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 15—Formation of the fourth republic's first government struck a snag today when Gen. De Gaulle refused to grant the Communists' demand that their party should be given one of the three principal ministries—interior, foreign affairs, or war.

"There has appeared no obstacle in principle or in program to the formation of the government," De Gaulle said in a bulletin. "However, certain difficulties have come to light concerning distribution of ministerial posts."

Maurice Thorez, Communist chief, in a statement directed to De Gaulle, said: "We cannot accept the reasons you invoked [for refusing a portfolio], which we consider humiliating for our honor as Frenchmen."

U.S. AND GERMAN ATOM EXPERTS WIN NOBEL PRIZE

Chile Poetess and Finnish Biochemist Honored

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 15 (AP)—The 1945 Nobel prize in physics has been awarded to Prof. Wolfgang Pauli, atomic research expert of the Institute of Advanced Studies at Princeton, N. J., it was announced today.

Wolfgang Pauli

Prof. Otto Hahn, German authority on radio-activity and the atom, received the 1944 award in chemistry. The 1945 award in chemistry went to Artturi Wirtanen, Finnish biochemist.

The 1945 prize in literature was awarded to Lucila Godoy Alcayaga of Chile, who writes lyric poety under the name of Gabriela Mistral.

Of Practical Value

Pauli, 45, a native of Vienna, is one of the foremost figures in atomic research. His award, made by the Swedish Academy of Sciences, was for his work on the "exclusion principle.".

This principle, which Pauli discovered in 1925, has to do with the regulation of electrons in the outer shell of atoms and molecules. It has a practical application in work with metals.

At the age of 20 Pauli wrote what is considered one of the most lucid explanations of Prof. Albert Einstein's theory of relativity.

Hahn, 66, received his award for discovery of a method of breaking the heavy atom nucleus. The German radiologist is credited with the discovery of the substances of radiothor, mesothorium, and protactinium.

For Food Discoveries

Wirtanen received his award for discoveries relating to agricultural and food chemistry.

Miss Mistral, 56, a former school teacher, was named by the Royal Swedish Academy of Letters, which holds the prerogative under the will of Alfred Nobel. The brief official announcement gave no details about the basis of her selection. She is well known in Sweden thru translation of her poems by Hjalmar Gullberg. [Her poetry is characterized by earthy simplicity and South American flavor.]

The literature prize has a cash value of approximately $43,000. The other prizes have a value of about $30,000 each.

Macmillan, Conservative, Wins Seat in Commons

BROMLEY, Kent, England, Nov. 15 [Reuters]—Harold Macmillan, Conservative, former member of the Churchill cabinet and former resident minister in the middle east, was elected to commons in a by-election here yesterday, returns showed today. He was opposed by a Laborite and a Liberal. Macmillan was defeated last July in the general elections by a Laborite at Stockton-on-Tees, Durham.

Placed in Cell

Hamilton Field, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP)—Joseph Albert Meisinger, accused of responsibility for the deaths of 100,000 Jews in Warsaw, Poland, between 1939 and 1941, was held under guard in a cell at the army air base today after arriving by air from Japan. Meisinger, who was head of the German gestapo in Japan, arrived in army custody, en route to Washington, D. C. He was arrested in Japan after the surrender.

WE CAN BLOW UP WORLD IN FIFTY YEARS: HUTCHINS

Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago predicted yesterday that "in 50 years we can start up a chain of reaction that will blow up the world." He spoke on "The Atomic Bomb versus Civilization" to a student audience in Scott hall on Northwestern university's Evanston campus. The Anchor and Eagle, a student veterans' association, sponsored the meeting.

Dr. Hutchins advocated disclosing the secret of the atom bomb on the ground that it is a secret any one can learn. He also predicted that President Truman never will obtain his universal military training bill because "the people don't want it passed."

Asked why the University of Chicago accepted research on the atomic bomb, he said it was purely a matter of national defense and that "we thought at the time that there was only a slight chance of success. We were disappointed." He said that when the first bomb was dropped Russia was in the Pacific war, and according to reports, Japanese cities had been burned and the American navy had blockaded Japan. "Either these things are untrue or else we dropped a bomb when we did not need to," he said.

I. C. C. FINDS NO DEFECT IN BUSES AFTER 3 CRASHES

The Illinois commerce commission, of which John D. Biggs is chairman, yesterday reported on an investigation it conducted into three recent accidents involving buses of the Chicago Motor Coach company. The report said the commission did not establish that any of the accidents were caused by mechanical defects or failure or that there was any negligence on the part of the company in maintaining its equipment.

Commissioners also called attention to the fact that the city issued safety stickers for all the buses involved.

The accidents were a crash at Randolph st. and Michigan av., Oct. 6 in which a pedestrian was crushed to death; a rear end collision Oct. 7 at Addison and Milwaukee avs., resulting in the injury of 22, including the driver; and a rear end collision the same day at Wrightwood av. and Lake Shore dr., in which a woman passenger was injured.

RADIO MAN DIES IN GARY; CALLED MURDER VICTIM

Arthur D. Rizer, 53, of Chesterton, Ind., a radio repair man, was found dead yesterday—apparently a robbery murder victim—on a sand hill at 19th av. and Delaware st., in Gary.

Marks in the sand indicated that he had been dragged 10 or 12 feet up the hill. A small rock was found near his body. Preliminary medical examination indicated that Rizer had suffered a basal skull fracture and Gary police said he probably had been struck with the rock. His automobile was found near the scene.

Rizer left Chesterton Wednesday to purchase radio parts. When he did not return home that night his family reported him missing. At 2 a. m. yesterday Rizer's body was found. Detective Raymond Sine said Rizer doubtless was assaulted by robbers. No money was found in his pockets.

Boy Examining Souvenir Pistol Wounds Father

While examining an Italian war souvenir pistol in his home, John Lendmeier Jr., 16, of 2449 Clybourn av., last night shot his father, John Sr., 53, a foundryman, in the back. The wound was superficial. The pistol was brought to the Lendmeier home by William Heuser, 14, of 2442 Clybourn av., who received it yesterday from his brother, Lt. Robert Heuser, in the army in Italy.

WAKE VETS HEAR COL. DEVEREUX TELL OF BATTLE

Seven Chicagoland veterans of the defense of Wake Island listened yesterday as their commander, Lt. Col. James P. S. Devereux, told the story of the fight for the isle to more than 500 persons at a luncheon in the Union League club.

Col. Devereux, under the questioning of Col. Chester L. Fordney, in charge of marine recruiting in Chicago, related how the five inch gun batteries on the island withheld their fire and lured the Jap invasion fleet within point-blank range. Then the guns opened up, and with the aid of a submarine off shore, destroyed two cruisers, several destroyers, and a transport. The garrison did not surrender until it had inflicted maximum damage on the Jap forces, Col. Devereux said.

KILLER, 13, GOES TO JOLIET CELL FOR 50 YEARS

Convicted last week of killing a 78 year old woman because she scolded him for walking on her lawn, Richard Sells, 13, of Kirkwood, Warren county, was received at the old Joliet penitentiary yesterday to begin a sentence of 50 years.

At the trial in Monmouth, Warren county seat, witnesses testified that Sells beat Mrs. Mary Johnson to death with a length of iron pipe.

ATOMIC ACCORD TO SAVE WORLD, DR. UREY SAYS

Other Scientists Back 3 Power Policy

Dr. Harold C. Urey, Nobel prize winner and University of Chicago physicist who aided in development of the atomic bomb, yesterday joined with other scientists here in approving action taken by America, Britain, and Canada to withhold the secret of the bomb until effective safeguards are devised against its harmful use.

Urey said the joint statement issued yesterday after the conclusion of a six day conference on atomic problems in Washington, D. C., by President Truman and Prime Ministers Attlee of Britain and Mackenzie King of Canada "left nothing to be desired" if the proposed four step control program can be carried out.

Will Save World, He Says

"The agreement," said Urey, "will save the world from devastation if carried thru. It will do what is required to prevent an atomic war."

Urey's views were indorsed by Dr. Frank H. Spedding, former University of Chicago chemist who worked on the plutonium section of the atomic bomb project here during the first year of the metallurgical experiment at the Midway school.

Spedding, who is now in charge of atomic research at Iowa State college, Ames, Ia., accompanied Dr. Urey here from Pasadena, Cal., where they have been participating in a war department conference on the atomic bomb during the last week.

Col. Warren Backs Policy

The two scientists arrived in Chicago aboard the Santa Fe Super Chief in company with Col. Stafford Warren, director of the medical section of the Manhattan district United States engineers in charge of all atomic bomb development in this country.

Warren, too, voiced his approval of the three nation agreement to control the bomb, but refused, as did Urey and Spedding, to discuss the nature of their Pasadena conference, which Urey described as a "secret mission."

Also joining with Urey, who won world fame by his discovery of heavy water, John H. Simpson, chairman of the Atomic Scientists of Chicago, said the three way pact offered the hope of "great promise" if properly implemented.

Accord Held Only One Step

Simpson, whose organization has said it represents 90 per cent of the scientists working on the atomic bomb in the Chicago area, predicted the Washington communique will achieve success if it is intended as but one step in direction of control of the bomb.

"We must take that step to explore unknown regions," he said. "But this first step should be followed immediately by a series of other quick steps to secure the confidence of all the nations in what is proposed. There is no time to be lost."

Applaud Secrecy

COMMONS TOLD NOT TO DISCUSS ATOM DECISION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 16 [Friday]—The government slapped a gag on parliament last night when it asked members not to question or debate the Washington statement on atomic bomb talks.

Leader of the House Herbert Morrison, appealing for silence in commons, held out the prospect that Prime Minister Attlee will make a full statement on his discussions with President Truman when the members debate foreign policy and the atom bomb next Thursday and Friday. In the upper chamber, Lord Chancellor Addison also promised a debate after the prime minister's return from Washington, D. C.

Despite the temporary ban on parliament airing its views, several London newspapers including the Times voiced editorial disapproval of the result of the talks.

UNRAA BUYS 82% OF U. S. SURPLUS SOLD IN EUROPE

BY JOHN THOMPSON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Nov. 15—While most European governments have bid in little of the more than $450,000,000 worth of American war stocks that have been declared surplus, the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration [UNRRA] has bought more than 82 per cent of the total sales, which now amount to $40,671,085, the office of the foreign liquidation commissioner said tonight.

UNRRA purchases, ranging from 80 ton locomotives to wrapping twine and intended for the relief of needy European nations, now total $33,401,279. These sales are charged against the $150,000,000 authorized by the United States for the purchase of surplus war stocks here to be used in European relief work.

The slowness of bidding by European governments is attributed by the OFLC to the problem of dollar credits, the progress of credit negotiations going on in Washington, D. C., and our acceptance of limited amounts of local currencies in payment for surplus stocks.

Czechs to Get Big Order

The largest of UNRRA's latest purchases, reported by the OFLC as $11,991,247, was earmarked for Czechoslovakia. It consisted of army cargo trucks, trailers, tools, horses, and mules.

UNRRA purchases for Poland in the latest report were trucks, blankets, tools, paint brushes, paint and linseed oil worth $4,359,031.

Holland was down for $812,536 worth of trucks and trailers. Also listed were GI sleeping bags valued at $107,550.

Other countries which have benefited from UNRRA buying are Greece, Albania, and Yugoslavia.

In sales to European governments, Belgium topped the list with 48,000 bales of cotton that were sold for $5,445,195.

France bought 15,421 tons of sheet metal and will pay $1,267,621 within 30 years.

Other European buyers were Switzerland, which purchased 210 jeeps for $158,408, and Luxemburg, which bought clothing and ambulances valued at $16,875.

Other Relief Agencies Buy

Miscellaneous sales to American relief agencies were listed as the American Joint Distribution committee, engaged in arranging for relief and immigration for 100,000 German Jews, $41,698; American Relief for France, $40,144; International Rescue and Relief committee, $744.

Official buying groups from Norway, Sweden, Poland, Switzerland, Holland, Belgium, Finland, and Russia have visited the Paris headquarters of the OFLC. They inspected wares in a showroom at the huge ordnance park near Vincennes, where 19,000 army vehicles, ranging from tanks to jeeps, are awaiting purchasers.

"WHY Can't I Make My Own Selection of Fannie May Candy?"

Even with Final Victory, many ingredients used in fine candy making are in scarce supply, and still rationed to us! For instance, half as much sugar as before the war, half as much chocolate, and something over half as much butter!

Take as an example, the delicious Fannie May Buttercreams—they contain the same fine creamery butter that you use on your table—and of course with our butter supply cut, we can make far less of these fine confections! So to make sure that you, and each one of our customers, get a share of Buttercreams, and all the other delicious pieces, we have to sell by assortment!

But this we want you to know! The name Fannie May on a box of candy is your assurance that each piece is made to just as high quality formula as before the war—just as pure, delicious, and taste thrilling as ever!

U. S. STATE DEPT. PLANS TEACHING ROLE IN GERMANY

Will Take Over Schools in American Zone

BY WILLIAM FULTON
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 15—The United States state department expects to take over the education and all cultural activities of persons in the American zone in Germany from the army next spring, William Benton, assistant secretary of state and former assistant to the chancellor of the University of Chicago, disclosed here today.

Benton said that the state department's date was some time between April 1 and July 1, but that the army wanted it as soon as possible.

"We plan to take over all schools and universities," said Benton, "also communications, newspapers, radio, books, and magazines. It is a tremendous job. There are no textbooks, heat, or teachers in the schools."

Exiles May Aid Program

Benton, who is in charge of information matters for the state department, indicated that some Germans, driven out of their country during the nazi regime, might take part in rebuilding the educational system. He disclosed that the state department is reëxamining existing statutes in order to make changes which will permit exiles now in the United States to reënter their native Germany with "greater freedom."

A search is being carried on for qualified German publishers for newspapers which now are being printed by the American army, according to Benton. He said that American publishers would not be allowed to enter Germany and publish German newspapers.

On Way to Germany

Benton described Gen. Eisenhower as anxious to transfer the operating responsibilities of cultural affairs from military to civilian authorities under the state department.

"That is in keeping with American traditions," said Benton.

Benton is going to Germany to confer with Brig. Gen. Robert McClure of Eisenhower's staff. He stopped here for the sessions of the united nations educational, scientific, and cultural organization.

JAPS TO ABOLISH JOB OF ADVISER TO THE EMPEROR

TOKYO, Nov. 15 (AP)—Abolition of the key position, lord keeper of the privy seal, but retention of the remainder of the cumbersome inner circle around the emperor was reported today by the newspaper Asahi as the current plan for "democratization" of the throne.

The newspaper said the plan resulted from conferences of representatives of the cabinet, the privy seal, the imperial household ministry, the privy council and senior statesmen seeking revision of the constitution.

The plan will be effected "at an appropriate opportunity," Asahi reported. Its only concession to prospective party government is inclusion of the presidents of both houses of the diet on a board to participate in the selection of new premiers.

The newspaper recently reported that Marquis Koichi Kido, current privy seal keeper and maker and breaker of premiers, planned to resign soon. His secretary said he knew nothing of the report.

REACTIONARIES IN RED CROSS CALLED DANGER

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Eugene Meyer, wife of the publisher of the Washington Post, said today a "reactionary" element in the Red Cross had has its objective "burocratic power rather than service to mankind."

Mrs. Meyer, a writer and lecturer on social problems, told a New York regional Red Cross conference:

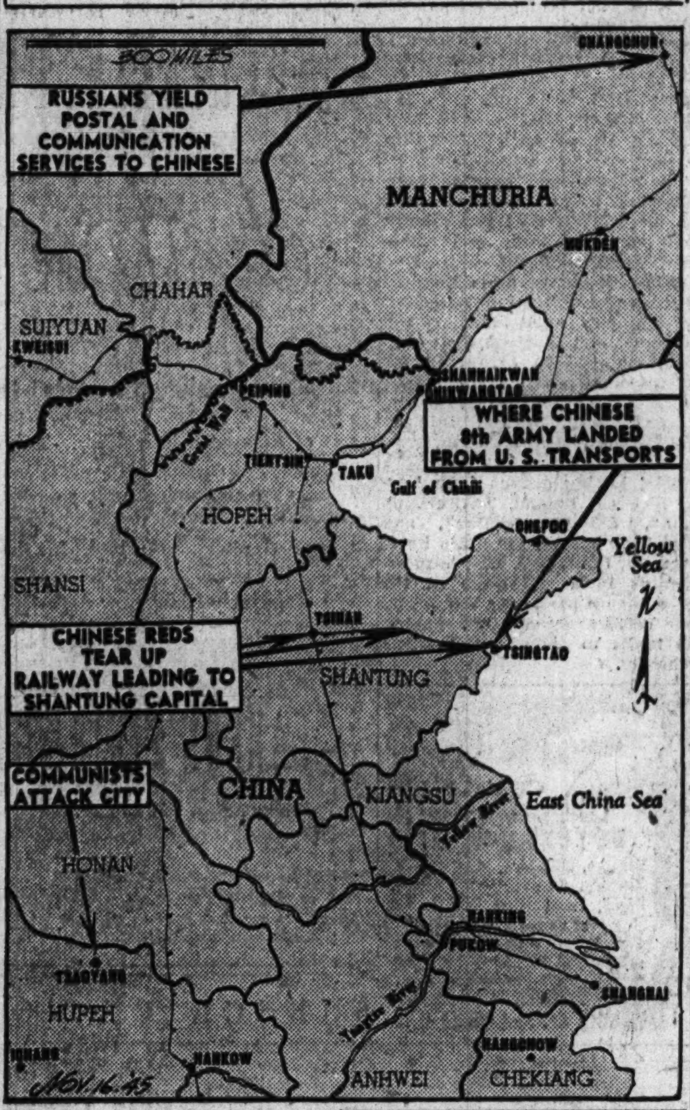
"Unless you see to it that your progressive leadership is upheld, the Red Cross can easily become a menace to the progress of democratic ideas and their effective implementation."

Mrs. Meyer said efforts were being made to oust Red Cross director Basil O'Connor "on the theory he is too friendly to labor." She said an agreement whereby the Red Cross paid costs of CIO and AFL labor unions in raising funds for the welfare agency was "an honorable and businesslike agreement" which raised $30,000,000 for the Red Cross last year.

Find 7 More U. S. Flyers Dead, Buried Near Tokyo

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Nov. 15 (AP)—The bodies of seven American airmen, six with rope or wire around their necks, have been found in two crude graves near Tokyo, 8th army headquarters said today. Capt. Edgar L. Geinberg, a member of the 43d general hospital staff, said the men had not been hanged but that the cause of death was still to be fixed.

Chinese Reds Cut Shantung Railway



PARTIAL CHINESE RULE RESTORED IN MANCHURIA

Russians Turn Over Postal Services

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 15 (AP)—Partial Chinese sovereignty over Manchuria was restored by the Russians today as both sides in China's civil war maneuvered for position in strategic Shantung province to the south.

An official dispatch said the Russians turned over postal and telegraphic services at the Manchurian capital of Changchun to Chinese authorities, whose troops still are blocked from the long Japanese-dominated area by Chinese Communists.

The official account added that under the agreement—one of those sought by Chungking in its attempts to reoccupy Manchuria ahead of the Communists—the Russians would be allowed to use the facilities until they withdraw, probably some time next month.

Communists Strike in Shantung

There still was no word on the outcome of Russian-Chinese negotiations for permission to fly Nationalist troops to Changchun.

But while the Manchurian situation took a more favorable Nationalist turn, the Chinese Communists struck swiftly in the rich coastal province of Shantung.

An Associated Press dispatch reported they ripped up sections of a railway in an attempt to seal off thousands of Nationalist troops landing at Tsingtao.

The communist troops struck less than 12 hours after the first of the Nationalist 8th army's troops went ashore from American ships.

Raid Air Field

They raided Liuting air field, 12 miles north of Tsingtao, but this proved a diversion while their troops were tearing up the tracks of the railway to Shantung's capital of Tsinan, 140 miles west.

Travelers returning from Tsinan reported the capital was under virtual siege. These sources said the Japanese 47th division and several mixed brigades, still not disarmed, guarded Tsinan's outer defenses while the Nationalist garrison of 20,000, mainly former puppet troops, were in reserve.

The communist Shantung liberation army under Gen. Lo Hung-wen claims a total of 1,000,000 men, mostly localized guerrilla bands around a nucleus of well trained troops.

An official dispatch said communist forces also had struck in central China and were trying to recapture the highway city of Tsaoyang, 145 miles northwest of Hankow and 150 miles southwest of Tsingtao.

Observers in Chungking believed the ultimate communist objective was to seize control of the Yangtze river west of Hankow and prevent Nationalist troops from using that stream for transportation.

GEN. YAMASHITA SEES MOVIE, BUT UNDER PROTEST

BY ROBERT CROMIE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Nov. 16 [Friday]—A heated protest against introduction into the trial record of a motion picture, "Orders from Tokyo," shown last night to the military commission hearing the case of Gen. Yamashita, Japanese commander accused of war guilt, was made this morning by defense counsel, Capt. Milton Sanberg.

Sanberg said in part: "Prosecution has introduced into evidence no such order as that mentioned in this documentary film. If the United States forces have the order, which this film says they have, it is the duty of the prosecution to introduce it into evidence. If the United States forces do not have such an order it is most improper for the prosecution to introduce into evidence a film whose sound track says they do.

"The very title and theme of this film proves its irrelevancy. If there was in fact an order from Tokyo its materiality lies in the trial not of this accused but of the emperor of Japan.

"Prejudicial to Accused"

"The defense realizes very keenly no objection will alter the fact that the commission has already seen and heard the picture. But we must protest very strongly that the showing of this film with its highly inflammatory commentary was extremely prejudicial to the accused and is not at all conducive to that calm and dispassionate sifting of fact which has always been the cornerstone of American justice."

The picture in question is a documentary in color showing Japanese destruction of Manila and bodies of dead noncombatants killed by the Japanese. Yamashita and his two chiefs of staff were forced to witness it, but showed no emotion.

After recessing to consider the protest Maj. Gen. R. B. Reynolds announced the film was admitted "for such probative value, if any, as the commission may decide to award to it."

Hear of More Murders

This point settled, the trial was resumed with the story of murder in Imus, Cavite province. Witnesses told of the Japanese Kempei Tai [military police] who came from Manila, rounded up the men, and took them to a church where some were identified by a hooded figure.

Twelve were then taken to a nearby town where they were hanged from the ceiling and beaten with clubs. Seven eventually were brought back to Imus dead, the other five, including four doctors, were taken to Fort Santiago and disappeared.

Mrs. Beatriz C. Sapinoso, 34, described how Japanese military police invaded Imus in Cavite province Dec. 16 and took her to a house for questioning. They stripped her, forced her to kneel so her forehead touched the floor, and burned her all over the body, she said, with cigarets while the soldiers kicked and slapped her. She was released when her husband, whom she never saw again, surrendered himself in exchange for her.

BRIEFS ORDERED ON RETRIAL PLEA IN LYONS CASE

Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court yesterday halted oral arguments for a new trial for Dr. Horace R. Lyons, ear, nose, and throat specialist, in his divorce action against his wife, Mrs. Alice Lyons of the Stevens hotel. The judge ordered Dr. Lyons' attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., and Mrs. Lyons' attorney, Benjamin H. Ehrlich, to submit briefs. The judge will rule afterward on Cantwell's motion for a new trial. A jury instructed to determine the facts in the case recently returned a verdict in favor of Mrs. Lyons. She had sued for separate maintenance.

IKE BACKS YEAR OF TRAINING FOR ALL U. S. YOUTHS

Means Victory or Loss of Another War

BY LAURENCE BURD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—Declaring that a trained military reserve may mean the "difference between victory and defeat" if war comes again, Gen. Eisenhower today wholeheartedly indorsed President Truman's proposal for peace time conscription of all youths for one year's military training.

In a brisk two hour appearance before the house military committee, Gen. Eisenhower forcefully stated his case for the conscription plan to the tune of frequent applause from some 400 spectators.

During the session, which he devoted largely to answering a barrage of questions from committee members, the hero of the nazi defeat declared there "never would have been any Pearl Harbor" if we had had a trained citizens' reserve and industrial preparedness to back it up. If that had been the case, Japan would have been afraid to attack, he said.

Argument for Training

Standing thruout the hearing and striding back and forth as questions were fired at him, the general laid down this argument for conscription:

The "greatest single motivating force for world peace" is a strongly armed United States, because we are interested in enforcing justice, rather than in aggression. Preparedness thru conscription will underwrite our intentions to help the united nations organization keep peace.

Other nations fear, not that the United States will arm, but that we will peril peace hopes by reverting to "isolation" and the unpreparedness of previous decades.

Ready on M-Day

The atom bomb has enhanced, rather than reduced, the need for trained forces, because it has shortened tremendously the time in which to prepare after the initial attack.

"We must be prepared on M-day—the day the enemy strikes," the general said, "or we may never be prepared to avert defeat at the hands of any aggressor who uses against us the weapons of the future."

Having trained, rather than untrained, soldiers, he argued, means countless lives saved if we are attacked.

"I believe," said the general, "that one year's military training is as important as sending a boy to first grade when he is 6 years old."

Gen. Eisenhower declared "one year's continuous training" is the minimum requirement for adequate defense, and said this should be supplement by raising the national guard to maximum strength.

No Particular Fear

Asked by Rep. Thomas [R., N. J.] what nation, if any, we need to "arm against," the general said we have no one to fear at present, but reiterated that our military strength will deter potential aggressors. Military weakness, he said, might help breed "another Hitler."

Questioned by Thomas as to a possible future conflict with either Great Britain or Russia, the witness said "there will never be a war between the United States and Britain."

As to Russia, Eisenhower declared the soviets "have nothing to gain by war with us" and that "if there is one single thing guiding Russia today, it is the desire for friendship with us."

WILEY PROPOSES JOINT SESSION TO GIVE HULL PRIZE

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Sen. Wiley [R., Wis.] proposed today that congress hold a joint session at which former State Secretary Hull would receive the 1945 Nobel peace prize.

He suggested Dec. 10 for the meeting in letters to Sen. McKellar [D., Tenn.], president pro tempore of the senate, and House Speaker Rayburn [D., Tex.].

Wiley told a reporter he thought this would be fitting in view of "the great honor bestowed on our elder statesman" by the Nobel committee of the Norwegian storting [parliament]. Hull has informed the committee that his health would not permit him to go to Oslo to receive the award.

APPROVES 20% RAISE IN CIVIL SERVICE WAGES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—The senate civil service committee approved today a bill raising the pay of civil service employes 20 per cent.

It left for further consideration proposals to raise congressmen's pay from $10,000 to $20,000, cabinet members from $15,000 to $20,000, and Supreme court justices from $20,000 to $30,000.

The bill provides a 20 per cent increase "for offices or positions in the executive branch," but Sen. Mead [D., N. Y.] expressed the opinion this would not apply to cabinet members.

CHARGES FRANCE BLOCKS ALLIED PLANS IN REICH

Price Warns Policy May Lead to Riots

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Byron Price, President Truman's special investigator, said today that French policies are leading to the "economic dismemberment" of Germany, contrary to the aims of the Potsdam agreement.

Byron Price

Price told White House newsmen, after a call on the President, that France had refused to agree to any plans of the control council to keep Germany as an economic unit. As a result, he said, critical conditions can be expected this winter with starvation, riots, and disease a distinct possibility.

The war time chief censor spent two months in the American, French, and Russian occupation zones surveying relations between the military government officials and the German population.

Withholds Text

He made his formal report several days ago and called at the White House today to go over it with Mr. Truman. The President is withholding it from publication until he finishes a study of it.

Price gave his informal summary to reporters as it became known that the United States and France have begun conversations here on France's proposal to strip Germany of control over her industrially rich Ruhr and Rhineland.

Rene Couve de Murville, the French ambassador, has opened negotiations with state department officials, but American officials are not expecting a speedy solution. Separate conferences are being held by the French in London and Moscow, and agreement is needed in each instance before a policy decision can be made.

Agreed to Potsdam Policy

Price called attention to the American-British-Russian Potsdam agreement of Aug. 2 — adhered to by France—which says that during the period of occupation Germany shall be treated as a "single economic unit."

This agreement provides further that while for the time being there shall be no central German government, certain essential German administrative departments shall be established.

Price referred particularly to France's refusal to agree to any overall plan for operating transportation, postal, and crop control systems. He said that under the four power control council system of operating by unanimous consent, one power can veto any plan favored by the other three.

Price said: "France is almost entirely responsible for failure to preserve Germany as an economic unit as promised in the Potsdam agreement.

"I think the army has done a good job under all the difficulties. This isn't the fault of the army at all. It's the fault of the French."

Price said Germans are "paying heavily" because of France's attitude. If present conditions continue, he asserted, there is "certain to be starvation—and epidemics and rioting usually follow starvation."

COURT DECIDES TO DELAY TRIAL OF ELDER KRUPP

Postpones Its Ruling on Arraigning Son

BY HAL FOUST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

NUERNBERG, Germany, Nov. 15—The international military tribunal today sustained a defense motion and dropped Gustav Krupp, 75, munitions manufacturer, from the list of big shot Nazis scheduled to go to trial here next week for war crimes. It ruled against a proposal by British prosecutors that he be tried in absentia.

The court postponed deciding on whether Alfred Krupp, 38, son of Gustav and president of the Krupp works since 1943, shall be substituted in the indictment for his father. The trial, slated to be opened on Tuesday, might be delayed as much as 30 days by this substitution.

Charges Remain Alive

The charges against the senior Krupp of having supported the nazis, incited aggressive war, and profited thereby, will remain technically on the docket to await a time when he is physically and mentally fit for trial.

The court accepted a medical report, however, that he is suffering from senile softening of the brain that has kept him helpless since an automobile accident last December and is likely to become worse.

Russian and French prosecutors supported the proposal to try him in absentia until yesterday. Instructions were received from Moscow and thereafter Russia and France indorsed the American proposal that Alfred, now a prisoner of the British army, be named a co-defendant.

Hans Marx, attorney for Julius Streicher, nazi arch anti-Semite, told the court today he would ask it to have its medical board test Streicher's sanity. He said Streicher refused to make an insanity plea but as an officer of the court he [Marx] recommended the examination.

Test Hess, Too, Red Urges

Col. Urey Pokrodsky, assistant prosecutor for Russia, suggested that the medical board examine Rudolf Hess as well as Streicher. Hess, at one time second only to his codefendant, Hermann Goering, in Hitler's favor, has been suffering from real or pretended amnesia since a few months after he parachuted into Scotland early in 1941.

Geoffrey Lawrence of Great Britain, the presiding judge, advised Marx and Pokrodsky their proposals would have to be submitted in writing.

A British source said after the court adjourned that it still was a 50-50 chance whether the tribunal would start the trial on schedule Nov. 20, or add Alfred Krupp to the list of defendants and grant his counsel a 30 day delay. The Briton said, however, it was extremely unlikely that the suggestion for a 12 day delay to Dec. 2 would be granted.

BURGLARS TAKE $500 AND $1,800 IN LOOT

Burglars carried away a small safe containing $500, with 250 dresses, 75 robes, and 15 jackets, all valued at $1,800, from the dress shop at 4738 Lincoln av., the manager, Edward Applequist, reported to police yesterday.

Dachau Defendants Hear Torture Charges as Trial Opens

[Associated Press Wirephoto]

CHARGE 40 NAZIS EXECUTED MASS MURDER SCHEME

Dachau Horror Camp Trial Opens

DACHAU, Germany, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Nazis carried out a "planned scheme of extermination" at the infamous Dachau concentration camp, the prosecution asserted today at the opening of the trial of 40 Germans charged with killing and mistreating prisoners there.

In the prosecution's opening statement Lt. Col. William Denson said:

"Our evidence will show that a planned scheme of extermination was in progress at Dachau, in which helpless victims who refused to submit to the nazi yoke were starved and subjected to inhuman treatment."

Description Protested

Col. David Chavez Jr., of Santa Fe, N. M., drew protests from the defense because of his graphic description of conditions found in the camp when American troops liberated the area last April.

Denson, countering defense protests, said: "It is hard to describe such scenes without strong words."

The eight member tribunal upheld the prosecution.

About 400 spectators were in the court, including some 100 German civilians and many American soldiers. The trial opened in the center of the former prison camp, where, the prosecution estimated, 200,000 bodies were cremated. Judges and counsellors wore sidearms.

The defense, handled by four United States army officers and a German civilian, challenged the court's jurisdiction on grounds the prisoners never were discharged from the German army, and were entitled to treatment as war prisoners instead of being tried as war criminals.

Forfeited Their Rights

The court overruled the challenge, after Denson argued that the defendants had forfeited their rights as war prisoners thru violation of the rules of war.

Col. Chavez, head of a war crimes investigating team which arrived at Dachau last April 30, told of finding box cars filled with dead and dying prisoners which the fleeing Nazis had not had time to unload.

"The terrific smell of the bodies awaiting cremation," he said, "was so bad I couldn't stand it."

Some of the defendants grinned sardonically at his recital, but when pictures of piled up bodies and barely living skeletons were introduced some of the accused swallowed hard and averted their eyes.

RED CROSS FIGURES DISCLOSE PLIGHT OF EUROPE'S CHILDREN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

CHIASSO, Switzerland, Nov. 15—The plight of Europe's children is disclosed by figures published by the International Red Cross at Geneva. Greece and Romania have about 280,000 orphans and Hungary 200,000. Of the 6,000,000 Polish children under 14 years of age, 2,000,000 are underfed.

A report by the sanitary commission of Vienna, Austria, said 30 per cent of the school boys between 6 and 14 were underfed.

At Mannheim, Germany, 30 per cent of the tubercular patients recently were children between 2 and 6. In Berlin infant mortality reached 64 per cent in August, and at Eberswalde, near Berlin, 95 per cent. In Prenzlau 80 per cent of all children born in 1944 and 1945 have died. Forty-eight per cent of the children in Paris, France, have tuberculosis; in southern France the percentage is 74.

ORDER WEISBERG HELD TO JURY AS TAVERN SLAYER

A coroner's jury yesterday held Julius [Dollie] Weisberg, former night club operator, to the grand jury for the murder of Joseph W. McKnight, 46, Evanston automobile salesman. McKnight was shot fatally in a loop tavern Oct. 23.

Detective James J. McGrath testified that while McKnight lay dying in the Bridewell hospital he identified Weisberg as the man who fired the shot.

McGrath also told the jury that Charles Morrow, manager of the tavern, told him and other police that Weisberg had done the shooting. Weisberg refused to testify on advice of his counsel, Harold L. Levy.

BRITISH QUELL NEW RIOTING IN TEL AVIV; 5 DEAD

Enforce Curfew; Jewish Cities Quiet Again

TEL AVIV, Palestine, Nov. 15 (AP)—British parachute troops, backing up a "punishment by death" warning to rioters and enforcing a complete curfew, restored order today to Tel Aviv after outbreaks in which five persons were killed and more than 100 wounded.

The dead were Jews. The injured included Jews, British troops and police.

A British officer blamed the violence on a "minority group" and said that the people in general were not violating the curfew. Dr. Israel Rockach, mayor of Tel Aviv, appealed over the Palestine radio for discipline and observance of the curfew.

Several Hundred Arrested

Several hundred persons were reported arrested before the disturbances, which lasted 24 hours, were quelled by thousands of troops and civil police. But the situation was so well in hand tonight that Maj. Gen. E. L. Bols, commander of the British 6th air borne division, announced that the curfew would be lifted from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. tomorrow.

An official British bulletin said that troops had been forced to open fire on unruly mobs during the morning.

Jerusalem Is Quiet

Jerusalem remained quiet during the day, but the coastal city of Haifa was placed out of bounds to troops on leave and armed soldiers were reported standing by.

While planes roared overhead, British troops poured into Tel Aviv by truck and by 2 p. m. the streets were cleared.

The rioters had attacked government property, stoned barricades and stormed several British buildings during the morning in defiance of the curfew.

Three Die in New Outbreak

The death toll in last night's rioting was two killed and 27 wounded, and in this morning's fresh outbreak three killed, 20 seriously hurt and a considerable number slightly wounded.

Wounded rioters were carried off the streets at nearly one a minute during the morning and early afternoon.

The rioting flared last night after a protest meeting against Foreign Secretary Bevin's statement in commons Tuesday on Palestine, in which he disclosed a joint British-American commission would make recommendations on the Jewish problem.

The acting high commissioner for Palestine, J. V. W. Shaw, declared in a proclamation:

"Unruliness, incitements to violence or disorder, and all attempts ot disrupt peace and interfere with the normal lives of the people will be punished with the utmost vigor of the law.

"Unlawful carrying or use of firearms, bombs, grenades or other warlike stores is punishable by death."

It was broadcast in Hebrew and the same broadcast carried Mayor Rockach's appeal for discipline. The British had informed the mayor previously that unless order could be maintained the troops would take action.

ROBNETT VIEWS BACKING U.S. WAY READ TO JURORS

Excerpts written by George Washington Robnett in his publication, News and Views, were read yesterday before Judge Walter J. La Buy and a jury in the federal District court, in an effort to show that Robnett was and is a loyal American.

Robnett, executive secretary of the Church League of America, is seeking $100,000 damages from E. P. Dutton & Co., publishers of the book, "Under Cover," on charges that statements in the book and on its jacket libeled him.

The quotations read by Harry S. Ditchburne, Robnett's lawyer, specificially attacked various isms, praised the United States Constitution, and called for complete support of the prosecution of the war. Later in the day Robnett's wife testified on financial matters of the league.

SEND PROTESTS ON PALESTINE TO BRITAIN'S CHIEF

2 Groups 'Outraged' by Shooting

Gunfire by British troops upon Palestine citizens in Tel Aviv yesterday resulted in telegraphic protests to Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee from at least two Chicago organizations. Dr. Samuel M. Blumenfield, president, and Dr. Morris A. Gutstein, secretary of the Chicago Rabbinical association, said they were "outraged" at the incident.

The G. I. Joes of America, Inc., a newly organized association of Chicago veterans of World War II., telegraphed Attlee at the British embassy in Washington, D. C., condemning the "recent acts of aggression of the British empire." The message was signed by Fred and Frank Matthesius, brothers, and Vernon Mondl, directors and incorporators of the organization.

Claim U. S. Guns Used

The telegram said that in Palestine, the Dutch East Indies, and Indo-China residents "are being slaughtered by British troops and war ships with ammunition, equipment, and planes paid for by the people of the United States in a British campaign of ruthless aggression."

"The sole offense of these unfortunate dead is that they sought the liberty our forefathers paid for with their blood in 1776 when they fought to be free from the chains of a British tyrant," the message said.

The message added that the principles of freedom and self-determination underwritten by Britain "become a mockery when viewed in the acts of Great Britain in Palestine, in Indo-China, in the Dutch East Indies, in India, and in Egypt, as witnessed by wholesale massacre by British troops of freedom loving people. . . . We, the G. I. Joes of America, who fought to end aggression everywhere, will continue that fight."

File Protest with Truman

Dr. Blumenfield and Dr. Gutstein said they intend to call an executive committee meeting of the rabbinical association soon to decide what action will be taken against the Tel Aviv shootings by the British. They also disclosed the association has sent a telegram to President Truman.

"The Chicago Rabbinical association," the message said, "representing the combined orthodox, conservative, and reformed Jewish ministry of this metropolitan area, in meeting assembled this morning, is distressed with the news of further delays in solving the immediate human need of the harried and displaced Jewish people of Europe.

"We urge reconsideration by our government of this delaying policy which means the inevitable destruction of the last remnant of Jewry in Europe this winter. We plead that you insist upon your original request for the immediate admission of 100,000 Jews into Palestine."

ACT TO EXEMPT CHINESE WIVES FROM U. S. QUOTA

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—A house immigration subcommittee was directed today to draft legislation permitting American citizens to bring their Chinese alien wives into this country.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Miller [D., Cal.], was instructed by Chairman Dickstein [D., N. Y.] of the full committee to study three similar bills already introduced on the subject and to report a measure combining their provisions.

All of the bills would exempt Chinese wives of Americans from the immigration quota which permits the entry of only 105 Chinese a year.

Petain Taken to New Prison from Fortress

PARIS, Nov. 15 [Reuters]—Philippe Petain, former marshal, was removed today from the Portalet fortress in the Pyrenees, where he had been held since his death sentence was commuted to life imprisonment, and taken to another prison. The newspaper Le Monde said the new prison was on the Ile Dyeu, about 15 miles off the French Atlantic coast. An official said Petain was moved because Portalet lacked facilities for the upkeep of 500 guards.

MEN OF 33D DUE IN FT. SHERIDAN TOMORROW A. M.

Overseas Vets' Train Crosses Montana

BY GEORGE SCHREIBER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Aboard the 33d division troop train, Nov. 15—Thirty-third division troops traveling eastward from Japan tonight were more than a thousand miles closer to their goal—namely a discharge from the army and home. The train passed thru Miles City, Mont., tonight and is due in Minneapolis at 1 p. m. tomorrow and at Fort Sheridan Saturday morning. Railroad officials said however, that almost anything can delay a troop train so the special might not keep up to schedule.

Here are a few random notes on the returning soldiers, gathered since they left Vancouver barracks early Wednesday morning.

To make jungle juice, says Pvt. 1st Class Walter Rahn, 28, 4863 Bloomingdale av., all you have to do is to pick a ripe cocoanut, bore a hole in it, put in half a teaspoon of powdered yeast, a few raisins, a little sugar and bury the nut in the sand for 10 days. Then you have a drink, potable and strong. Rahn wants it known the men make this drink only to display American ingenuity, not because they love hard liquor. Time hanging heavily between battles may have something to do with it, he thinks.

Letter to Dale Hitton

Here is an open letter to Dale Hitton, 13, 7838 Kimbark av.: Dear Dale, your father, Lt. Col. James W. Hitton, whom you know wears the silver star for heroism both in this war and World War I., is a little afraid to come home and face you without Dusty, the fox terrier that appropriately enough occupied the Luzon fox holes with your dad. The dog got shunted up north in Japan somewhere, but your dad has a Jap carbine.

There are six bartenders aboard this train but they do not have a bar to tend.

250 Eat in Bed

First Lt. John B. Lord of the Greenwood Inn, Evanston, an infantry platoon leader, is looking forward to seeing some Illinois scenery which he can designate merely as beautiful and not as terrain.

Two hundred and fifty soldiers being fed out of the forward part of the train had the luxury of having breakfast in bed this morning when the lights in the kitchen car went out. The mess sergeant told his KP's to serve them in bed.

Here are a few tips to mothers, wives and prospective wives of soldiers from Sgt. Emil Petramata, popular 33d division headquarters mess sergeant. Says Sgt. Petramata: "Do not repeat; do not serve your soldier anything from cans; no scrambled eggs, and do not mention the word dehydrated in his presence. See that the morning bacon is grease free and the coffee strong but good."

CHARGES BRITAIN USES RATIONING TO FOOL PUBLIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Nov. 15—A charge that the British government is using the newsprint shortage to keep the people uninformed about laws which regulate their lives was made today before a house of commons committee.

Appealing for the government to allow the size of newspapers to be increased from their present four pages, James Reid, Conservative, said it is the only way to insure that the multitude of new orders and regulations being issued by the Labor regime is made public. He told the committee considering a bill which would put laws into force before their publication that "only a minute proportion of orders is published at present because newspapers are so small. Apparently the government is determined to keep the public in ignorance.

The house tonight approved paper wrapping for Christmas gifts.

CHICAGO TO GIVE 33D AND FAMILIES DINNER SUNDAY

Veterans of the 33d division will be given a special welcome by the city Sunday, Jacob M. Arvey, park board member and former lieutenant colonel with the division, announced yesterday.

Upon receiving their discharges at Fort Sheridan the men will find Chicago Motor Coach company buses waiting to give them free transportation to the Service Men's center on Michigan av. at Congress st. At the center they may arrange to meet their families and all attend a chicken dinner. Entertainment will be furnished by the center and radio and stage stars. Arvey suggested the troops would find it a convenient way of meeting their families and enjoying a visit with them. The 33d Division Veterans' association is aiding in the program.

Gov. Green issued a proclamation paying tribute to the division and designating Saturday as Homecoming day for the veterans. He urged citizens to hold appropriate ceremonies honoring the returning men.

Which Insurance Policy shall I buy?

You know the new Illinois State Law makes it important that you carry automobile protection.

Motorists are today being offered automobile insurance by more than a score of companies.

With all these policies to choose from, which will you buy?

In the interests of insurance buyers, Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company suggests this 6-point Buying Guide. Before you buy any automobile insurance policy, be certain it meets these qualifications:

1. The company must have a strong financial background.

2. The company must have a long established record of prompt and fair adjustment of claims.

3. The company must have offices to serve its many clients throughout the United States and Canada, and its service must follow your car.

4. The policy provisions must be broad, nontechnical and understandable.

5. Supplemental coverage must be available for injuries and hospital expense of the owner and members of the family.

6. The cost must be reasonable.

A MESSAGE TO DOG-TIRED FOLKS

Here's a sensible, drugless way to avoid fatigue and loss of energy due to B Complex deficiency...

It is surprising, and shocking too, how many people go along day after day so tired, so tuckered out most of the time, that they find it difficult to do their work and impossible to enjoy life. It isn't that they are sick. There's nothing organically wrong—just that awful fatigue!

Now, while fatigue may be due to a number of causes, it has been proved that in a surprising number of cases, fatigue is due to a lack of three factors in your daily diet—thiamine, essential for the normal functioning of the nervous system; riboflavin and niacin.

All three are factors in B Complex vitamins. All three are equally important.

The sensible, honest and inexpensive way to guard against B deficiency ... the way to help avoid that constant nagging fatigue ... is to supplement your diet with BEXEL. BEXEL is a remarkable product—an easy-to-take capsule which contains concentrated amounts of thiamine, riboflavin and niacin. If you will take BEXEL over a reasonable period and if, at the same time, you will follow the common sense rules of getting a reasonable amount of sleep, and eating a good diet, then ... well, you'd be amazed how many thousands of people have been helped to joyous vitality and radiant energy by BEXEL.

BEXEL contains no artificial stimulants that let you down. It is the new, modern way to insure against loss of energy and fatigue due to dietary deficiency of B Complex. BEXEL costs only 2½ cents a day—isn't that inexpensive insurance worth taking out?

Get BEXEL today in your drug store. Or ask your doctor what he thinks of this wonderful preparation.

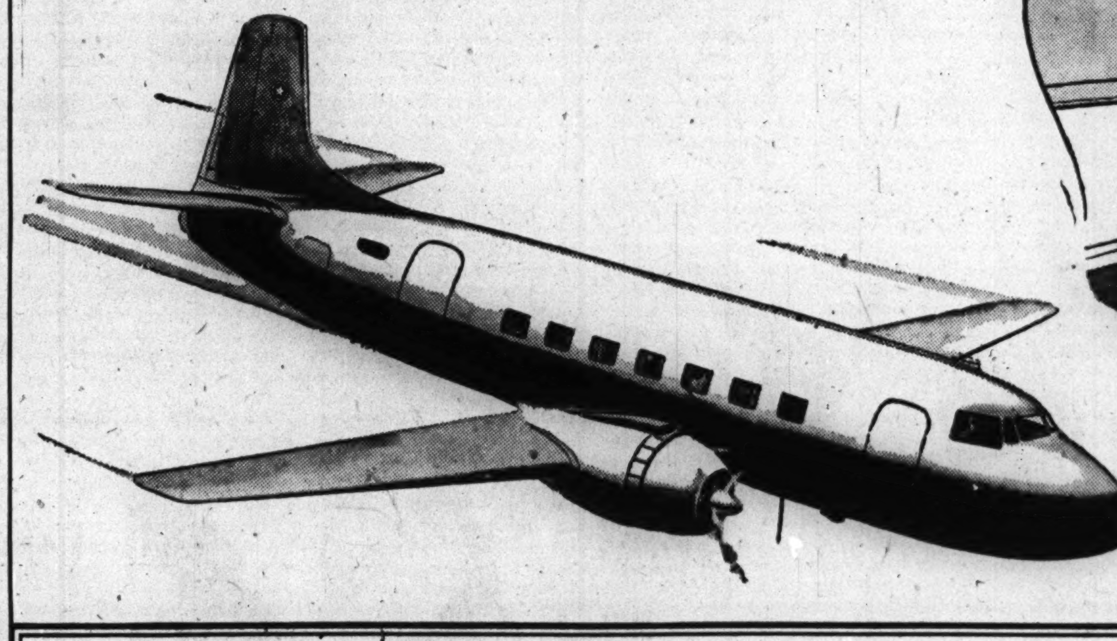
WHAT THE NEW Martin 2-0-2 MEANS TO THE FLYING PUBLIC

● In economy, speed, comfort and modernity, no commercial aircraft now flying can surpass the new Martin 202. Her speed averages thirty to forty percent more than today's transports. In comfort, she offers unexcelled luxury, every up-to-the-minute convenience. Her exceptional operating economy permits rates less than those of first class railroad fare. And unlike converted bombers or revised prewar models, the Martin 202 is newly designed, specifically to meet current airline requirements. An outstanding achievement in Martin's 35 years of leadership, the 202 opens a new era in air travel and transport.

THE GLENN L. MARTIN CO., BALTIMORE 3, MARYLAND



ROOMY AISLES eliminate congestion in entering or leaving Martin 202. Cabin is completely air conditioned, sound conditioned, heated and smartly styled throughout. Tricycle landing gear keeps plane level while on ground.

BAGGAGE RACKS at entrance permit passengers to pick up baggage quickly without waiting for it to be unearthed from baggage hold. However, baggage may be checked through, if desired. Additional luggage may be stowed under seats.

ULTRA-COMFORTABLE seats . . . with ample leg room, individual reading lights, full-view frostproof windows . . . give the Martin 202 unsurpassed luxury. Call light summons hostess. Unusual stability makes for easy, smooth flying.

MODERN LAVATORY, spacious and spotless, is equipped with convenient mirrors to serve as a powder room. Buffet on Martin 202 is completely equipped enabling hostess to serve full-course meals as well as light snacks.

SOME OUTSTANDING FEATURES OF THE NEW MARTIN 202

- Cruises at a speed approaching 300 m.p.h.—upward of 100 m.p.h. faster than present day transports.
- On a 250 mile city-to-city hop, direct flying costs, exclusive of operating overhead, are less than one cent per seat-mile.
- Various interior arrangements carry 30 to 42 passengers—in luxury unsurpassed by even the largest 4-engine airlines flying today.
- Equipment is located below floor, easily accessible for servicing through exterior hatches.
- Flexible Mareng fuel cells cut maintenance costs and contribute to safety.
- Three large exterior doors, and two large doors between passenger and cargo compartments, permit swift loading and unloading to cut waiting time at airports.
- Will utilize every new electronic device, including radar, to permit all-weather flying.
- Embodies such improvements as reversible pitch propellers, heat anti-icing, laminar flow wings, tricycle landing gear.
- Has far more cargo and baggage space (525 cu. ft.) than any transport of comparable size.
- Utmost passenger comfort assured by comfortable roomy seats, plenty of head room and leg room, large windows, modern heating, ventilating, soundproofing and lighting.
- The Martin 202 is engineered specifically to meet Air Transport Association specifications. Not just designed for the airline but by the airline—custom built by Martin—to the most exacting standards of the air traveler.

NEW BUS ROUTE OPENS NOV. 25 ON CALIFORNIA AV.

The Illinois commerce commission yesterday ordered the Chicago Surface Lines to open a new bus route on California av., from Fulton st. to 72d st., on Nov. 25. The run will be one of the longest on Chicago streets. At the start, it was reported, 18 buses will be used in rush hours and the schedule will provide a bus each six minutes. More rolling stock is to be added later. Judge Michael L. Igoe of the federal district court entered an order yesterday permitting the surface lines to pay a $10 Christmas bonus to each of 1,578 employes in military service. Request for the order was made by Jacob I. Grossman, attorney for the lines' management.

SELLING ANOTHER BILL OF GOODS TO AMERICA

Secretary of State Byrnes says that about half of the outstanding differences between the United States and Britain over the terms of the loan the British are trying to arrange in Washington have now been settled. The British are reported willing to take 5 billion dollars of our money on a 50 year basis, paying 2 per cent interest. The interest is a trifle higher and the commitment to pay it somewhat more inflexible than Britain had previously been willing to assume. On the other hand, Britain would get about a billion and a half more than the administration had originally been disposed to lend. No doubt Mr. Byrnes regards the arrangement as a compromise.

Before the loan can be extended, however, congress must agree; and before congress can be persuaded its members will have to feel that public opinion is not, as at present, hostile. To the British and members of the administration who are bent upon giving away America the prospect, it might be thought, is none too encouraging. Yet the Wall Street Journal last Tuesday predicted:

"The American public is expected to drop its opposition to a loan for Britain between now and the turn of the year.

"It won't happen by accident."

The Journal goes on to explain how the element of chance is to be eliminated. "Five top government agencies," it states, "are mobilizing their opinion manufacturing machinery for a campaign which will start soon and which officials say will be running at full tilt by December, when members of congress will be home listening to constituents. The pay-off will be legislative action in January."

The plan for this propaganda campaign calls for the use of the identical methods which proved themselves when congress, succumbing to a "popular opinion" drummed up by government propagandists, voted for the Bretton Woods international bank and currency stabilization scheme, at a cost to the treasury of 6 billion dollars.

The need to resort to this campaign of ballyhoo for Britain was demonstrated to the administration when an unpublicized state department public opinion poll disclosed that 70 per cent of the American people are presently against a large credit for Britain.

The propaganda campaign will be directed by a government agency the existence of which is probably unknown to 99.9 per cent of the American public. This is the division of public liaison of the office of public affairs of the state department, directed by Francis H. Russell. A number of members of his staff have been busy selling administration foreign policy ever since 1933, when Mr. Roosevelt's reciprocal trade treaties were found to require a favoring wind for public acceptance.

It must be emphasized that the British loan campaign is but one of a number of undertakings now in the hands of Mr. Russell's public opinion canning factory. The others being "popularized" by similar means are the international food and agriculture organization, the international aviation organization, the united nations organization, and the St. Lawrence seaway project, among many. The attack upon the taxpayer's credulity, sympathy, and reasoning ability is continuous.

Results are to be achieved by the "education" and "indoctrination" of business men, clubwomen, the clergy, labor and farm leaders, and representatives of hundreds of organizations which have some influence on the thinking of large groups of people. There are various methods of inducing a receptive attitude.

Religious leaders, both ministers and laymen, will be invited to Washington and flattered with admission to "off the record" conferences, where they will be privileged to bask in the presence of such great thinkers as Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson or, perhaps on a lucky day, Jimmy Byrnes himself. Then, having heard only one side of a highly controversial question, they go home with their minds unclouded and spread the gospel of billions for Britain from the pulpit, thru civic assemblies and the like. The same procedure will be used in dealing with clubwomen and with the business men, the economic philosophers of the CIO, and any one else capable of helping put another fast one over on the people.

There are many other subsidiary means of doping the electorate into insensibility while the medicine men put on their false faces and dance. Radio programs, solemn speeches by New Deal leaders, direct-by-mail appeals, predigested "news" for the subservient press, pamphlets, and propaganda reaching down even to the 4-H clubs will be employed, just as they were in the Bretton Woods job.

If such methods are permitted to continue and to succeed, government by legislative deliberation will yield to government by propaganda and hysteria. The people and their representatives will take a back seat while the propagandists of the burocracy run the country like a three-ringed circus. This high pressure campaign to put over the British loan may fail. If it doesn't, the people can't say that they weren't warned. They will know why a "minority" of 70 per cent lost another round in the battle to hang on to the fragments of their country and its once great substance.

COWARDS AT SINGAPORE

Lt. Gen. H. Gordon Bennett, the Australian officer who commanded the dominion's troops at Singapore in 1942, has won his demand for a public judicial investigation of the circumstances of his escape from the Japanese after the island was surrendered by his British commanders. He walked out a month ago from the secret hearings of an army board of inquiry investigating the same circumstances.

Gen. Bennett demanded the investigation to clear his name of any suspicion. So far there has been no move toward self-vindication by two officers far more deeply implicated in the disgrace of Singapore than was Bennett, their subordinate. They are Gen. Robert Brooke-Popham, who was the commander in chief of British forces in the far east, and Lt. Gen. A. E. Percival, who was the commander in Malaya.

The lassitude with which both civilian and military authorities in Singapore first awaited and then met the Japanese attack need not be retold here. The story is well known and is one of the most disgraceful of the war. Sufficient to say, the defenders were much more concerned with propaganda, designed to convince the rest of the world that all was well, than they were with energetic measures to make it well. The Japanese drove down the Malayan peninsula in a campaign which they were never again able to match for rapidity, while the British commanders sat smugly in Singapore asserting to the last that the Japanese would never set foot on the island. When the Japs did set foot on it the British forces, more than 60,000 men, great numbers of whom had never fired a shot, were cravenly surrendered.

Singapore was the greatest single success of the Japanese army in the Pacific war. The failure of the British to give a better account of themselves there, and the final cowardly surrender, permitted the Japanese to devote all of their attention to the reduction of Gen. MacArthur's little army in the Philippines, and to the invasion of the approaches to Australia which later had to be won back with American, not British, blood.

As a partner in that war the United States has every right to demand of the British government that it subject these two officers to a court martial or a court of inquiry into their actions. If the British are so lacking in responsibility to their ally as not to take the step themselves, that demand should be made.

WHEN DO THE BUROCRATS DEMOBILIZE?

We are hearing a great deal about the demobilization of the army and navy, principally because the vast majority of the men in service want to get out as quickly as they can and have every right to do so. We hear virtually nothing about the demobilization of another army, the vast army of federal payrollers, principally because the vast majority of its members not only don't want to go out and scratch for an honest living, but will resist to the bitter end any effort to make them do so.

It is not surprising, therefore, as Congressman Vursell of Salem, Ill., told the house the other day, that army and navy demobilization, however faulty and slow it may be, is operating with rocket speed in comparison with the demobilization of the burocrats. That hasn't even been fairly started, in spite of some misleading statements put out recently by the Truman administration.

The last report available to Mr. Vursell, that for Aug. 31, several weeks after V-J day, showed a total of 3,649,383 federal civilian employes. This was an increase of 187,692 payrollers over the total when President Truman took office in April. As Mr. Vursell says, it is to be hoped that since Sept. 1 the pay roll may have been cut at least to its figure at the death of President Roosevelt, but evidence on this point is not yet available. The burocracy has become so ponderous that it takes it nearly three months merely to count itself.

These payrollers cost the taxpayers of the country 7,600 million dollars a year at their present rates of pay. That's an average salary of nearly $3,000 a year, which, in turn, is almost twice the average in normal private employment in industry or commerce. President Truman's proposals for boosting federal pay scales would cost another half billion dollars. Pay rolls alone now exceed what Mr. Roosevelt managed to waste on all federal activities in all but his most profligate years.

Beside the enormous army of payrollers and the tremendous cost of maintaining them, the recent "economy" suggestion by the President's personal assistant, George E. Allen, who doubles in brass as the secretary of the Democratic national committee, are insignificant. Allen said the President was going to cut down on 23 war agencies at a saving of 371 million dollars a year. This, Mr. Vursell calculated, would get rid of not more than 123,666 people. It affects 23 bureaus and agencies, whereas the government has altogether 1,141 such units.

The fighting is over and the war should be officially declared to be over. More than a million of these federal employes were put on the pay roll in the guise of war necessity. Even during the fighting the scandalous waste of man power by the government was apparent to all. Numerous agency heads moved heaven and earth to save their favorites from the draft, and many succeeded. There is no excuse for the expansion of pay rolls to the degree accomplished during the war and there is, of course, still less for keeping the people on the pay roll now that the tasks they were supposed to perform have been finished.

Congress should go to work on the burocrats and get rid, not of a few hundreds of thousands of them, but of two million or more. The only reason for keeping the swollen pay rolls is to buy the next election for the Democrats with public funds. The Democratic majority in the last election was almost exactly equal to the total of federal employes.

Mr. Truman's admirers delight in portraying him as a practical politician. He apparently thinks he can retain national power by the same methods which made the Pendergast machine powerful for so many years in his home town.

Test Your Horse Sense

By Dr. George W. Crane

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. Which one of these flowers is the basis of a common poultry food?
   Jonquils Sunflowers Asters Daisies
2. You would get the most lint on your coat from contact with Linen Percale Muslin Flannel
3. "Jumping the gun" should make one think of which one of these?
   Texas Ranger Swimmer Cowboy Sailor
4. If insects were life insurance prospects, which one of these would be most likely to sign on the dotted line?
   Butterfly, Grasshopper, Honey bee, Housefly
5. Which one of these sports or recreations is played in blocks?
   Billiards Polo Bowling Chess
6. Some of the creatures in the left hand column below are two-legged, while others are characterized by four legs. Try to distinguish accurately between the bipeds and quadrupeds, placing a check mark under the appropriate heading for each one. You are entitled to one point for each correct judgment.

	Biped	Quadruped
Emu	____	____
Zulu	____	____
Gnu	____	____
Moro	____	____
Zebu	____	____

Score yourself as follows: 0-2, poor; 3-6, average; 7-8, superior; 9-10, very superior. [Note—The last question counts five points.]

NOVEMBER'S TOPAZ

"Topaz for November," says the code for birthstones, of ancient and anonymous authorship, which is available in every jewelry shop and may also be found in the dictionary. We do not know why this selection was made, but have been assured that topaz is the gem of cheerfulness and pleasant dreams; also that it used to have a reputation for curing insomnia.

After inspecting a first-class specimen of wine-yellow color, we agree that it makes a blithe ornament for a gloomy month. If any November child feels that he was born under gray, depressing influences, we invite him to spend a few minutes of his birthday, which nobody remembers, in the contemplation of a few choice topazes. The clouds will roll away.

The name of this stone seems to come from a Greek word meaning to divine, conjecture, or guess. An island in the Red Sea which was frequently surrounded by fog was called Topazios, and yellow gems found there were named after it. They were not the true topaz of modern lapidary science, however, but a less popular semi-precious stone called peridot.

* * *

It is not generally known that topazes come in colors outside their familiar yellowish and brownish range. Rarer forms, with the same luminous quality, run thru shades of pink and red. There are also blue varieties, highly prized, and even an untinted kind, clear as spring water, which the French call "goutte d'eau."

* * *

MEADOW SKETCH

The waters of the meadow pond grow dark
And moody with November skies. Across
Their troubled surface curling leaves embark
Like frail brown boats that skim, and dip, and toss.
Among the ragged willows cardinal
And chickadee repeat their precious vows
In frosty little voices, beautiful
With all the faith they learned on April boughs.
The wind is running with a thin bronze note
Swept from a cowbell on a distant ridge;
Beyond the fence, in overalls and coat,
A scarecrow flaunts his summer privilege,
While rain brings rumors meadows understand

Engel's Choppy Tells a Whopper

Choppy says he has not been feeling so good lately. His ya'rs are creepin' up on him. His doctor said it could be neuritis, since it was in his right hind leg, and he should have his teeth examined.

So, he says, he went to his dentist, who looked at his teeth and said there might be two that might be causing his trouble, and if he had them pulled it might relieve his neuritis. His dentist said it might even be oldritis.

The dentist pulled two of his teeth, and now Choppy says his trouble really began. His oldritis became much worse, so he called his doctor again, who took his blood pressure, temperature, and his pulse, all of them things for which he had no need. Choppy says his doctor told him that since he felt worse after his teeth were pulled, it proved they were at fault. The problem now was how to get rid of the oldritis, which could not be pulled.

Choppy says the doctor said he had sciatica, which is a form of oldritis, and his right hind leg was so painful he could not lift it. He says he was afraid he would get the same thing in his left leg, which would have been most embarrassing.

Choppy says he got better, and gets around fairly well with a cane.

Is it my fault if Choppy talks as if he were I? Nope, just a case of mistaken identity.

PRAYER FOR A GIRL

Love, you will hurt her more than you hurt most;
She is a dreamer, with her eyes on stars,
Unwary of your many ambuscades.
For such as she your deepest wounds and scars.

Life, you will take from her so many things!
I know your way of teaching to be wise.
But O, please God you never take from her

That Dog Gets Around

That game-playing dog of Marco from Polo's [Line, Nov. 9] gets around, but he gets nowhere. The first time I heard of him he was riding a Pullman and playing cards, and I rewarded him with a haw-haw that shook the hairpins out of my pin-curls.

Since then that dog has been heard of playing chess in a barber shop, marbles in the school yard, and tiddlywinks on the living room floor, and each time my polite snicker gets more stretched-looking.

Now he's playing checkers in a gas station, and still losing. Isn't that dog ever going to master a few simple games? Wisconsin Irma

E. W. S. writes: "I have heard that a discharged soldier may wear his uniform for special occasions. I would like to know if this would apply to a man discharged some time ago who desires to wear his uniform when he is married."

Laws governing protection of the uniform of the United States permit discharged personnel to wear the uniform from the place of discharge to their homes, provided that they go home within 90 days from the date of discharge. It also is permissible to wear the uniform on occasions of public ceremony such as parades, or to meetings of veterans' or other military organizations. It does not appear that wearing of the uniform for a wedding would be proper, especially if you were discharged some time ago.

D. E. writes: "A claim filed with the veterans' administration has been returned for proof of marriage. What does the veterans' administration consider proper proof of marriage?"

The best proof is a copy of the public or church record of the marriage certified by the person or official in charge of such records. If this record is not obtainable, an affidavit of the clergyman or magistrate may be accepted, or if no records are available, affidavits from two or more witnesses to the ceremony may be submitted.

HEMORRHAGE CONTROL

THE sight of blood frightens the average individual, particularly if he is the victim. I have seen the toughest brutes faint when a sample is withdrawn for analysis. Others who never consult a doctor for anything less than a catastrophe will call frantically for help when they notice a few red streaks in the sputum.

Since our body is literally traversed by blood channels, bringing nourishment to all the cells, a bruise or cut will invariably cause oozing. On the surface, control is relatively easy with the application of pressure over the involved area. This is best done by using sterile gauze or cotton and pressing with the thumb or hand. If the laceration is on an extremity, elevation helps by collapsing the veins. When more severe, a tourniquet is employed, making sure that it is tight and located between the injured site and the heart.

Internal hemorrhages are not stopped so easily. The method of escape may give a clew as to what organ is affected. A nosebleed indicates a ruptured vessel in that structure and, should the sputum be red, the lungs or throat are suspected. An X-ray of the chest is advised in these circumstances especially when the loss is more than can be expected from an irritated pharynx. Vomited vital fluid is usually brownish and is described as "coffee ground." The color is due to its reaction with the acid in the stomach. For the same reason, the stools are black when a peptic ulcer bleeds. Rectal hemorrhage comes mainly from hemorrhoids, but polyps, inflammation, and malignancies must be considered.

Many times the issue is so slight that it does not discolor the secretions. Sensitive chemical tests or the microscope are needed to determine the true situation. Prolonged leakage may lead to anemia, fatigue, and restlessness. Since the symptom usually means that something is wrong, attempts should always be made to find the source.

Bleeding can be subdued by clamping off the vessel with a special instrument called a "hemostat." Before resorting to this procedure in cases of internal hemorrhage, other methods are tried first. Absolute quiet in bed and sedatives are essential. Drugs, including vitamin K and calcium, which aid clot formation, are also of value. The administration of blood itself is useful and sometimes transfusion doses are necessary to replace that which is lost. Should these fail, an operation is required except in those regions, such as the lungs, which are inaccessible.

For many years surgeons have sought a preparation which could be applied to a raw surface. Gauze sponges have been used, but considerable time is wasted in waiting for the flow to cease and now and then the clot is dragged away when the tampon is removed. Layers of body tissues, such as fat or muscle, also have been employed. These are not uniformly satisfactory.

Recently Bering introduced a substance, called "fibrin foam," which is made from blood plasma. It may be left in place as it dissolves ultimately. This spongy material can be molded to the contour of any area where it adheres quickly. To date it has proved effective, especially in brain surgery where oozing is often difficult to check. Its utility in other branches of surgery and dentistry will undoubtedly be investigated.

Peace Where There Is None

The air is cold and crisp, green wreaths dot the lamp posts, and there lie ahead 40 nights in which the children of America may dream that the wondrous things they see in the windows beside the green wreaths on the lamp posts will be theirs on Christmas morning. The other day we wandered past these beautiful windows of the rich and happy land where children still can dream, marveling at their contents and marveling, too, at the children near us who jumped up and down, not in awe but in desire, crying, "That's what I want!" and at their mothers' calm, "Yes, darling, Santa will bring that to you."

A few moments before we had had lunch with a naval officer who had executed perilous secret work in advance of the Normandy invasion. He had been saying how easily we, the victors, have made the transition from war to peace, how quickly we have forgotten the horrors, and how, by the slightest twist of the thread, we could have been the defeated rather than the victorious in Normandy. "No one knows how slim our chance was," he recalled somberly. "And now we all dance. We are 'back to normalcy.' I wonder if Europe ever will be."

And now here were these entrancing toy windows, full of enchantment and luxury. Instead of scarlet cotton, Santa Claus wore fuchsia satin. Instead of a reindeer, he sat astride a milk white horse, its haunches protected by pink and blue quilted satin, bells on its neck, magnificent plumes waving from its head. The pack on its back bulged with knickknack treasures. And nearby, in a canopied bed, lay two children. Above them and around them were the substance of their dreams—the cow jumping over the moon, Humpty Dumpty sitting precariously on a wall, Jack climbing a beanstalk, Goldilocks eating with the three bears, the seven dwarfs clustered admiringly around a richly gowned Snow White.

It was a lovely sight. The rosy cheeked, plump children smiled in their sleep. The story book dreams of childhood filled the air. Santa Claus advanced, scattering tangible happiness.

No ogre was here, no gaunt figure, no vista of plodding feet, no splintered rubble where once had been a house. Nor was there here a mountainous pile of food that a hungry child might dream of, nor a fire for the cold one, nor a house shining thru the night for the homeless one. These were the dreams of a secure child in a secure world. In a secure world it was unnecessary to dream of dolls as beautiful and rosy as he, of toys he had always wanted, of even a single apple. In a secure world they were sure to be his.

In a corner of this vast display was a card saying that the Christmas of 1945 was again a children's Christmas, a story book Christmas, a Christmas of peace. Nowhere did any one see a toy gun, except a cowboy's cap pistol in a holster saying Star Ranger. Nowhere did one see the toy tanks, amphibious tractors, camouflage suits, or battalions of fierce soldiers with which American children in recent Christmases emulated the fury which they had heard about but never seen. The only warriors were the traditional wooden soldiers of the French chocolate soldier variety with the blue tunic crossed with white, the scarlet trousers and plume, the round, painted, wooden face. All else was gone. Children can forget. American children, who have been the most, if not the only, protected children of the battered world in the last five years, can forget. They never knew.

How wonderful to be a child in America this Christmas. If he received no toy at all, he would be rich. If he dreamed of nothing more than his own living room, he would be rich. How much more wonderful if he could know—and understand—that he is rich not because he is an American, for that was chance; not because he is an innocent, for the war that seems to have survived the peace papers continues to batter the innocent as much as the guilty; not because he is a child, for that war hit equally at children and adults; but by the grace of God.

THEY FELL FOR PROPAGANDA

Cleveland, O., Nov 4—The many letters that have appeared in your column regarding the unfair discharge system of the army and navy with its discriminations, have given me high blood pressure. The ranting of the boys and their parents, sweethearts, wives, and sisters; the spleen they vent because of the OPA, WPB, WLB, and all the other monstrosities that are barnacles of the war for "liberation"—these are getting me down.

I have a deep sympathy for all of their complaints. And because of that sympathy, my utter helplessness to do something for them sours my blood. Today, after reading The Sunday Tribune and having the usual spell of bitterness I experience because of these letters, I sat back to do a little reflecting. I began to wonder how many of these victims had the foresight to anticipate their troubles.

I wonder how many of them were also victims of the propaganda that "scientific developments have made the world too small for 'isolationism.'" How many were victims of the foreign agents who branded those people who were trying to keep us out of this war as "Fascists"? How many of them were gullible enough to believe this war was for the "four freedoms" and like idealistic bubbles?

The propaganda is still continuing that "this world is too small for isolationism," and I am not so sure that many of your correspondents who are complaining of their plight—which the "isolationists" tried to spare them—would not again become victims of the nonsensical appellations that dragged them to the four corners of the world. I believe it propitious to ask these correspondents, soldiers, sailors, wives, sweethearts, and all, their opinion on "intervention versus isolationism."

SWEETLY REASONABLE

Chicago, Nov. 9—The intellectual debate between John L. Lewis of UMW and Philip Murray of CIO in Washington Nov. 8 brought out some good arguments. For instance, it is reported that when Mr. Lewis shouted "Nuts!", Mr. Murray responded with "Nuts to you!" This gave Murray a two word advantage in the debate, but also exposed him, by the use of the personal pronoun, to a punch in the nose, which Mr. Lewis is credited with being quite able to deliver.

It is encouraging to observe that no overt or extrovert act occurred. Mr. Murray retained his nose and his tactical gain. These evidences of gentlemanly behavior, and the use of keen logic in union argument, are indeed interesting and signficant. If these principles of discussion continue to be observed, no doubt we shall have an end of "labor troubles."

Elliott Deal Is Reviewed by Rep. Woodruff

BY LAURENCE BURD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—Rep. Woodruff [R., Mich.] said today it "seems likely" that loans to Elliott Roosevelt by two Texas oil men were made "because Elliott's father was President of the United States." He added that he hoped that some day the entire "sordid story" of the financial dealings of the late President's family would be told.

Rep. Woodruff

Woodruff in a house speech said that the loans to Elliott, second son of the late President, were made by Sid W. Richardson and Charles F. Roeser soon after President Roosevelt was introduced to them by his son on a Gulf of Mexico fishing trip in 1937.

The loans, totaling nearly $250,000, were followed by Elliott's launching of a Texas radio chain. Woodruff further noted that soon after the fishing trip certain "hot oil" cases involving a company owned by the President's fishing hosts were speedily "cooled off and disposed of."

Tribune Story in Record

Woodruff inserted in the Congressional Record a story that appeared in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Nov. 10 detailing the circumstances of the loans to Elliott and the settlement of the oil case.

Woodruff recalled that the recent investigation of Elliott's dealings by the house ways and means committee centered largely on Elliott's loan of $200,000 from John Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company, which was settled for 2 cents on the dollar.

Internal revenue agents inquiring into this transaction also questioned Richardson, however, about his advances to Elliott, Woodruff said.

"It Wouldn't Hurt" Him

Woodruff told the house that in answer to an agent's questions of whether he would have advanced the money "if he had been at the time just Elliott Roosevelt and not the son of the President of the United States," Richardson replied: "I couldn't say positively what I would have done, because it was not presented in that way."

ROMULO BACKS BID OF INDONESE GROUP FOR INDEPENDENCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine delegate in congress, today endorsed the Indonesians' demand for independence in Java in a statement declaring self-government is an "inherent right" of all peoples.

Commenting on the current effort by British troops to subordinate the Indonesians with armed might, Romulo said the issue is part of the "world problem" of peace.

"If we want a lasting peace," he said, "now is the time to establish the basis for the maintenance of that peace. There is no other basis but the recognition of the inherent right of all peoples to govern themselves."

RACE TOLERANCE PLEA IS MADE BY MRS. ROOSEVELT

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, widow of the late President, pleaded for racial and religious tolerance in human relations in an address last night before the South Central association in the Stevens hotel. Twelve hundred persons attended the dinner. The association is a bi-racial group of business people. The meeting was held in coöperation with the Victory bond drive of the war finance committee.

"We are never going to return to the world as it was before the war," Mrs. Roosevelt said. "That world was finished the day we dropped the atom bomb. Now it is our first obligation to live with the rest of the world and we have another chance to fulfill our obligation at home by granting equal opportunities for every citizen. There must be no second class citizens."

Mrs. Roosevelt said that it is only by unity that racial and religious differences can be forgotten. This is a new world, she said, in which "we can destroy ourselves and civilization." To preserve that civilization, she asserted, "we must change it, and learn to respect each other as human beings, regardless of race or religion," James G. Shaw, president, presided.

BATTLE IN JAVA SEEN AS BITTER WAR TO DEATH

tavia who from laziness or lack of initiative, pass out distorted reports and rumors rather than get first hand reports themselves, are to blame for this lack of transmission.

Batavia has two transmitters handling news to Colombo, Ceylon, and then London. For some reason the press men were asked by public relations to permit one transmitter to be sent to Soerabaja. They voted "no"—to keep both for themselves.

The Soerabaja situation is this: British Indian troops now hold about half the city. Last Saturday they got most of that distance with little opposition. But Sunday the Indonesians were beginning to post machine guns in the right places and the British advance was slowed. Since then, except for moving into the ruins of one of three government buildings, the British have advanced only a few houses. And stubborn defense, not lack of heart among the Indian troops, is the reason.

Daily the Indonesians have brought more weapons into their defense line and daily they have used them more expertly. Their tactics are largely those of the Jap—hold until dead. They use their artillery like the Jap, firing three or four bursts into one part of the British area and then changing to another. Because of this British officers say they are convinced that Japs are fighting with the Indonesians and directi g them.

Disown the Republic

Soerabaja, if its radio is true, has completely disowned the national republic which has been asking the city to stop fighting. The Soerabaja radio has denounced President Soekarno as a traitor.

The British troops did not expect such a defense. And they wonder why they are fighting at all. It seems to them that if Europe is to again manage the island it is the job of the Dutch and not the British.

The British walked into the middle of a nasty controversy, but, with British tenacity, they are continuing to carry out their tasks, including evacuating internees and prisoners and recovering Japs.

The Indonesians manning the anti-aircraft guns show remarkable adeptness at anti-aircraft defenses. The fighter bombers and almost every plane here—only six Thunderbolts and a couple of Mosquitoes—have holes from small arms fire.

Shells Peril Destroyer

Twice they have used coastal batteries. The first time they missed widely. The second time, yesterday, they opened up on a destroyer which was busy shelling the city, and the first shell landed only eight yards away.

So ignorant are the people here of the situation that a headline on an army paper distributed to the troops says, "Soerabaja virtually occupied," and the paper quoted the Dutch news agency from Batavia. One correspondent is so completely in the dark that he asked if correspondents in Soerabaja can cross over to the Indonesian lines, spending half the day with the British and half the day with the Indonesians. Told not to be silly, he asked amazedly, "You mean your American neutrality is not respected?"

As far as the British have advanced the city has been disastrously looted. Whatever stocks Soerabaja had two weeks ago after three and a half years of Jap rule are gone now.

The heart of the city—a no man's land, if there ever was one—is fast becoming a shambles.

Most of the city is without light or water. Instead of the occupation taking a few days it appears today that the battle may well go into weeks. Soerabaja, its walls smeared with big letters shouting "Independence or death," apparently means it.

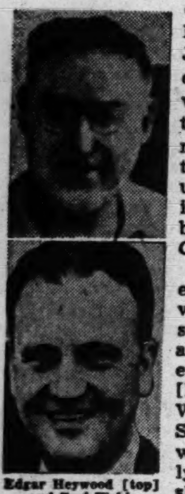
FBI JOINS HUNT FOR SHOP OWNER GONE 4 MONTHS

Missing Witness Traced; Bloodstains Found

Investigation of the strange disappearance of a Chicago electrical shop owner at Cedar Lake, Ind., last July 1 was speeded up last night with activity by the federal bureau of investigation and disclosure that a missing witness has been traced to California.



Edgar Heywood [top] and Earl Wehle

The shop owner, Edgar Heywood, 53, was seen last at Cedar Lake with an employe, Earl [Ding Ding] Wehle, 38, of 8027 S. Carpenter st., who subsequently took over the shop at 1052 W. 79th st., and himself dropped from sight on Sept. 11, when challenged on his ownership.

Bloodstains Found in Cottage

Heywood's rented cabin at Cedar Lake, where he operated a speedboat service, yielded two clews—a jacket identified by police as Wehle's, and a mattress. Stains on an elbow of the jacket and at the head of the mattress were tested and identified as human blood.

Detectives William Sullivan and Selby Richardson of Gresham station, whose questioning of Wehle was followed by his flight, learned from Wehle's daughter, Connie, 14, that Wehle telephoned to her around Oct. 1 that he was in California and planned to return.

Heywood Electrical shop at 1052 W. 79th st.

Carpenter st. address, has received any further word from him. The entry of the FBI into the case, however, was expected to facilitate the search for Wehle.

Police Quiz 40 Persons

Nearly 40 persons have been questioned by Detectives Sullivan and Richardson. One, John McGuire, 45, of 5115 S. Mead av., who knew Heywood and Wehle, told the detectives that while he was speedboat riding with Wehle on Cedar lake last August Wehle remarked: "Ed [Heywood] would turn over in his grave if he knew we were using his boat." knew we were using his boat."

Miss Lereie Leninger, 24, of 8242 Drexel av., a shapely brunette, told police she accompanied Wehle to Cedar lake a few times, but had not heard from him for more than two months. She said she knew of no trouble between Wehle and his employer.

Tells of Offer to Sell

Charles Wenk, owner of a radio repair business at 6950 S. May st., told police Wehle in mid-July tried to sell him a half interest in the electrical shop for $1,000, but he refused the offer because the shop's inventory at that time would have justified a higher price.

The search for Heywood was initiated by Chris Lassen of Cedar Lake, an old friend. Heywood's wife, Sarah, from whom he has been separated 13 years, lives at 1742 W. 68th st. with two daughters. A son is on his way home from the army.

AIR ACCIDENTS ON INCREASE, ARMY REPORTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—The accident rate for army flying has been edging upward since victory became certain, officials announced today, despite preparations designed to offset the major factors involved.

Disclosing a 35 per cent increase in the rate from the low reached a year ago of 37 reportable accidents for each 100,000 hours of flying, army air force officials said these general problems are largely responsible:

Relaxation of the war tension, which kept morale high.

Rapid changes in personnel—both flying and ground crews—because of demobilization.

A change in the character of the flying—that is, much less time in training planes and the resulting larger proportion in combat types being flown by pilots sometimes unfamiliar with the route.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Nov. 16—Sherman Begins His March

ON NOV. 16, 1864, Gen. William T. Sherman and a Union army of 62,000 picked men left the ruined city of Atlanta, Ga., to begin their march to the sea. With them were 2,500 wagons packed with much ammunition and some food and drawn by six mules each. An artillery train, 600 ambulances, and droves of cattle brought up the rear.

The great cavalcade spread out so as to cover a path about 60 miles wide. Its purpose was to destroy railroads, to carry away or render useless everything that could possibly be of benefit to the confederacy, and thus to smash the south's war potential and disrupt its communications.

As the army went about its work of ruin, the confederacy found itself unable to offer any but token resistance. Sherman's progress was at the rate of 10 to 15 miles a day.

For 27 days the march went on. "The country traversed was at the beginning rich in provisions and forage," one historian wrote. "At the close it was a barren desert." Soldiers were forbidden to enter dwellings, but they could take what they wanted from gardens. There was virtually no wanton violence against the persons of the civilian population, but the spoilation of thair lands was all but complete.

After a 300 mile march, Sherman reached the environs of Savannah. He had almost accomplished the purpose which he had announced before the march began: "I propose to sally forth to ruin Georgia and bring up on the sea shore."

The campaign was not long in closing. Savannah was evacuated by the Confederates Dec. 20 and Sherman wired President Lincoln that the great port city was his Christmas gift.

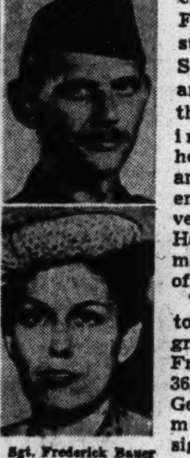
MYSTERY PROBE REVEALS NUDES AT ARMY PARTY

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 15 [Special]—An army sergeant who photographed nude girl entertainers at a Fort Harrison stag party for South American army officers was the subject of an investigation here today by the army and the federal bureau of investigation. Fort Harrison is 10 miles northeast of Indianapolis.



Sgt. Frederick Bauer and Mrs. Bauer

The soldier who took the photographs is Sgt. Frederick Bauer, 36, a naturalized German, who is a member of a signal corps detachment at the post. Mrs. Wilma Bauer, 34, of Indianapolis, his wife, charged that her husband was "ordered" by his superior officers to take the pictures April 2 while the Latin American generals were on a junket to the middle west.

Rep. Ludlow [D., Ind.], in answer to an appeal to Mrs. Bauer, informed her that "very serious charges" had been placed against her husband in Washington, D. C.

Charges Kept Secret

"The charges are of such nature that the department holds the information confidential even from a member of congress," he said.

Bauer has been held incommunicado at Fort Harrison for 10 weeks and no charges have been placed against him.

Mrs. Bauer also said her apartment had been ransacked by "an army officer and two plain clothes men" and that they had taken prints of the nude photographs he had kept and more than 150 photographs made in Germany, some German books, a drawing set of German manufacture, and photographic equipment.

Wife Appeals to Truman

She also appealed to President Truman, the 5th service command, and the American Civil Liberties union.

Public relations officers of the 5th service command at Columbus, O., declined to comment on details of the case but said a decision on the case may be forthcoming within 24 hours.

"There are only a few things in the army that are still secret," said Lt. Col. Joseph Deutsche, public relations spokesman of the 5th service command. "The Bauer case is one of them. This firecracker is so hot we don't even talk about it over the telephone."

Mrs. Bauer said her husband came to the United States in 1930 after a famine in Germany and took a night course in law and was admitted to the bar. She said he returned to Germany in 1938 and "made certain promises to influential Germans in order to obtain passage back to the United States."

Entered After Pearl Harbor

Mrs. Bauer said he had been married to a German girl but obtained a divorce thru Indianapolis courts.

Bauer, who also speaks German, French, and Spanish, entered the army after Pearl Harbor. He was stationed at Fort Harrison three years ago. He was due for discharge in September, his wife said, but has been confined in an abandoned WAC barracks under 24 hour guard. She and Bauer were married last year.

CHICAGO-LONDON FLAGSHIP HERE READY FOR HOP

Flies from Bangor, Me., 1,069 Miles, in Test

Chicago was on its way toward becoming an international center yesterday as a giant American Airlines plane glided onto the runway at Chicago airport, ready for inauguration of 21 hour air service between Chicago and Europe.

The plane, the Flagship Chicago, had completed its last test run before beginning regular Chicago to London passenger service at 9:45 a. m. Monday. In the test run yesterday seven crew members and four officials of the civil aeronautics authority observed the plane's action in a flight from Bangor, Me., to Chicago.

1,069 Mile Flight on Test

All agreed the performance was excellent and predicted a thriving air business to take the "landlocked" label from Chicago. The Bangor to Chicago flight—1,069 miles—started from Maine at 8:45 a. m. [Chicago time] and arrived in Chicago at 1:50 p. m., taking five hours and five minutes. The four motored D-C flagship is the commercial version of the C-54 Skymaster, used in every battle theater in the war.

Christening ceremonies for the flagship will be held at the airport Sunday, with Mrs. Kelly, wife of the mayor, officiating.

James Y. Craig, chief pilot of American Airlines overseas service, said the primary importance of the test run was to establish Chicago's "trunk line to Europe." He explained that the Chicago air route will join the regular New York-Newfoundland-England line at Millinocket, Me.

Veteran Pilots to Serve

The New York to England route has been flown by American Airlines since 1942, Craig said. Capt. R. J. Hixson, a veteran of the firm's overseas flying routes, who has had 11,000 hours in the air, will pilot the eastbound flight of the flagship, and Capt. W. A. Farriss, also long an overseas pilot for the air line, will captain the return trip, Craig said.

Gov. Green, from Springfield, heralded the opening of the Chicago London airplane service as "another forward step toward retaining the transportation leadership which Illinois has held so long." He named the week beginning Nov. 18 as an international air transport week for the state.

DELAY FLIGHT TO GIVE CHICAGO LEAGUE OFFICE

New York, Nov. 15 [Special]—Weather conditions over the Atlantic today delayed until tomorrow the London bound flight of four Chicagoans who arrived here on the way to present their city's bid for its selection as the permanent headquarters of the united nations organization. A committee scheduled to meet soon in London will decide upon a site.

Mayor Kelly of Chicago accompanied the delegation this far but returned home when the group's departure had to be postponed.

The mayor told reporters Chicago's inevitable position as the air center of the world has been secured and that "we have all the facilities and civic pride necessary." The 40 million dollar Douglas airport to be built in Chicago, he said, will be superior to New York's Idlewild field. Tho Chicago let slip to Detroit the chance to become the world's automotive center, Kelly said, "we're missing no chance on aviation."

STUDY 22 SITES FOR HOME OF UNITED NATIONS

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—United nations officials today combed thru the advantages listed by 22 places seeking to become the organization's permanent home.

Philadelphia's case as "the most suitable background for world peace" was presented by a four man delegation this afternoon.

Bids have been entered by Chicago, Atlantic City, Black Hills region, Denver, Hyde Park [N. Y.], Miami, Monterey peninsula [Cal.], Monticello [Va.], Moraga valley [near San Francisco], New York City, Oahu Island [Hawaii], San Francisco, Cal., Monte Carlo, and three unnamed towns in Indiana.

ORDER ARREST OF MATRON AND YOUNG ELOPER

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 15 (AP)—Comely Eleanor Deveny, 24 year old mother of two, who ran away with 16 year old Ellsworth [Sonny] Wisecarver, was ordered arrested today by Superior Judge A. A. Scott on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Judge Scott, in Juvenile court, also ordered a delinquency charge filed against Wisecarver, already on probation for an elopement when he was 14.

"You mean I have to go up to jail? Can't I go to juvenile like before?" asked Wisecarver, his beardless chin trembling. "Please let me stay home, Judge. I won't do it again."

But the judge was adamant, even in the face of pleas from Sonny's mother.

"He's done this thing before and he'll do it again," the judge said.

Mrs. Deveny was not in court today.

EX-POLICEMAN CALLED SLAYER OF ARMY WIFE

Pontiac, Mich., Nov. 15 [Special]—Edward Bellm, 48, former Detroit police lieutenant, today was charged with first degree murder in the slaying of Mrs. Alberta Rose Young, 33, wife of an army air force captain. At the same time the state dismissed a murder charge on which Lawrence Theis, 29, had been held in connection with the killing, but continued to hold him as a material witness.

Bellm, who tried to commit suicide by slashing his wrists in the county jail last Friday, was described by Sheriff E. K. Thomas as having refused to give answers to some questions concerning the slaying and to have given evasive replies on other points. Bellm has persistently denied he killed the woman.

GREEKS OUTLINE RELIEF PROGRAM OF 100 MILLION

Cripples, orphans, and war veterans of Greece are being provided for in a 100 million dollar 10 year program launched by the Greek War Relief to provide for the suffering people of that country, Nicholas Kalmer, overseas director of Greek War Relief, told representatives of 75,000 Greek-Americans meeting in the Hamilton hotel last night.

Picturing the poverty and moral post-war depreciation within Greece, Kalmer told the group of a three point program which he said was instituted "as a long term plan—the only sure way to repair the damage to our country."

American Style Centers

Included in the program are provisions for 140 health centers, 20 of which have been built this year. The centers will be established in nearly every center of the country with 18 mobile units, he said. All were fashioned after American medical centers and built on the suggestions of American doctors, with complete provisions for X-ray, dental, pre-natal, and hygiene and health care, he said.

The second step in the plan is care for 50,000 homeless Greek orphans. Thru the coöperation of American-Greek societies, Kalmer said, it is planned that volunteer American families will "adopt" the children without bringing them to the United States. Money for their education, packages from "home," and funds for their support in Greece will be provided by individual donations from Greek-American families, he said.

Seek Food for Starving

One of the biggest programs in the rehabilitation of the country, according to the relief director, is care of war cripples and veterans and the starving. More than $1,300,000 has been appropriated by Greek War Relief this year for feeding starving people, he said.

CIO TURNS DOWN GM'S OFFER TO BOOST PAY 10%

Ford Seeks Guarantee Against Strikes

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—The CIO-United Auto Workers today flatly rejected a general 10 per cent wage rate increase offered by General Motors as a compromise on the union's demands for a 30 per cent boost.

The action, announced by Walter Reuther, UAW vice president in charge of General Motors negotiations, came soon after the company increased its previous offer of 8 to 10 per cent increases for the majority of the company's workers.

Reuther, terming the latest company offer "a streamlined approach to inflation" asserted that if General Motors "raises its auto prices 1 cent, the UAW will go into court and get an injunction to stop such action."

Harry Anderson, General Motors vice president, commenting on the threat of court action, said, "if the OPA sets up prices, I don't see how any court could take seriously any injunction request from the union."

Will Give Data to OPA

Anderson said the 10 per cent wage increase would be presented to the OPA as part of the production cost data being compiled to aid the OPA in setting new car prices.

The latest exchanges on the General Motors-UAW front came as both sides resumed discussions on the union's demands.

Questioned about reports that the Flint, Mich., General Motors UAW local has made preparations for a strike if the 30 per cent is not forthcoming, Reuther said:

"If there is one thing our locals do not lack it is initiative. However, it is unrealistic not to prepare for any possible developments."

Reuther said final decision on any strike action is vested in the union's special six man strategy committee which meets in Detroit Monday.

Will Try to Settle Dispute

Reuther asserted, however, that "every possible effort will be made to settle this thing across the conference table."

In another major development on Detroit's auto front, the Ford Motor company demanded that the union offer it guarantees against work stoppages and assurances of increased productivity by union workers.

The Ford proposal, addressed to Richard T. Leonard, UAW-CIO director for the Ford company, also suggested that the union be required "to reimburse the company for any damages it may suffer by reason of violations of the provisions prohibiting strikes and other interferences with production."

The company asserted it does not believe the present "is the time to attempt to settle on general wage increases."

Leonard assailed the Ford statement as a "union-busting and strife-provoking document."

"Opens Way for Inflation"

"The company's statement," he said, "makes it clear that the Ford company has joined the conspiracy of profit-swollen corporations to perpetuate present starvation wages or open the gates to inflation thru unjustified price increases.

"We had hoped our differences with the company could be peaceably adjusted during negotiations. But the company, without waiting for negotiations to begin or making any attempt whatever to determine if our problems could be settled by collective bargaining, comes out with a wild and threatening attack upon the union."

[Negotiations will begin Tuesday on the union's demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.]

"Not in Good Faith"

"This is certainly not bargaining in good faith. The only interpretation we can put on the statement is that the company is anxious to provoke a strike.

"The company claims its security has been injured by work stoppages since 1941. There is a very simple way to avoid work stoppages. That is to stop provoking them. Every work stoppage in Ford plants has been provoked by unfair practices of management. We also challenge the statement that there have been 773 stoppages since 1941. That is the grossest kind of exaggeration. The company must have blamed on the union every occasion in which management closed down a department, a section of a department, a plant, or sent a handful of workers home."

"Now go back upstairs. Angela's group is discussing the problems of the future world—something we know nothing about."

SPAATZ ASSAILS RAPID BREAKUP OF AIR FORCES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Gen. Spaatz told the senate military committee today that this nation's powerful air force is "disintegrating before our eyes."

Gen. Spaatz testifying before senate committee

"We see almost hysterical demobilization," he told the committee as he urged unification of all fighting forces into a single post-war agency.

He said such demobilization is dangerous because "in the atomic age the line of distinction between peace time and war time organization for defense will reach the vanishing point."

The general said "The Pearl Harbor of a future war might well be in Chicago, or Detroit, or Pittsburgh, or even Washington."

Gen. Bradley, now head of the veterans' administration, said his experiences as a ground force commander in both Africa and Europe convinced him a single fighting forces department is needed.

Fred Leese, 41, of 3528 N. Knox av., a chauffeur, who took an over dose of sleeping tablets Wednesday evening, died yesterday in Belmont hospital.

PILLS TAKEN IN DENTIST'S HOME KILL WOMAN, 36

Miss Susan Dezik, 36, of 3650 N. Richmond st., a telephone operator, died in Walther Memorial hospital yesterday of the effects of an overdose of sleeping pills she took Wednesday in the apartment of Dr. Raymond Morton, a dentist, at 4019 Irving Park rd. Morton told Capt. John Kelly of the Albany Park police Miss Dezik entered the apartment to clean it and that she took the tablets when they quarreled. He added he'd been acquainted with her about 10 years. He took her to the hospital, he said. An inquest will be held at 10 a. m. today at 2021 Dickens st.

JURORS ABSOLVE DRIVER IN DEATH OF EX-QUIZ KID

Accidental death was the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday in the case of Gunther Hollander, 15, of 5008 Greenwood av., former quiz kid and refugee honor student at the University of Chicago, killed Wednesday by a Chicago Motor Coach company bus at 54th st. and Hyde Park blvd. The jury found that the boy ran around the front of a bus from which he alighted into the path of a second and that the driver, John E. Burke, 42, of 5510 Harper av., was blameless. Burke testified he did not see the boy in the path of his bus until it was too late to stop. He said he has been a driver for the company 17 years.

ALDERMEN O.K. 2 DODGE BUILDINGS FOR VET HOUSING

Find Four Others Can't Be Made Into Flats

Three members of a city council subcommittee, appointed recently to find housing for war veterans and their families, yesterday inspected six buildings at the Dodge Chicago plant, 79th st. and Cicero av., and reported that they believed two of the buildings could be converted into mass housing at minimum cost.

The buildings selected were the brick administration building, which has a floor area of 246,000 square feet on two floors, and a one story wooden office building with a floor area of 33,000 square feet. The four other buildings, all wooden warehouses, were rejected as unsuitable for conversion.

RFC May Have It Soon

The members of the committee, Aldermen Moss [5th], Pacini [10th], and Bieszczat [26th], were shown thru the buildings by Claude Welles, real estate consultant for the Reconstruction Finance corporation, who told them that the huge plant has not been declared surplus property, but it is expected that it will be turned over to his organization within the next month. At present several hundred men and women are taking inventory of the government property that remains in the plant.

The plan for reconversion, as explained by Moss, is for the city to lease the property from the RFC at a nominal rental and then convert the selected buildings into apartments for former Chicago GIs. The type of alteration planned is not now permitted under the city building code, but will be approved by the council as an emergency measure, he said.

List Handed to CHA

Moss also reported that a list of city owned properties has been turned over to the Chicago housing authority for investigation as to the possibility of using them for erecting other temporary housing.

The subcommittee, he said, will make a trip to New York on Dec. 1 to investigate measures used by that city and insurance companies there in mass housing projects. Two members of the group who did not make the inspection trip yesterday will go east next month. They are Ald. Lindell [9th] and Ald. Hilburn [47th].

WIFE OF LUMBER OFFICIAL FOUND DEAD IN HER CAR

Mrs. Marie Ellen Whiton, 44, wife of Arthur L. Whiton, salesmanager of the Chicago Mill and Lumber company, 111 W. Washington st., was found dead of carbon monoxide gas in the back seat of her automobile yesterday. The car was a half mile from her home at 3235 Park pl., Evanston. A hose was stretched from the exhaust thru a rear window of the car.

John Doetch, 2149 Glenview rd., Wilmette, owner of a gravel pit near the spot, said he saw the car there Wednesday about 4 p. m., and then found the body when he went to investigate on seeing the machine still there in the morning.

Whiton told Evanston police he was not alarmed when his wife did not return home Wednesday night. He said she had been taking flying lessons and he believed she might have gone on a trip. Mrs. Whiton also is survived by a son, Ronald, 13.

GILBERT COMBET FUNERAL IS SET FOR TOMORROW

Services for Gilbert Combet, 75, pioneer French automobile manufacturer and salesman, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 5501 N. Ashland av. He died Wednesday in the home of a daughter, Mrs. R. H. Miles, 6734 N. Ashland av.

Mr. Combet, former bicycle racer credited with popularizing the automobile among many of Europe's crowned heads around the turn of the century, was the first to hold a French driver's license, in 1894. He opened the first agency of a French automobile in New York. In 1908, he operated a Renault sales agency in Chicago. He returned to the United States in October, after passing the war years in Paris.

John R. Leonard, Grain Broker, Leaves $325,000

John R. Leonard of 861 Bryant av., Winnetka, vice president of the grain brokerage firm of Bridge and Leonard, left an estate estimated at $325,000, it was disclosed yesterday when his will was filed in Probate court. The Northern Trust company was named co-executor with Leonard's son, Daniel. After several small legacies, the will divided the estate equally among four children, Daniel, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Casselberry, Mrs. Harriett Turpin, and Mrs. Deborah Jensen. Leonard died Nov. 5.

Burns in Hotel Room Fire Cause Accountant's Death

Arthur W. Stokes, 60, of 6234 Ingleside av., chief car accountant of the Illinois Central railroad, died in Woodlawn hospital last night of burns suffered in a fire early Wednesday. The fire, which firemen believed was caused by a cigaret, did $300 damage to Stokes' hotel room.

SEES SHORTAGE OF 3 MILLION HOMES IN 1946

There will be a shortage of three million dwelling units in the United States by the end of 1946, John B. Blandford Jr., administrator of the national housing agency, asserted in addressing the opening session of the American Municipal association in the Congress hotel yesterday.

There now are 1,200,000 fewer homes than families, Blandford said a survey by the agency had disclosed. He estimated that by the end of next year 3,400,000 more families will need housing. To offset these needs, he said, there is a prospect for fewer than one million present and future vacancies and fewer than 500,000 new housing units.

"Clearly this grim prospect calls for a maximum effort by the federal government," he said. "There should be full utilization of our supply of temporary war housing to meet the emergency needs of veterans—either on present sites or by moving surplus units to crowded areas. There should be a strong drive to increase production of building materials, to break bottlenecks in distribution, to hold prices in line, and to stimulate new building."

He recommended also that cities revise outmoded building codes to facilitate new construction.

BENSON NAMED STATE DIRECTOR OF AGRICULTURE

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15 (AP)—Appointment of Arnold P. Benson, 49, of Batavia, veteran of World War I., as director of the Illinois State department of agriculture was announced tonight by Gov. Green.

Benson was Republican majority leader of the state senate in 1943 and was the unsuccessful G. O. P. nominee for secretary of state last year. He served 12 years in the legislature. He will succeed Howard Leonard of Eureka, who died last month.

A weekly newspaper publisher at Batavia, Benson has been assistant state treasurer since last January. He has resigned and will become agriculture director tomorrow, the governor's announcement said.

SPIEGEL ESTATE TO RAISE $400,000 BY STOCK SALE

Executors of the estate of Sidney Spiegel Jr. yesterday were granted authority by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell to sell 290 shares of Essaness Theater corporation stock to raise $400,000 for payment of a federal estate tax and to meet expenses of administering the estate. Value of the stock was said to be in excess of $500,000. Atty. David J. A. Hayes, guardian of five minor heirs, agreed to the stock sale. Spiegel, an executive of the theater corporation, died Oct. 19, 1944. His widow, Kathryn, of 1444 Astor st., is chief beneficiary of his estate, which was estimated to exceed 1 million dollars.

MRS. M'ELWEE LEAVES ESTATE OF $5,775,432

Mrs. Elizabeth Spalding McElwee of Lake Forest, widow of Robert H. McElwee, banker and lumberman, left an estate of $5,775,432, an inheritance tax appraisement filed yesterday with Clerk Jay B. Morse of Lake county disclosed. She died April 2.

Federal estate tax was estimated at $2,208,979, and the state inheritance tax at $446,915. The net estate of $3,304,271, except for a number of lesser bequests, was divided equally among two nieces and a nephew. They are Adele Virginia Harris Whiting, Bertrand Spalding Coleman, and Vaughan Clarke Spalding. Charitable bequests totaled $201,110.

An inheritance tax appraisement filed yesterday with Morse disclosed that Robert F. Carr of Lake Forest, chairman of the board of the Dearborn Chemical company and former president of the board of the University of Illinois, left a gross estate of $2,147,553. Federal estate tax was estimated at $797,271, and the Illinois inheritance tax at $66,820. The bulk of the estate is bequeathed to two daughters, Mrs. Louise Hodgkins and Mrs. Florence Marston, and a son, Robert F. Jr. Carr died Jan. 22 at the age of 73.

"With Bated Breath"

INSTALMENT XI.
DELIVERED

"Tell me this," Avis asked bluntly, "is Erica's mind affected?" "What's your view?" "Mine? Then, no. Erica may be peculiar, but to my thinking she's all there. At the same time—how do I put it?—well, I'd say she's kept childish almost on purpose, maybe because it's the only way she's able to steer right off from the things she knows are denied to her—life, love, the stuff ordinary females have a right to expect."

"Humph! Not a bad diagnosis. Todd says it all began with her being papa's pet. The seizures were more frequent during childhood. It was an understood law that Erica must be indulged. When Maud took charge, Erica found it less of a struggle to let the old regime continue. Since which, if ever she ventures to assert herself, Maud promptly batters her back into her place."

"Yes," Avis objected, "but now all at once she is asserting herself. Haven't you noticed——"

"That's Agatha Trimble. An absurd woman, granted, but Todd and I agree she's taken the correct line. What if she has flattered Erica's crushed vanity? By this very means she has taught Erica to use her brain. It wants a strong combine," Bruce declared, "to stand up to Maud's steamroller. Now that combine is destroyed, it's up to me—and you—to see Erica doesn't go under again. Can you stick it? That's the point."

Avis wasn't sure.

"Am I dreaming or do psychologists regard miserliness as a first symptom of—well, mental disorder?"

Sharply Bruce fired: "What induces you to ask that?"

"O, Maud. You know, she seems bent and determined to starve us all out. Patriotic economy sounds swell, but mayn't it be just a peg to hang things on? O, of course the woman is technically sane, but in that case what can she be frightened of? Why is she so mortally afraid to let Erica off the leash?"

"You say Maud is afraid? Stop a bit, here's tea."

What he really meant was that his partner, Doc. Grew, was coming in for refreshment, but the stocky doctor didn't stay long.

"Maud," Avis got back to her reflections. "It's not just that cook's behavior. That was only a fleabite, but my belief is it jabbed her on the raw. Right then I began noticing her face. There's something haunted about it."

"I know the stairs were a booby trap," she said. "Not only because that wax was laid on with a trowel at a time when neither Hilda nor Bowers could have done it, not merely the fact that the blessed rabbit is eternally leading Erica wild goose chases round the top floor, but that Maud's clock she said was busted does go, if you know how to handle it."

"Maud's clock? It may have been borrowed."

"O, definitely! And put back while she was out. Moravian's not in it, he just wasn't there. I'm glad you've heard that story about him and don't take any stock in it. I wonder if Maud actually does? "No," Avis came back to business, "rhyme or reason aside, the person that trap was set for was the one most likely, in the dark, to come tripping out of that perched-up schoolroom. And you also agree that alarm wasn't wound for fun. What in creation ought I to do about this?"

She thrust before him Erica's envelope she had been keeping in her brown calf handbag. Bruce read the child's round super-scription, Miss Trimble, 14 Heath Villas. Avis explained: "It's embarrassing, isn't it? You see, Maud's laid down the law."

"Maud has! On what excuse?"

"O, that Trimble's a bad influence. Is she? I wouldn't know. Pinching pearls doesn't sound so good, but now you tell me she genuinely helped Erica. When it comes to that, how can any one say the woman isn't a poor unfortunate klep?"

"Be that as it may," Bruce said grimly, "she swallowed a hundred aspirins."

"O," Avis shuddered, "don't say it! Erica's 10 pounds were for her, you know. Maud's determined Trimble shan't have it. Will it be in this letter? No, there's no money here. Erica'll probably let it down on her string. I told you, didn't I, what she was up to, leaning right out over the long drop? Real schoolgirl stuff. Expecting to haul up some message, but Aggie couldn't come round, could she, if she was lying at death's door? Now you know why I wanted your verdict on Erica's mental condition. Is it really Maud's concern if Erica chooses to throw her own money around?"

The doctor was prodding the burning logs. Slowly he spoke.

"I may be acting most unprofessionally, Miss Marriott," he said, "but there is something I feel you should be told. For a considerable time now Maud Bolles has been moving heaven and earth to get her sister certified as incompetent to handle her affairs. For Erica's good, she insists, Todd was tackled. He refused."

Avis sat upright. "Great snakes! And you——"

"I've done the same. That being the reason Maud hates me like black sin. Any day I am expecting my walking papers. That will leave them with Grew, so the joke will be on her. By all means deliver Erica's note," he advised. "If my persuasions bear fruit Agatha will be leaving town almost at once, so you won't be faced with this conscience twister again. You walked, didn't you?"

"Thru the footpath. It cuts off over a mile."

"Humph, but going back? Dark as Tophet, won't do risking it these times. I've got to cut along now, but—here's the idea: Polish off the rest of these scones, browse till 6:30 in the warm. In fact, the room's yours any time you can use it. I'll pick you up at the monument at 7." He opened the middle French window and jog-trotted across the wet lawn.

There were no wayfarers whatsoever in the narrow back street Avis turned into, or none that strained vision could see.

Was this No. 14? Her pencil flashlight picked out the numeral. The house bore a brass plate inscribed Ada Briggs, Dressmaker and Renovator. It was Ada Briggs, she recalled, who had relined Jill's old fur coat. With slight trepidation she pressed her finger on the bell. At once the door yielded and eager hands drew her inside!

"I knew it," Miss Trimble whispered. "I felt positive you would come. In, yes, quickly, into my room. Eyes everywhere, you know."

"I can't stop," Avis protested, "there's a friend waiting for me," but already she was being forcibly propelled into a stuffy front parlor.

"Now, then," cried Miss Trimble. "Tell me about Erica. Is she safe? Is she well? O, you have brought a note from her! I was at the inquest. We both heard that horrible evidence, didn't we? That told a tale. Only part of it, I daresay, but hush"—cunningly. "Not altogether wise, is it, to speak of that dreadful accident? Whatever we may think. And we must not think, eh, Miss Marriott? We cannot stifle our brains."

BRITISH LABOR REGIME READY TO RULE FARMS

Control of Crops, Markets and Prices Near

LONDON, Nov. 15 (AP)—Britain's Labor government today announced a plan for permanent controls over agriculture — including guaranteed prices, assured markets, and government dictated crop planning.

The proposed plan would enable the government to confiscate and convert to public ownership the lands of any farmer who disregarded the government's advices or directives "to the detriment of the national interest."

The program was disclosed, altho only in broad outline, in a statement read in the house of commons by Tom Williams, minister of agriculture. Legislation to put it into effect is expected to be published shortly.

Seeks Directive Powers

Williams said that "as the world food shortage passes" the government intends to leave farmers normally to grow the crops which their "experience, supplemented by guidance from the advisory services, indicates are most suited to their own land."

"The government intends, however," Williams added, "to seek permanent powers to serve compulsory directions on any farmer whenever necessary. But those powers will normally be used only . . . to supplement methods of steering production . . . should an overriding need in national food supplies or national diet render this necessary."

The planned agricultural economy, Williams said, would entail government fixed prices on cereals, potatoes, and sugar beets 18 months in advance of harvests. Farmers would know minimum prices on live stock, milk, and eggs "three or four years in advance and actual prices some three to 15 months in advance."

"Situation Extremely Serious"

Asserting "the world food situation is extremely serious," Williams said the government, for the time being, will issue "compulsory directives," requiring the production of sugar beets and potatoes, and the planting of grass to "keep in step with an anticipated increase in live stock."

Williams' statement drew immediate reaction from the National Farmers' union, which said it welcomed a plan to guarantee prices and markets but opposed the planning directives.

The union, an independent organization set up by the farmers to negotiate agricultural problems with the government, said "it is to be hoped that the minister's assurance to allow practice and experience to dictate individual policy on the farm will be implemented without further reserve."

Suspended Deputy Sheriff Indicted by Federal Jury

Federal grand jury indictments charging Victor Grimm, 31, 6022 S. Knox av., suspended deputy sheriff, with impersonating a government officer and extorting a bribe, were returned yesterday before Judge John P. Barnes. He was arrested Oct. 29 and later suspended. It was alleged he obtained $400 from Fred Hovadik, owner of a restaurant, after he came upon Hovadik slaughtering hogs without an OPA permit.

NIEMOTH FOUND GUILTY IN VAULT LOOTING TRIAL

Faces Life Sentence on Habitual Count

Willie Niemoth, 54, veteran hoodlum, was found guilty of robbery and of being an habitual criminal last night by a jury of nine women and three men before Judge Julius Miner in Criminal court in connection with the 2 million dollar burglary of the vaults of the E. H. Rumbold Real Estate company, 624 W. 119th st., last Jan. 19. Niemoth is liable to life imprisonment under the verdict.

The jury reached its verdict in three hours 15 minutes, including time out for dinner. Judge Miner commended the jurors for their decision.

Vindicates a Bad Verdict

"I want to compliment you, ladies and gentlemen," Judge Miner said. "Your verdict meets with my approval. It took two intelligent juries like you to vindicate a bad verdict made in the original trial."

Judge Miner's reference was to the verdict of a jury of six men and six women last July 27 acquitting Niemoth and Patrick Flaherty, both ex-convicts, of burglary charges in the Rumbold case. Judge Frank Padden assailed that verdict as the most astounding in his career.

State's Atty. Tuohy then ordered the pair retried on a robbery charge, actually a minor element in the case in comparison with the 2 million dollar burglary. Specifically, Niemoth and Flaherty were accused of holding up Robert C. Rumbold, watchman brother of E. H. Rumbold, robbing him of $35, and taking his keys to the vault.

Niemoth and Flaherty were granted separate trials. Flaherty was tried first, convicted Oct. 25 of being an habitual criminal by virtue of the $35 robbery, and sentenced Nov. 6 to life imprisonment by Judge Miner. The jury in that case was the other "intelligent" jury referred to by Judge Miner last night.

Receives Verdict Calmly

Niemoth went on trial last week. The evidence presented by Assistant State's Attorneys Clement Cody and Blair Varnes was the same as against Flaherty. Niemoth pleaded an alibi and charged that the real culprits in the case had conspired to send him to prison.

He received the verdict calmly, then asked permission from Judge Miner to speak to his wife, Mrs. Mae Niemoth, who was in court. The request was denied.

SERGEANT PRISONER IN PHILIPPINES DEAD, HIS PARENTS LEARN

SGT. ROBERT E. WITT, 28, died of malaria May 26, 1942, in the notorious Camp O'Donnell, Japanese prison in the Philippines, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Witt of 3735 Bosworth av., were informed by the war department yesterday. Sgt. Witt had been declared missing after the fall of Corregidor, where he served with a coast artillery unit. A year ago reports from Japanese sources stated he was alive.

A SOLEMN memorial mass will be said at 10:30 tomorrow morning in St. Columbina's church, 71st st. and Calumet av., for Lt. Harry L. He had been reported missing in action, but word of his death came to his mother, Mrs. Margaret Delaplane, 7030 S. Calumet av., last week. Besides his mother, a brother and four sisters survive.

A MEMORIAL mass will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow in St. Mel's church, Washington blvd. and Kildare av., for J. Martin Price Jr., O. M. 3/c, 19, U. S. N. R., 4108 Gladys av., killed aboard a United States carrier last March 19.

VOTE ON STRIKE BY TELEPHONE UNION NEARS END

A strike vote among 2,000 Chicago telephone toll operators, members of the Illinois Telephone Traffic union, is expected to be completed today, union officials said. An official count will be announced tomorrow.

The vote, which has been in progress for several days, is to determine union plans in case the company refuses to increase wages.

Another strike vote will be held today when the national labor relations board conducts a balloting of members of the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers [CIO] in 11 International Harvester company plants. About 30,000 workers will be involved. The union is asking a 30 per cent wage increase.

SETS LIFE TERMS FOR 2 RAPISTS TO CHECK ATTACKS

Two young rapists who beat, choked, and tore the clothes from their victims were sentenced to the penitentiary for life by Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court yesterday. Both admitted on the witness stand the truth of the charges against them. Judge Ward had imposed a life sentence on another rapist Wednesday.

George Bobrowsky, 19, of 2847 W. 25th st., was sentenced after Assistant Public Defender Gerald Gattys had pleaded that the judge not "bury" the defendant and Assistant State's Atty. Edward Healy had expressed a willingness to accept the court's judgment.

Life Terms Needed, Judge Says

"This raping has got to be stopped and it looks as if only life sentences will do it," Judge Ward commented.

Bobrowsky had pleaded not guilty and had agreed to a bench trial. The testimony was that on the night of Oct. 29, he raped a Harrison High school sophomore, 15, in a clump of bushes in Douglas park, near California av. and 19th st., after beating her boy escort with a revolver.

The boy, Richard Stanley, 16, 2358 S. St. Louis av., and the girl testified Bobrowsky knocked Stanley down with two blows on the head, then kicked him in the chest. Stanley feigned unconsciousness. Bobrowski threatened the girl with the revolver, forced her to help drag Stanley into the bushes, then tore her clothes off and raped her.

Other Rapist Pleads Guilty

Stanley, however, crept away and brought police, who seized the rapist. Placed on the witness stand, Bobrowsky admitted having committed the crime. Asked by Gattys whether he could explain it, answered, "No, I can't." He said he had purchased the gun "on Maxwell st. for $12."

The second rapist sentenced was Henry W. Anderson, 21, of 1238 Arnold st., Chicago Heights. He pleaded guilty to raping a 19 year old girl on her way to work at 6:20 a. m. Oct. 15. The girl testified he dragged her into an alley. She said that after she scratched him he threw her down, stepped on her throat, and kept his foot there until she lost consciousness. As a result of the attack the girl spent a week in St. James' hospital, Chicago Heights. Anderson was captured the next day. He admitted having raped two white women, 38 and 47, and two Negro girls previously.

The man sentenced Wednesday by Judge Ward was Robert L. Randall, Negro, 24, convicted of raping four Negro women.

FORMER CONVICT IDENTIFIED BY 3 HOLDUP VICTIMS

Benjamin J. Tower, 39, of 1302 Carmen av., who has served 15 years in prisons for armed robbery, was identified last night as the gunman who permitted Spero Dallas, a grocery owner at 1120 Argyle st., to get a cup of coffee "to brace his nerves" during a robbery on Nov. 7.

Dallas said Tower took $200 from him in front of his store and ordered him to return to the grocery and look for more money. Dallas pleaded that he was "too shaky" and demanded a cup of coffee. Tower accompanied him to a near-by restaurant. After the coffee was served, Dallas reached for a revolver in the holdup man's pocket and in the struggle the grocer was shot in the hand.

Sgt. Frank Pape of the robbery detail said that Tower also was identified as the gunman who robbed the Skooglund cafeteria, 1138 Wilson av., of $2,550, and the Town Pump restaurant, 6348 N. Western av., of $250, both last Sunday. Pape said Tower answered the description of a gunman who committed at least 40 robberies in the last year.

Fraternities to Continue at U. of C., Alumni Told

A committee representing the board of trustees and faculty of the University of Chicago last night told the Alumni Interfraternity council that "it was not the purpose of the university to abolish the fraternity system." While favoring retention of the system on the campus, the committee, however, invited fraternities to study the possibilities of developing "a significant program" in the various divisions.

COUNTY STAFFS' BOOST OPPOSED BEFORE JUDGES

Protests against allowing four county offices a total increase of 158 employes in 1946, as requested by their chiefs, were made before the Circuit court judges' committee on help yesterday by Douglas Sutherland, executive secretary of the Civic federation.

Positions Granted Still Unfilled

Sutherland told the committee, composed of Judges Cornelius J. Harrington, Denis J. Normoyle, and William V. Brothers, that the county board was proposing pay raises for workers and that an impossible situation would be created if personnel was augmented to such an extent. Finances, he said, would be inadequate.

Of the juvenile probation office request for 48 additional workers [it now has 143], Sutherland asserted that the all-time high for the office was 167, several years ago. He added that all the positions allowed a year ago had not been filled, and that more efficient organization could effect a reduction from the present personnel.

Sheriff's Plea Opposed

Sutherland objected to the 25 new employes asked by the county treasurer, suggesting that clerical and legal help from other county departments could be used for emergencies.

Also protested was Sheriff Mulcahy's request for 18 new county highway policemen and 27 other employes. Another target was the county recorder, who has asked 40 more permanent workers, plus 16 man years of labor to file service men's discharge papers. Sutherland urged more efficient methods.

The judges took the matter under advisement. They fix the number of employes in 13 fee offices.

Smart Parent Knows What to Expect of Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1945: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you have children, or if you've been with boys and girls much from their babyhood on, as many an adored and adoring aunt has, you know that: "What you do expect and what you don't expect" are pretty sure to come true as far as the children's behavior and development are concerned.

What you don't expect is apt to happen almost any time. Children say and do such unforeseen, surprising things. But what you do expect is quite sure to happen as far as their general growth and development are concerned, providing you do know what to expect. And right there lies the point of this article.

It is a good thing to get the general drift of a child's progress from phase to phase. There are some mothers who actually seem "to the manor born," the manor house of childhood. They go along, side by side, with their baby, sensing what he needs and why he does things.

They are not astonished that he doesn't do some things, nor annoyed that he does others. They seem to take motherhood in their stride. That doesn't mean that they have nothing to learn, because they have.

As they look back, or when their second baby comes, they recognize where they made mistakes, where they exaggerated some things that were trivial and overlooked others that were of real importance. But on the whole these mothers understand what it is all about.

But there are many other mothers, loving and meaning to be kind, who cannot adjust their ideas and their management to the rapid changes thru which little children pass, and who consequently feel utterly baffled. They either think their child is "bad" or that they themselves are failures, or both. They cannot seem to realize that "Rome wasn't built in a day" and that neither is a controlled, mature human being.

Kealy Named Rector of College in Rome

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 [Special]—Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of the Chicago archdiocese this afternoon announced the appointment of the Rt. Rev. Msgr. James Gerald Kealy, pastor of St. Gertrude's church, Chicago, as rector of the North American college in Rome to succeed the Most Rev. Ralph Hayes who formerly was bishop of Helena, Mont. The appointment of rectors of the North American college is papal. Msgr. Kealy was rector of Our Lady of the Lake seminary, Mundelein, from its founding in 1921, until 1936 when he was appointed to St. Gertrude's church.

FASHIONS

By Angela

The holidays this year will be the gayest of several seasons, and the formal dinner and dance dresses are geared to the same sparkling tempo.

The black jersey dinner dress at the left, which is sleek and smooth of line, has a flattering surplice bodice, vee neckline, and brief cap sleeves. The long slim skirt has an effective side drape with a suggestion of flat plaits across the front. A belt of nailheads and rhinestones is its only decoration. It is available in sizes 12 to 20.

For the youthful sophisticate, the dress of black jersey and taffeta in the center will have undeniable appeal since it may be worn the year around. The swirling pink and black checked skirt is topped with a fitted decollete bodice of rich black jersey and edged with a ruffle of the material. Having no straps, it is supported by invisible boning.

The junior miss will be irresistibly attracted to the pink and black dance dress at the right. The top of rich black velvet sweetheart bodice has unusual shoulder strap detail and a narrow ruffle around the top. A billowing skirt of pale pink marquisette floats gracefully over a pink rayon taffeta petticoat. This also is available in pale blue with black in sizes from 9 to 15.

Met Chorus Walkout Ends; Singers to Go Back to Jobs Today

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—An intra-union dispute which resulted in a three day walkout by the Metropolitan Opera chorus was settled today and the members will return to work tomorrow, Joseph Brodsky, counsel for the chorus, announced.

Brodsky said the chorus' union, the Associated Actors and Artistes of America, had agreed to make two changes in the basic contract negotiated with the Opera association by the American Guild of Musical Artists [AFL], an affiliate. The A. A. A. A., Brodsky said, also agreed to reinstate a member of the chorus suspended by the A. G. M. A.

Thru the Looking Glass

We're not supposed to look backward, but a backward glance in the mirror can give a woman a lot of helpful tips. We get so used to looking at the forward picture we're apt to forget that our public sees us going as well as coming and last impressions are as important as first.

How does the back of your head look? Straggly curls, straying ends, and tangled tresses aren't very pretty and ruin the contour of the head. If you're one of those overly quick women who take time only to whisk a comb thru the front of the hair, remember there's a back to your head and give it its proper share of attention. Others see it even if you don't.

Make sure the shoulders and backs of dresses and coats are well brushed. Lint and hair cling to them and can make you look like a careless person seen rear view. And when you're checking shoulders and back, look to see that garments are clean across the back and not darkened by grease and soil. You don't spill things on that area, but they do collect their own kind of dirt. Give a good look at the hipline and see that garments are smooth and neat and watch out for sprung skirts and sagging hemlines.

And how about the seams of stockings? Crooked seams spoil the line of the legs and look downright frumpy. Finally, take a long glance at the heels of the shoes. If they're run down or turning over at the sides, whisk them off to the repair shop immediately.

Use your full length mirror to good advantage and before considering your toilet complete, take an all around view and make sure you're as neat as a pin.

Women Wear Best Bonnets to See Movies—of Bonnets

BY JUDITH CASS

THE subject of hats, ever a consuming one to women and one which has become an engrossing controversy to their masculine companions, is dealt with cleverly in an amusing "Soliloquy on Hats" by Miss Lucy Miller in the latest Chicago Junior league Topics, a monthly bulletin of which she is editor. Many who chuckled over Miss Miller's pseudo-psychoanalytical diagnosis of the effect of today's headgear on women's lives had it in mind when they gathered in the Gold Coast room of the Drake yesterday afternoon for another chuckle over some "Mad Hatters" movies shown at a cocktail party given by Benjamin Benedict Green-Field.

Naturally every one wore her own most charming [in her own opinion] or perhaps "maddest" [in the opinion of others] hat to bolster up her self-esteem. The pretty little hat combining feather flowers in soft autumn tones on a taupe base, worn by Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams III., a former president of the league, could be classified as conservatively crazy, but the "gin rummy" hat, displaying a perfect hand of cards in that popular game, set upon a black base, was definitely in the "mad" category. It was worn by Mrs. John L. Irving, another league member, with a simple black frock and a dashing coat of leopard skins.

Mrs. Columbus Healy, who will leave for Palm Springs, Cal., next week with her husband for a period of homeless adventuring, wore a hat of black felt cut in geometric designs and studded with gold nail heads. Mrs. Adams Jr., Mrs. Farwell Winston and her daughter, Mrs. Carlton Ellis; Mrs. A. K. Selz and her daughters, Mrs. Frank Mayer and Mrs. Philip D. Block Jr.; Mrs. Philip D. Armour Jr., in a hat that was a brim of black trimmed with a black bow; Mrs. Henry Stanton, Mrs. Kimball Salisbury, Mrs. Howard Ellis, Mrs. Louis Eckstein, Mrs. Morris McCormick, Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, whose black beanie was surmounted by gold leather birds in flight; Miss Frances Whedon, and Mrs. Freeman Hinckley were among the many who gathered for the movies.

Other Gala Parties

The prettiest hat at a party given by the board of governors of the Chicago Opera company yesterday in the Ambassador East hotel was a pearl gray off the face one trimmed with a huge black faille bow, worn by Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, who spent many minutes conversing with Stella Roman of the opera company. Mrs. Clyde M. Carr was among those who arrived early to meet the prima donnas and masculine stars of the opera season. Mrs. Allan M. Clement left the gathering early as her husband, a noted amateur chef and nimrod, required her cheering presence while he prepared wild ducks for a dinner party of 16.

Margery Mayer, in a free swinging coat of beaver; Gertrude Ribla, Ezio Pinza, Virgilio Lazzari, John Brownlee, Bruno Walter and his daughter, Miss Lottie Walter, in a blue feather powderpuff hat; the Thomas Fishers [Ruth Page], Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, the Fred A. Poors, and Fritz Ernst were others who

Bishop Tells of Missionary Need in Orient

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS

Missionaries do not convert nations to Christianity but prepare the way for native leadership to develop Christian civilizations, Presiding Bishop Henry St. George Tucker of New York, head of the American Episcopal church, told 600 Episcopal leaders of Chicago yesterday noon at a meeting in the La Salle hotel.

Bishop Tucker explained that this procedure is particularly true in the orient; that during the last century Christian churches had built up institutions in China for the Chinese themselves to take over. The war, however, has destroyed most of those institutions and they must be rebuilt if China is to become Christian, he said.

The prelate emphasized the coming destiny of China as "a great world power." Asked what kind of a nation it would become—a Christian democracy or communistic, he said, "China no longer can be regarded as a football to be kicked about."

Bishop Tucker spent many years in the orient, particularly in Japan. The Episcopal church has no present plans for Japan, however, due to restrictive religious legislation there before that nation's fall, he said.

The importance of Christian leadership, now welcomed by the Japanese, was geared by the bishop to Gen. MacArthur's statement that reconstruction must be "of the spirit." Two of the church's most important institutions in Tokyo, St. Paul's university and St. Luke's hospital, came thru the bombings virtually unscathed, he said.

America's treatment of Negroes and other minority groups, Bishop Tucker said, will have immense influence on the orient. He explained that in the 16th century there were more Christians in Japan than there are now.

Those Persians Certainly Cut Neat Rug, Too

BY RITA FITZPATRICK

The Persians, besides being famous rug makers, must also have been able to cut a few in their day. At least that is the indication in the Chicago Natural History [Field] museum where an ancient Persian collection will go on exhibit today.

The Persian lassie of 3,200 years ago was as "hep to the jive" as her bobby-sock sister of today. Indeed, she thought up the charm bracelet long before our frivolous, young frails. The currently popular bangle bracelet loaded down with miniature animals, bells, whistles, hearts, etc., had nothing on the costume jewelry worn by the little Persian pet.

She, too, collected charms and strung them together to jiggle and jangle delightfully around her neck and wrists. Her bangles were made of carved bone, stone, and bronze and were shaped in whimsical, tiny replicas of horses, dogs, ibexes, human hands and feet, water pitchers, implements, human figures, birds, and strange symbols known only to her.

At the time of Moses and the Exodus, she was attracting attention also with a bracelet that tinkled, as slap-happy an article as they are dreaming up today. If she was wealthy, her bracelet was made of iron which was much more valuable than gold at that time. Little bronze rings on the bracelet announced every movement of her wrist.

There are no records to explain the significance these bracelets may have had among the ancient Persians, Richard A. Martin, curator of Near Eastern archaeology at the museum, who prepared the exhibit, explained yesterday. You may be sure, however, that they served the same purpose as the bangle bracelets worn by our young "pigeons"—to attract the masculine eye.

In other words, the ancient Persians seemed to be a people not unlike ourselves. For that matter, they had the jump on us in several things. One article, which was better than any of ours, was a wine glass with a conical base that could not be laid down until it was empty!

Meringue Shells with Ice Cream and Raspberries

Delicately tinted meringue shells filled with vanilla ice cream and frozen raspberries are a dessert treat particularly appropriate for afternoon tea or bridge parties. To make meringues:

Beat 2 egg whites until foamy, sprinkle with ⅛ teaspoon salt, and continue beating until stiff but not dry. Sift ½ cup sugar and ½ teaspoon cream of tartar together and add in small portions [one tablespoon at a time at first], beating after each addition. Continue beating until meringue stands in peaks. Then add few drops green coloring and blend. Cover a baking sheet with heavy brown paper or waxed paper and shape meringue into nests by dropping large spoonfuls of meringue onto the paper, then hollowing the centers slightly with the bowl of the spoon. Bake in a 275 degree oven until delicately browned, about 1 hour. Remove from paper with a spatula while still warm. Cool and fill each meringue with a scoop of ice cream and top with sweetened frozen berries. Makes six large meringues.

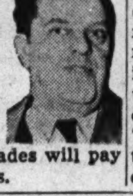
THE QUESTION

Do you think a child should be rewarded for a good report card?

WHERE ASKED

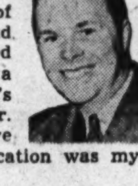
Belmont-Sheffield Bank building, 1005 Belmont av.

THE ANSWERS



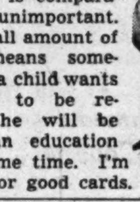
Emmett Robert Gaderer, bank executive, 424 Diversey pkwy.—Praise is the only reward that a child should have for a good report card. I am strongly opposed to paying a child a certain amount of money for each high mark he receives on a report card. He should be taught that good grades will pay dividends in later years.

Dorothy Johnston, beauty operator, 3741 Broadway—Children are sent to school for a purpose: to get an education. A good report card should be taken for granted. The reward a child receives for a good report is a better education. That, with encouragement, is all that any child should need.



Anthony Galambos, bank executive, 424 Diversey pkwy.—I have no children, but I'll go back to my childhood days and tell you of my reward. The bad report cards resulted in a spanking and a trip to the teacher's office with my mother. That made me believe that getting an education was my duty.

Mrs. Pearl Zalesin, assistant chief clerk, 4619 N. Lawndale av.—Reward for a good report card is encouraging, to younger children especially. Many of them can do the work, but can't understand what they have to gain. With a small incentive, perhaps money for each high mark, they'll put forth extra effort.



Mrs. Nellie Dalton, chief clerk, 6224 N. Albany av.—To many children of school age, an education is comparatively unimportant. But a small amount of money means something. If a child wants to study to be rewarded, he will be getting an education at the same time. I'm in favor of rewards for good cards.

Lange Devotes Chicago Symphony Concert to Good Playing of Rarely Heard Music

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Hans Lange, conductor. Presented in orchestra hall Thursday evening, Nov. 15, 1945, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:

Overture, "The Lovely Melusina"............................ Mendelssohn
Symphony No. 4, G major.........Dvorak
Three Part Fantasia No. 1; Four Part Fantasia No. 2; Four Part Fantasia No. 3; Five Part Fantasia Upon One Note........................Purcell
Variations on a Theme by Mozart...Reger

I think if Hans Lange had the whole repertory to choose from—and, of course, as second in orchestral command he takes second choice—he still would devote much of his time to the unusual in music. Any one who has frequented his concerts knows that while he made his first Ravinia success with such basic fare as the four symphonies of Brahms, it gives him deep pleasure to search out the new, investigate the rare, and refresh the unjustly neglected in music. When the Chicago Symphony orchestra plays for him as it played last night, the audience shares that pleasure.

It was not an exciting concert. No sparks flew, no bravos erupted, no kid gloves split in wild applause. But it was an evening devoted to sensitive performance of music worth hearing, tho most of it you rarely get a chance to hear. The Mendelssohn and Reger have not been played in Orchestra hall in years, the Dvorák Fourth Symphony is known to us only at Ravinia, and Purcell's four fantasias for a nucleus of strings amounted to a novelty, for all the fact that they honored the 250th anniversary of the composer's death. They exist because Peter Warlock and André Mangeot dug them out of the British museum and they constitute chamber music of that exquisite fragility which is so paradoxically indestructible. Played by about a dozen of our best strings, they were poignant reminder of what musical wealth we lost when the Saidenberg Symphonietta disbanded. Not often is a full symphony orchestra whittled down to that tenuously lovely tone.

Perhaps the rest of the orchestra minded being stranded around that oasis of tone, and so conjured its own magic for Mendelssohn's "The Lovely Melusina," that murmurous tale of a mermaid, so grateful for delicacy in liquid performance. Dvorák's G major symphony is not so simply solved. It is so full of so many things. It fairly spills those enchanting Bohemian melodies, it has highly engaging rhythms, particularly in the scherzo, and there is an interlude for solo violin that made you remember John Weicher's Czech ancestors. But on the whole it is an uneven work that leaves the listener charmed, tho unconvinced.

Writing variations on Mozart, unless you are Beethoven tackling "La ci darem la mano," is a ticklish job, because no matter what you do, it isn't as good as Mozart. So Reger's variations on a theme drawn from the piano sonata in A major are at their best when winds and strings state that limpid theme. They dry up a bit as they go along, but their journey is a pleasant orchestral trip and it was smoothly traveled, with some of the season's cleanest playing in the development of the fugue, tho its fortissimo finale lacked a satisfying sense of completion in climax.

A Hit at Last

Judging by the reviews, the first smash hit of the hitherto limping New York season is "State of the Union," the new comedy about politics by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, who turned "Life with Father" into an American classic. Acting as chairman of the New York Times delegation, Lewis Nichols cast "24 votes for Lindsay and Crouse." All right, Leland Hayward, how about that Chicago company?

Prokofieff Report

W. G. Rogers' AP report on Prokofieff's Fifth symphony, which Serge Koussevitzky and the Boston orchestra introduced to New York night before last and will play here Dec. 7: "The new Prokofieff work got off to a good start. The first movement revealed surges of deep feeling and bloomed out richly; there were some gripping effects, particularly furry bass sounds set against cymbals. But the promise of the opening was not fulfilled; instead of evolving, the music turned into a series of devices, entertaining and catchy, but empty." Mr. Koussevitzky's own opinion of the work is considerably more flattering.

Leopard Skin Used Smartly on Gray Coats

BY REA SEEGER

Leopard skin, long contrasted effectively with brown and black winter coats, looks entirely different and even more dramatic with steel gray. In a superb collection of newly unpacked winter coats you'll see this intriguing combination worked in a good half dozen different themes. There are fitted coats with small waistline that have deep, almost hip length capes of leopard skin, the fur beautifully marked with very dark spots against what is an unusually tawny shade of golden fur. The dashing cape is detachable and can be worn with other dresses, suits, or coats.

Another gray coat has high collar and cuffs of the same distinctive fur matched with a girdle belt of leopard skin. All coats are simply made of the finest wool fabrics and of this particularly handsome dark gray tone. Clever small, tho high hats and hoods of the same meticulously matched fur make complete costumes of sensational beauty. After so many contrasts of vivid green, red, bright blue, brown, copper, gold, and black coats with leopard skin this gray shade is amazingly effective.

If the collared and cuffed coats or those with the simple shoulder capes, short or long, or with the new rounded shoulders, don't click, check the stunning gray coat with the three tiered cape as a final recommendation. However, the entire collection is worth the shoppers' excitement. These unquestionably are the most individual winter grays of this or any other season.

It's a wise idea to begin Thanksgiving menu planning this week-end so that much of the food can be purchased and prepared well in advance of the holiday. Most of us will be cooking turkeys this year, for they're plentiful. However, duck, goose, chicken, or a good beef roast will adorn many festive tables.

Whichever you choose, remember dinner needn't be an elaborate, expensive affair to be successful, but should be a well balanced, perfectly cooked meal. The menu printed here will give you a few suggestions for your own gala feast:

THANKSGIVING MENU
Grape Juice-Ginger Ale Cocktail
Roast Turkey — Savory Stuffing
Giblet Gravy
Sweet Potatoes with Pineapple
Buttered Green Beans
Cranberry Relish — Cloverleaf Rolls
Salad of Chopped Cabbage, Celery, Green Pepper, Radishes, French Dressing
Date Pudding with Whipped Cream
Coffee

Roast Turkey

Choose a plump young turkey. Allow a pound or more, dressed weight, per serving. Rub inside of cleaned fowl with salt. Stuff and truss. Brush well with fat and place on a rack in an open roaster and roast, uncovered, at 300 degrees, keeping the skin well oiled by frequent bastings. Average roasting time is 20 minutes to the pound.

Savory Stuffing

[For 12 pound fowl]

3 quarts cubed bread, lightly toasted
½ cup melted margarine
¼ cup melted bacon drippings
1 onion, finely chopped
1 cup celery tops, chopped
¼ cup chopped parsley
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
3 eggs, beaten
Broth to moisten

Combine ingredients, adding broth from cooking giblets. Add the broth gradually and toss ingredients together lightly. Do not allow the dressing to become wet. It will absorb more moisture from the roasting turkey.

Sweet Potatoes with Pineapple

For each 2 cups hot whipped sweet potatoes, use ⅜ cup diced canned pineapple. Drain pineapple on absorbent paper, and then brown lightly on all sides in hot butter. Fold the browned cubes into the hot sweet potato and serve at once.

Cranberry Relish

Wash 1 pound of cranberries and run them thru a food grinder with 1 orange, pulp and rind. Mix with ¼ teaspoon salt and 1 cup sugar or strained honey.

Date Pudding with Whipped Cream

½ pound dates cut finely
1 cup boiling water
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon butter
1 egg
½ cup nuts
½ pound dates cut finely
½ cup sugar
½ cup nuts
⅜ cup boiling water

Pour the boiling water over the ½ pound dates and add the soda. Let this mixture stand while mixing the second group of ingredients. Sift the flour and add the sugar and baking powder. Then mix in the date sauce and add the beaten egg, butter, and ½ cup nuts. Blend and pour the mixture into a greased pan. Spread thinly and bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 minutes. When baked, spread over the top the date-nut sauce made by combining the last four ingredients in the recipe. Let them stand together while the cake is baking. The topping will remain moist and keep the cake moist.

Pineapple Marshmallow Puffs

½ pound marshmallows
½ cup crushed pineapple, drained
1 cup cream, whipped
½ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup vanilla wafer crumbs
Maraschino cherries or pecan halves

Cut marshmallows into small pieces and add to pineapple; let stand ½ hour in refrigerator. Fold mixture into whipped cream and nuts. Chill until mixture begins to set [about one hour]. Place crumbs on wax paper and divide mixture into 8 portions and roll lightly in crumbs. Top with maraschino cherries or pecan halves. Return to refrigerator until serving time. Serves eight.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Bowed Legs And Knock-Knees Often A Needless Defect

Doctors report that many a child with ugly bowed legs or knock-knees might have grown up straight and shapely on a diet adequate in the bone-building minerals and Vitamin D.

Lack of calcium, for instance, in the earliest years may do irreparable damage—but in any case, calcium is so vital a factor that no child brought up on a consistently deficient calcium intake, can have much chance for strong bones and sound teeth.

That's one reason doctors talk so much about milk for growing children. Milk is our best food source of calcium. Do your children get enough milk...at least a quart every day? Many children just don't like to take that much every day! That's why Cocomalt in milk is so helpful.

Cocomalt* is so rich in calcium, it makes 3 glasses of milk equal to a whole quart in calcium value! (Also this supplies the day's full minimum requirements for iron, phosphorus, Vitamin B_1 and D.) And Cocomalt's delicious chocolaty flavor makes children love their milk.

Start your children on Cocomalt today. Save this as a reminder.

*3 heaping tsps. to 8-oz. glass of milk.

Women Wear Best Bonnets to Hat Party

gathered to say farewell to the opera company.

Here and There

While Chicago still is buzzing with the aftermath of Adm. Halsey's week-end visit here, a little circle of the John Jay Bryants' close friends is recalling a pleasant and informal hour spent Sunday with the admiral in the Bryants' apartment. Mrs. Bryant, who grew up with Mrs. Halsey in Richmond, Va., dropped a note to the admiral when she heard he would be in Chicago for two days, but it was not until 3:20 p. m. Sunday that his staff notified the Bryants that a short visit with them could be worked into the admiral's schedule.

Adm. Halsey arrived at 4 p. m. and stayed for an hour with the Bryants, accompanied by Mayor Kelly, Adm. and Mrs. Arthur S. Carpender, and Adm. Halsey's staff, which includes 28 year old Capt. Horace Moulton, youngest captain in the navy. Among the few who were invited to meet the entourage were the Bruce Borlands, the William Borlands, the Chauncey McCormicks, Col. and Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, George Dewey, Charles Ridgeley, Miss Pauline Palmer and her fiancé, Lt. Col. Arthur MacDougall Wood, Mrs. Robert J. Dunham, and the Thomas Millers.

The Bryants' daughter, Mrs. William Borland, and her husband and daughter will move from 1200 Lake Shore dr. to the house they have purchased in Lake Forest soon after the first of the year.

Wedding News

Invitations to the marriage next Wednesday of Miss Florence Donnersberger, youngest of Mr. and Mrs. George Donnersbergers' six daughters, and Corp. William Bowman Bangs III. of the army, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bangs Jr. of Highland Park, are being issued by telephone instead of more formally, as the wedding date was set quickly when Corp. Bangs arrived from duty overseas. The ceremony will take place at noon in St. Patrick's church, West Lake Forest, with a breakfast following in the Exmoor Country club.

Today's Events

One of the gayest late afternoon gathering places today will be the Casino club, where the South Shore service league of the Chicago Maternity center will give a jubilee fashion show, tea, and cocktail party to raise money for the center, which is celebrating its 50th anniversary. Present day fashions will be introduced by a group of costumes which were high style 50 years ago. Mrs. Otto L. Mast is general chairman of the benefit, and Mrs. Joseph J. Cavanagh heads the group.

The Cliff Dwellers "Phoolharmonic" orchestra, "in a breathtaking interpretation of the concerto for viola rampant and nonconductor," will play for the Cliff Dwellers' annual harvest home party tonight, according to invitations members received. The party will start around the punch bowl at 6 p. m.

Parent Teacher Society to Hear Biblical Student

The Chicago Parental school parent teacher association will have a program meeting at 1:30 p. m. today in the school. Howard W. Ellis, a student at the Garrett Biblical institute in Evanston, will give a talk on the Lord's Prayer, illustrating his lecture with chalk work and cloth mosaic. Music is to be furnished by Mrs. Edward E. Pritchett.

Novel Chair Set

BY ELLEN BRUCE

A lovely and unusual crocheted chair set is the fan shaped group created in the attractive pineapple design. They are effective either in white or ecru mercerized crochet cotton.

For instructions in crocheting the pineapple chair set, No. 1171, send 15 CENTS in coin [wrap coin securely] to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

Loyola Formal Dance

Loyola university chapter of Alpha Delta Gamma fraternity will sponsor the university's first strictly formal dance since the war tonight in the Furniture Mart.

Two Day Convention of Home Economics Group Opens Today

The Illinois Home Economics association today will convene in the Edgewater Beach hotel for its annual two day meeting. Dr. Lydia Roberts of the University of Chicago is scheduled to speak on "Post-War Nutrition" at the dinner session tonight. Other speakers and their subjects will be: Mrs. Dora Lewis of Hunter college, "Post-War Housing;" D. Elmo Holman of Northwestern university, "Importance of Price Control to the Consumer," and Lita Bane of the University of Illinois, "Problems of Post-War Home Economics." The association is headed by Miss Mary Chase of the University of Illinois, who will preside thruout the meeting.

Lake View High to Honor Retiring Military Teacher

The annual open house and reception for parents of Lake View High school at 8 o'clock tonight in the school, will bring as speaker Andy Lotshaw, trainer of the Chicago Cubs and Chicago Bears teams. Mr. Lotshaw's topic will be "Sports and the American Youth." Special tribute will be paid Sgt. Alfred D. Lee, who is retiring after serving the school as military instructor for 22 years. The school's reserve officers training corps has won an honor rating each of the 22 years, with one exception, under Sgt. Lee's leadership.

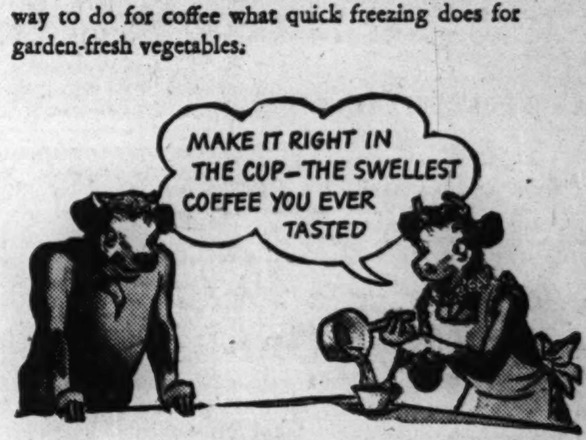
"Look, Folks! Elsie's just had a New Baby!"

1 Step right up, ladies and gentlemen, and take a peek! Here's a new addition to the famous Borden family you're going to see lots of from now on—Borden's Instantly Prepared 100% Pure Coffee!

It's a blessed event for every family that loves good coffee—because Borden's have now discovered a way to do for coffee what quick freezing does for garden-fresh vegetables.



2 We take fine coffees, roast them, grind them and brew them right away. Then, while that steaming coffee is at its fragrant flavor peak—zing!—we take the water out and lock all that freshness in!

3 And it's so quick and easy to make. No waiting for coffee to perk or drip—no pot to wash—no grounds. Just drop a level teaspoonful in a cup and add hot water—the roaster-fresh flavor comes right out!

Important: read the labels before you buy instant coffee!

There are two completely different types of instant coffee. One is the "cafe" type, sometimes labelled coffee "product." It is a mixture of coffee and other ingredients, such as dextrins, maltose and dextrose.

The other type—represented by Borden's—is 100% pure coffee, nothing else is added.

These two types of instant coffee cost about the same per cup on your table, (regardless of difference in size of jar or price at the store).

In taste, however, there is a difference. To find out which type you prefer, we suggest you try both.

With the Thanksgiving Pumpkin or Mince Pie

be sure there's Shefford Cheese

With Pumpkin Pie—Shefford American for its fine, natural flavor—the flavor of real cheddar cheese.

With Mince Pie—Snappy* Brand Cheese, another cheddar type, but with a little more nip, because it's longer-aged. Snappy Cheese is a gourmet's favorite—and the first of all packaged cheeses.

Or if you prefer it on the milder side, use Shefford Chevelle* Brand Cheese food.

Three of the 19 Shefford types and flavors

Yes, there's Shefford Cheese in the stores around town to provide a generous slice for every slab of pie you serve at your house. And doesn't that pie taste lots better when it's set off by the fine flavor of Shefford? Put Shefford—for sure—on your shopping list this week end. Made from good milk, with the skill that comes from forty-odd years of fine cheese making.

East	South	West	North
1 spade	Double	Pass	2 clubs
Pass	2 hearts	Pass	2 spades
Pass	4 clubs	Pass	4 hearts
Pass	6 clubs	Pass	Pass

In contract bridge we strive to permit each bid to have a meaning of its own, but there are many hands in which an inevitable ambiguity arises. This is apt to be the case when, at a particular time, you may be uncertain as to your destination and you may find it expedient to bide your time until further information is obtained. The ambiguous bid is therefore made, with the complete assurance that partner will speak again, and thus afford you an opportunity to clarify your previous call.

To illustrate, a bid in the opponents' suit [a cue bid] normally denotes that you can win the first trick in their suit, and what is more important, that you are interested in a slam. Where, however, by your previous bidding you have denied holding a powerful hand, your cue bid should be taken with a grain of salt, and may be an effort to induce partner to contract for no trump.

In today's hand, South doubled the opening bid of one spade and North elected to respond with two clubs. This is not technically correct. A bid of three clubs would have been proper, but North chose not to crowd the bidding and elected to run the risk that partner would not bid again. South, rather than raise the clubs, decided to show his heart suit and North's hand now assumed even greater proportions. His bid of two spades is very fine. If South wishes to bid no trump, this enables him to do so. If he chooses to move toward slam, North would surely welcome such action. Furthermore, the cue bid at this point is not very drastic, inasmuch as he has previously bid only two clubs in response to the double and has therefore limited his hand. South's jump in clubs requires no comment, and when North showed the heart support it was not very difficult to contract for slam.

It will be noted that six hearts could have been made just as easily but South felt that it might be somewhat safer in clubs and chose to give up the few additional points that the major suit would yield.

[The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.]

Fire Stations Will Collect Overseas Food

Beginning Monday, the 142 fire stations of the city will be the receiving centers for donations of canned foods for overseas relief, it was announced yesterday by Fire Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan and Mrs. Walter H. Hermsdorf, chairman of the local committee for the food collection. Boy Scouts will help in the drive, which is to be completed, if possible, by the end of the month. Women's organizations, church societies, and civic groups all are represented on the committee promoting the campaign in behalf of the united nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

The food should be packed in cartons of 24 cans each, sealed and addressed to Carl E. Ganzenmuller, Victory Collection of Canned Foods, 100 Maiden lane, New York City. Each carton should be labeled with name and address of donor. Donors wishing to give less than 24 cans are asked to combine their donations with other persons to complete a carton.

The collection is meant to supplement the basic diet which the UNRRA is attempting to provide for peoples of war torn countries, Mrs. Hermsdorf said. There is a need for all types of commercially canned food, including baby food, vegetables, fruits, soup, fish, and meats. Because of breakage risks, food in glass containers is not acceptable.

Reports from organizations participating in the collection will be heard at a meeting of Mrs. Hermsdorf's coöperating committee at 2 p. m. Monday in the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs quarters. To date more than 10,000 cans have been pledged.

PTA Board Favors U. S. Aid for School Lunches

The board of managers of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers voted yesterday to support federal legislation providing for government appropriations for school lunches and to continue the organization's backing of legislation favoring federal support of education. Action was taken at the closing sessions of a two day board meeting. The executive group also went on record as favoring the principles of proposed legislation to provide for full employment. Mrs. Milton Wiener of Chicago was named secretary of the congress to succeed Mrs. P. E. Peterman of Downers Grove, who has been appointed vice president in charge of the department of health and home service.

Stars of Radio Take Leading Roles in Film

"RADIO STARS ON PARADE"

By Mae Tinée

Frances Langford singing some of her most popular numbers with her customary smoothness, Skinnay Ennis chiming in with a bit of warbling and leading his band, and Ralph Edwards torturing the customers in the usual comic "Truth or Consequences" fashion are the prominent features of this film. They're strung together with a weak little plot about two comedians who get into a talent agent's office and take over. The two funny men and, incidentally, Frances, are being pursued by a gangster and his henchmen, and the result is a pretty pallid offering, laced with bits of very simple humor. The music isn't bad.

The Palace also offers "The House I Live in," a short in which Frank Sinatra earnestly pleads with a group of little boys who are imitating the nazis. Since children are not born with prejudices, perhaps this is a move in the right direction and will help to offset the intolerance which youngsters generally learn from unthinking adults. The appeal is humbly made, and certainly Mr. Sinatra's motives are admirable.

All profits derived from the release of the feature will be donated to organizations working on the problems of juvenile delinquency.

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 15—Dorothy Jones has taken her fourth test for the Ruby Keeler role in "The Life of Al Jolson." The last test was with Larry Parks. Everybody at the studio thinks she—and not Evelyn Keyes—will get the part. . . . When Ben Hecht finishes "The Specter of the Rose" at Republic, he will take off for his home in Nyack, N. Y., to write "The Child of the Century." Ben expects it will take him nine months. . . . Now its Bill Powell's and Freddie March's names that are being bandied about for father in "Life with Father."

It's About Time to Stop Shoving!

It was reported that a motion picture story was being submitted to Lew Ayres for his approval, but Lew doesn't know anything about it. In checking, I find the story was planted in order to influence Lew. When we have to go out of our way to get a line of publicity at his expense, it's about time Hollywood changed its tactics. Suppose we let Lew Ayres make up his own mind. He's done too fine a job to have any one else try to make it up for him. . . . Ben Bogeaus is heading for New York with a print of "Diary of a Chambermaid" under his arm. He's going to let Paulette Goddard and Buzz Meredith have a look-see. . . . Arthur Treacher is off to Chicago for the Victory bond drive and a guest shot on "Those Brewsters." . . . Rita Hayworth has postponed her New York trip until after the holidays even tho "Gilda" will be finished. She wants to be here for Rebecca's second Christmas. . . . Jane Withers and John Dall took up in New York where they left off out here.

Vocation in Mexico

Most Hollywood producers have talked about making a picture in Mexico, but John Steinbeck is the only one I know who really is doing it. And I'll bet he'll turn out a honey of a picture in "The Pearl of Lapaz." Berny Byrens is en route to Mexico now to discuss "Cannery Row" with Steinbeck, which Byrens will produce. I have nothing more to go on than a hunch, but I believe when it's made John Garfield will be the star. . . . On his way back from Mexico, Byrens will stop off in Texas to go thru the archives of the state university and get some "hysterical" background on the life of the "American Emperor" Peralta, which he'll put on the screen. Peralta put over one of the greatest hoaxes in history. He had forged documents from Spain and Mexico giving him grants to 12 million acres. There were law suits over it for years, but the man who wrote his biography proved the whole thing was a forgery. He found documents supposedly signed sometime in the 1700's on paper that wasn't manufactured until the 1800's. Sounds like it should be a pretty exciting story, doesn't it?

Home and a Job for Basil

After 4½ years of war service, Basil Walker is out of uniform and ready for another acting job. You may remember him as the one bright spot in "Cadet Girls." . . . Bob Alden, just out of the service, plays Tommy Mitchell as a young man in "Three Wise Fools." . . . Claudia Dell, Ziegfeld beauty, married Phillip George Offin when she was 16. That marriage was annulled. And now, on Dec. 5 in New York City, they'll remarry. Claudia said, "I've got sense enough now to live happily ever after." . . . Ed Gardner gets "Murder at Duffy's Tavern" before the cameras around Jan. 1. He says there'll be as many gags as murders, but in Duffy's language they're both the same. . . . The head parking boy at Ciro's restaurant estimates the amount of swank inside by counting the cylinders in the cars he's parked and dividing by 16. By the time the patrons come out, he's the only one who can still count.

Mother of Two Seeks Clothing and Furnishings

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

A north side agency is interested in aiding Mrs. I., widowed mother of two children, who has been thrown out of work because of reconversion in the plant where she was employed. At first she found it necessary to visit with friends, but recently located a small, unheated apartment, and is urgently in need of a heating stove, gas stove, living room furniture, blankets, and mattresses for a double bed and a crib, to augment the few household items she now has.

Mr. L., a discharged veteran, living with relatives on the west side, hopes a reader will be able to assist him in continuing his musical education, begun several years ago, by supplying him with a discarded upright piano in good condition. An offer in the general vicinity can be called for most economically.

Mrs. H. is the wife of an army man overseas, and the mother of two children, five years old and three months. She is handy at sewing. Making clothing for the children and herself would ease the financial strain of spreading the family allowance to meet all living costs. Perhaps a sewing machine can be located for her in the home of a south side reader. Transportation can be arranged.

The Language Heaver

He sat down near me at a football game
And made me feel quite sorry that I came
Because this Solomon kept telling me
Just what the next maneuver ought to be;
It seems he played in Podunk way back when
They used the flying wedge and men were men;
He said he liked the sound of grinding bone
And couldn't understand why men should moan
Because they tore a ligament or two
For he had often played a whole game thru
With broken arm or dislocated thigh
And never uttered so much as a sigh.
At players of the present day he scoffed
Declaring they were all creampuffy soft;
Why, in the old days men were hard as yeggs
And in the games they'd break off arms and legs
By falling on them. Only men with spine
Could ever make the back field or the line.
A gentle sprinkle started from the sky
And this tough yeggman stood up and said, "My,
I'll have to leave before I catch a cold,
If I should start to sneeze my wife would scold!"
So he, who had been breaking bones galore,
Departed from the stadium before
The game was half-way over. What a chap!
And what a language heaving, lying sap!

KEESHIN TURNS OVER CHECK TO TRIBUNE FUND

Arch Ward Honored by Testimonial

BY EDWARD PRELL

The week of racing for the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., at Sportsman's Park, Nov. 5 thru 10, netted $235,000.

A check for this sum was presented last night by John L. Keeshin, president of the National Jockey club which operates Sportsman's Park, to Arch Ward, sports editor of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

The presentation came as a climax to a testimonial dinner held by Keeshin in honor of THE TRIBUNE'S sports editor in the Blackstone hotel. In attendance were leaders of sports, civic, and political strata of Chicago.

This check made a grand total of $696,587.72 contributed to The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., since 1942 by Sportsman's Park.

After presenting the 1945 check for $235,000, Keeshin said that Sportsman's Park, since 1942, has distributed a total of $1,467,701.24 in the track's charity racing program.

Presents Trophy to Ward

"I have been waiting almost four years," Keeshin said, "for this opportunity to pay a tribute to Arch Ward for his vast contribution, thru his charity racing program, to the people of Chicago and Illinois.

"I want to express my honor and respect to a great citizen of Chicago—a representative of the people of every denomination. It was he who started the College All-Star football game, a great charitable institution. I feel proud of our little part in the vast program which has meant so much to the underprivileged people of the city and the state. On behalf of the poor people of this community I want to present a trophy to the king of American sports writers."

Then Keeshin made this pledge: "Sportsman's Park, as long as I am president, will operate one week each year for The Chicago Tribune Charities."

Not a One Man Project

Keeshin introduced George F. Barrett, attorney general of Illinois and praised him for his coöperation in making possible the extension of the racing season to include the charity program.

In accepting the trophy, Ward disclaimed any credit for the far-flung benefits of his charity racing program.

"For 30 years," he said, "I have been working with words. Now when I want them most they fail me.

"Don't congratulate me. I insist that all the credit belongs to Jack Keeshin and the others without whose consideration there could have been no week of charity racing."

Maj. Ednyfed Williams, chairman of the Illinois Racing board, expressed his appreciation.

"Up to the present, the sport of horse racing has contributed more than $3,500,000 to charities," he said. "I want to thank the public for its confidence in racing which has made these grand contributions possible."

IT'S WIN, PLACE, AND SHOW FOR TRIBUNE CHARITIES

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Coming from behind and scoring four straight goals, the Detroit Red Wings whipped the Chicago Blackhawks, 5 to 2, in a National Hockey league game here tonight before 13,537.

The victory gave Detroit a second place deadlock with Chicago, which has won only one regular season game on Detroit ice in 25 appearances since the 1939-'40 season. The teams will meet again in Chicago Stadium Sunday night.

Ninth Goal for Max Bentley

The Red Wings scored first on Ted Lindsay's first goal of the season early in the first period but the Hawks squared it two minutes later on Red Hamill's 15 foot shot over Goalie Harry Lumley's shoulder. Chicago went ahead, 2 to 1, midway in the period when Max Bentley, assisted by brother Doug, scored his ninth goal of the year on an eight foot drive from right wing.

Joe Carveth, Detroit center, made it 2-all before the first period ended and Adam Brown, back in action for the first time in a week after an injury, broke into the clear at the 11:10 mark of the second period, kicked Carveth's pass onto his own stick and beat Goalie Mike Karakas from point blank range to give Detroit a 3 to 2 lead it never relinquished.

Bruneteaus Take Scoring Turns

Mud Bruneteau scored on an unassisted effort as the final period opened and Eddie Bruneteau turned it into a rout by scoring off Adam Brown's rebound with nine minutes to play.

Chicago, with Don Grosso out of the lineup because of a shoulder injury, played with only eight spares, one short of the maximum permitted under the rules.

CANADIENS TAKE LEAD

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 15 (AP)—The Montreal Canadiens rallied around Goalie Bill Durnan to shut out the New York Rangers, 2 to 0, before 11,429 tonight and take sole possession of the National Hockey league leadership. Line-ups:

Warneke, Released by Cubs, Plans New Career as Umpire

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

Lon Warneke, who made all the important stops in the big leagues, including the turning out of a no hit game and who was a Cub so far back that even the perennial Stan Hack is his junior, now is among the unemployed, but at his own request.

Lon Warneke

The Arkansas squirrel hunter, who wasn't much more than a pensioner with Charley Grimm's group last season, has been given his unconditional release, the club's general manager, James T. Gallagher, reported yesterday.

The name of the 36 year old athlete went thru the waiver mill without a claim being filed for the arm that in three different seasons won 20 or more games, so he was turned loose to clear the road for his next step in baseball. He hopes to become an umpire and return to the majors as such after bits of prepping in minor circuits.

Warneke first appeared as a Cub in 1930, having been purchased from Alexandria, La., and going to the Reading team, a Cub farm at the time, after doing his 1930 training with the Cubs. In 1931, his first full season, he was used sparingly, winning only 2 games while losing 4, but he came into full bloom the next year. He won 22 and lost 6 in the Cubs' successful quest for the pennant.

In 1933 Warneke won 18 while losing 13, but in 1934 it was 22 and 10 and in 1935 it was 20 and 13. This was the year the Tigers were encountered in the world series which the Cubs didn't win, but Warneke captured two games. In the fall of 1936 after winning 16 games he was traded to the Cardinals for First Baseman Jimmy [Rip] Collins and Pitcher Leroy Parmelee. It was while a Cardinal that he pitched the no-hitter, Cincinnati being the victim by 2 to 0 on Aug. 30, 1941.

Warneke returned to the Cubs via waivers July 8, 1942, but the next year dropped out of baseball because of expectation that Uncle Sam would call him. Uncle Sam didn't want him so he slipped into a defense job, returning to the Cubs this year.

100,000 Seek Notre Dame, N. U. Tickets; 49,500 Get 'Em

BY WILFRID SMITH

All seats in Dyche stadium have been sold for more than a month for tomorrow's football engagement between Northwestern and Notre Dame, but according to Northwestern officials the fans refuse to believe it. The demand, so says Ted Payseur, director of athletics, for nonexistent accommodations rivals that Chicago experienced during the recent world baseball series.

Approximately 49,500 will attend tomorrow's game, the 25th in the series which has become the midwest's premier nonconference attraction. The ticket sale includes the bleachers on the ends of the gridiron and the corner bleachers.

Record Demand for Tickets

"The demand for tickets for this game is the greatest in all the time we have been at Northwestern," Payseur said yesterday between telephonic interruptions which invariably concerned tickets. Payseur for several years was Northwestern's ticket manager and thus has a thoro knowledge of that department beyond the experience of most directors.

"Northwestern could sell twice as many tickets. A crowd of 100,000 would attend if seats were available. Despite all efforts to protect legitimate last minute requests," Payseur continued, "the shelves are bare."

Returning GIs Put in Bids

"Our problems have been complicated by requests from returning service men and from Northwestern alumni whose sons unexpectedly have been discharged and who naturally didn't purchase tickets in advance. The Notre Dame-Northwestern game is priority for these men and, while we anticipated a demand, we had no way of knowing the number.

"From the beginning service men were given preference," Payseur said, "but there is a limit and that now has been reached. All we can say is we're sorry Dyche stadium doesn't seat 100,000."

Eager to See Irish

There is a greater demand in Chicago from Notre Dame adherents partly because the Irish played only three games at home this season and two of these, Dartmouth and Iowa, lacked appeal. Even so, more than 52,000 saw the Iowa-Notre Dame game.

Illinois played Notre Dame Sept. 29 and while that easily was the outstanding contest on the first half of the Irish schedule, the date was too early to attract a capacity crowd.

The Wildcats themselves have contributed to ticket problems, for Coach Lynn Waldorf has produced a most creditable team from a group of inexperienced youngsters. The Wildcats clearly are recognized as the most improved squad in the conference and while few believe they can whip the Irish, they anticipate seeing good football. Moreover, tomorrow is Northwestern's first appearance in Dyche stadium since the memorable upset of Purdue at homecoming.

McKinley to Start

While Bob McKinley, Wildcat left half back, has not engaged in any contact work this week, he still is slated to start tomorrow's game. McKinley suffered an ankle injury in the Purdue game and missed the Ohio State encounter the following week. He played against Wisconsin until he had to leave in the second half. Trainer Carl Erickson says McKinley will be ready for the kick-off.

Bob Skoglund, Notre Dame left end, will play his last game tomorrow as he has been ordered to California by the navy.

IRISH FINISH HARD WORK

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 15 [Special]—Notre Dame finished heavy duty drills today for its game against Northwestern in Evanston on Saturday, and Coach Hugh Devore said he would start the same 11 men who started the game against Army last Saturday.

The Irish engaged in a long dummy scrimmage against Northwestern plays this afternoon, and succeeded in stopping the Wildcats' aerial game, as played by the Hamburgers, but the Irish varsity did not look impressive against the Purple running plays.

Full Back Floyd Simmons, a new player, entered the picture today, and he is expected to see some action, probably on defense only, on Saturday.

Illini Elevate Freshmen; Fly to Ohio Today

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 15 [Special]—Two freshman half backs today won a plane trip to Columbus as they moved into the first string back field which will start for Illinois against Ohio State Saturday. Elevated to starting roles as the Illini tapered off a week of hard work with a light signal drill were Freshmen Jack Pierce of Pontiac, left half, and Tom Zaborac of Canton, right half.

Coach Ray Eliot, who is to fly to Columbus tomorrow noon with Illinois' starting eleven and eight reserves, said Pierce and Zaborac probably would start in place of Stan Stasica, Rockford, and Gene Kwasniewski, Evanston.

4 JOCKEYS FLY TO SPORTSMAN'S FROM OAKLAWN

Hot Springs, Ark., Nov. 15 (AP)—A reported shortage of jockeys at Sportsman's Park near Chicago has caused four riders to be rushed from Oaklawn Park here to the Chicago track for the last two days of the meeting.

Responding to the hurry-up call were A. Clutter, R. Camp, C. L. Kirby, and D. Loop. They were motored to Little Rock by Ben Creech, trainer and owner of an Oaklawn stable, and boarded a plane there for Chicago.

TOPPING, ANGERED BY N. Y. GIANTS, THREATENS BOLT TO ALL-AMERICA

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—The Yankees held a press conference in their new offices today at which it was announced that George Weiss was assuming charge of all baseball player operations within the Yankee organization, and hinted that the All-America Football conference would have a club in Yankee stadium next season unless the New York Football Giants changed their tune.

It was all very confusing, with first Larry MacPhail, president of the baseball Yankees, holding forth, and then Dan Topping, part owner of the baseball Yankees and entire owner of an orphan football team, the Yanks of Boston, telling his troubles, and a large segment of the metropolitan press trying to split them apart.

Topping Demands Rights

This being football weather, Topping's discourse possibly was the more important. He said, first, that in his capacity as football club owner he had just been given permission by the Yankees to play football in the stadium for the next 10 years. This was not surprising, considering that he owns one-third of the baseball Yankees.

He said that unless the football Giants of the National league, who play at the Polo Grounds, gave his orphaned football team a clear track on five of the nine football Sundays in New York in 1946, that he would jump his team in the new All-America conference, of which Jimmy Crowley is commissioner.

"We won't leave the National league if we can help it," Topping said. "I'm talking with President Tim Mara of the Giants now and trying to work something out. The All-America wants us very much. We should know something within two weeks."

It might be pointed out that the football Giants, up to now, have shown no disposition to surrender any of their juicy fall dates to Topping's team. The consensus was, after the meeting, that Topping, a wealthy young man, would be forced to toss away his franchise in the National league and join forces with the new gridiron group.

"Two Leagues Good Thing"

"I think," said Topping, possibly foreseeing the inevitable, "that it will be a good thing in the long run to have two professional football leagues. I'll guarantee this much, that there will be pro football in Yankee stadium."

MacPhail, wearing a catcher's mask as an indication to the assembled writers that he was speaking in his capacity as head of the baseball Yanks, then told of Weiss' elevation to complete command of all player personnel. Weiss in the past controled only the Yankee farm operations.

"This is my swan song," declared MacPhail. "From now on when you want to know anything about players, you talk to George. He makes out all contracts, signs all players, makes all player trades. He'll consult me now and then, I hope, but I'm not going to second guess him."

"I understand that Joe Di Maggio is in town. All right, he will talk contract with Weiss—not with me. It's up to George to tell you when Joe signs his contract. From now on I'm just going to be president of the club."

Contract for Lights

MacPhail said the Yankees had let contracts for a lighting system at the stadium to cost over $200,000 and that they would be ready to play night baseball when the 1946 season opens. He would not say how many night games the Yankees would play.

Other improvements at the stadium during the next year will cost over $250,000, he said. Among other things the seating capacity for football will be raised to around 90,000 and there will be a fine new ladies' powder room.

MacPhail said his outfit would be willing to take a loss to get the annual Army-Navy football game away from Philadelphia and that the Louis-Conn heavyweight championship next spring would not go out of New York "if it's only a question of rental."

Pros May Be Playing Up to Dec. 30

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Dates and sites for possible three-way or two-way play-offs were arranged today at a meeting of representatives of six National Football league clubs.

In event of a three-way tie in the Eastern division, the Philadelphia Eagles would play the Washington Redskins in Philadelphia Dec. 16, with the winner meeting the Boston Yanks in Boston Dec. 23. Such a play-off would move the league championship game, to be played in the west, to Dec. 30.

In the event of a three-way tie in the west, Cleveland would play the Detroit Lions in Detroit Dec. 9 and the winner would play the Green Bay Packers in Green Bay Dec. 16. That would provide for the league title game to be played Dec. 23 unless a three-way deadlock also developed in the east.

A two-way tie in the east would be settled by Washington meeting Philadelphia at Philadelphia Dec. 16, with the championship game to be played Dec. 23. Should Detroit and Cleveland tie for the western title they would play in Cleveland Dec. 9 and the championship game would be played Dec. 16 as originally scheduled.

ANOTHER RIDER HURT IN SPILL; 3 IN HOSPITAL

Charles L. Martin Thrown at Sportsman's

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

The short turns and highly competitive spirit of the jockeys at Sportsman's Park added another name to the hospital list yesterday.

Charles L. Martin, veteran rider from Monroeville, Ind., joined Job Jessop and Alfred Applebee in St. Anthony's hospital after a spill in the third race, in which he suffered a broken collar bone. His mount, T. Tortorella's East Coalinga stumbled going into the back stretch.

Misses Chance at Record

Jessop's and Applebee's injuries, suffered Wednesday when their horses fell, are more serious than at first reported, Dr. William C. Meacham, track physician, said yesterday. X-rays have disclosed fractured vertebrae in each case, while Applebee is in a critical condition with internal injuries and Jessop also has a bruised kidney.

Applebee, whose home is in Liberal, Kas., has been placed in a cast and will be out of action indefinitely. Jessop must remain in the hospital for another week and then must wear a brace. The Nibley, Utah, youngster will be unable to ride for several weeks, Dr. Meacham said, thus losing his chance of beating Jackie Westrope's modern record of riding 301 winners in one year, accomplished in 1933.

Devalue Takes Feature

The Happy Hour farm's Stars and Stripes winner, Devalue, ridden by Andy McKlemurry, wounded veteran of the Normandy invasion, scored handily in the $2,000 Richard J. Finnegan purse, yesterday's feature.

The attendance on the fourth day of the final week of racing in the Chicago area was 6,417 and the mutuel handle amounted to $620,720.

MEISTERS ROLL 3,170; WIN TWO LEAGUE GAMES

The Meisters continued their heavy pin shooting in last night's Classic league session in Gateway recreation by rolling up a 3,170 total and winning two games from Daumit's White Shirt Colognes. Bud Wright and Paul Krumske paced the teams with series of 673 and 663.

At the Bryn Mawr recreation the Monarchs retained their three game leadership by taking two games from Voss Belting.

Plot Surprises for Rams and Redskins

Jacobs Joins Rams

JACK JACOBS, former University of Oklahoma back, yesterday rejoined the Cleveland Rams after three years of service in the air corps. The announcement was made in Chicago by Nate Wallack of the Rams, who said Jacobs will be in uniform against the Cardinals Sunday in Comiskey park. To make room for Jacobs, Cleveland placed Ralph Ruthstrom, injured full back, on the inactive list. Jacobs starred for the Rams as a passer in 1942.

The Bears and Cardinals, whose composite record this season in National Football league play is two victories and 13 defeats, are matched Sunday against two teams which have a combination record of 11 victories and two defeats. There couldn't be a better example of the worst playing the best, yet each of the lowly Chicago teams harbors a suspicion that it will deliver an upset punch.

The Cardinals, who play the Cleveland Rams in Comiskey park, yesterday greeted a war returnee, Ralph Fife. A full fledged navy lieutenant, Fife served 21 months on a minesweeper. He played four games with the Cards in 1942. Ralph was an All-American guard at Pitt in 1941. The Rams have won six and lost one for a first place tie in the west with the Detroit Lions.

Bears Would Match 1944 Feat

The Bears will leave at 3:10 o'clock this afternoon for Washington, determined to throw their weight around in the tight eastern division race. Last year, about this time, the Bears roared into Philadelphia and knocked the Eagles out of the eastern title running. A Bear victory Sunday would create a two way tie in the east if the second place Eagles bowl over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Arrival of Comdr. George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, is expected most any time. Ralph Brizzolara, acting president of the team, has made arrangements to leave for Washington tomorrow with Halas.

The Bears will deliver a masked helmet to Lee Artoe, veteran tackle who has been in Washington this week. Artoe suffered a broken jaw in the Green Bay game two weeks ago. The Bears still are bruised from bumps suffered in the Green Bay and Detroit games.

Passing Duel in Prospect

It was reported from Washington yesterday that Lt. Fred Davis, star pre-war Redskin tackle, probably would play against the Bears. He is being processed out of the army air forces. The Redskins are far ahead of all rivals in the return of war veterans. Davis will supplement a group which already includes Half Backs Steven Bagarus, Dick Todd, Cecil Hare, Merlyn Condit, and Bill De Correvont, and Center Ki Aldrich.

Sid Luckman's return to form in the last two contests is the peg on which the Bears are hanging their hopes for an upset. Sid and Sam Baugh, who pegs them for the Redskins, are tied in passing in an intricate computation which includes completions, per cent completed, yards gained, touchdown passes, and per cent intercepted.

NAVY EASES UP DRILLS; AWAITS WISCONSIN TEST

The Badgers will arrive tomorrow in Baltimore and will hold a limbering up drill in the afternoon.

[ADVERTISMENT]

Larkin-Moran Bout on WENR Tonight

Tippy Larkin, the Garfield, N. J. gunner, meets Nick Moran, the Mexican marauder (above), in a welterweight ten-rounder at Madison Square Garden in New York tonight!

Sharp-shooting Larkin, kayoed Freddie Archer and licked Willie Joyce in his last two Garden appearances. Tippy, strictly a boxer, has a dazzling left and a Sunday sock in his right that's a real convincer.

Moran became a hero in Mexico by defeating Bob Montgomery last spring. His only Garden fight — a crowd-pleasing shindy—was against Ike Williams in September. He battled ably but lost to the NBA lightweight champ. Moran's style is basic. He fights, throws punches in bunches, keeps boring in.

Enjoy the excitement, blow by blow on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WENR (890 on your dial) at 9 P. M.

Remember . . . LOOK sharp! FEEL sharp! BE sharp! Use Gillette Blue Blades with the sharpest edges ever honed!

VON STEUBEN'S KICKERS TAKE CITY TITLE, 4-2

BY DAVID CONDON

Von Steuben High school's soccer team yesterday rallied in the second half to defeat Crane, 4 to 2, in Winnemac park, and win its first City league soccer title before approximately 1,000.

The Von Steuben team reached the final round by defeating Tilden, which ousted Von Steuben from the semi-finals in 1944. Crane gained the championship contest with a triumph over Lane, defending champion.

Crane took the lead yesterday in the first five minutes of play when Warner Mueller, center half back, booted the ball thru the Von Steuben goal to score two points, high school rules calling for two points to be registered for each goal.

This 2 to 0 advantage stood until half time, and 10 minutes had elapsed in the second half before Von Steuben tied the score. This came when Norm Wishner, inside right, booted the ball past the Crane goalie after Kennie Goldberg put the ball in play with a corner kick.

Crane [2]		Von Steuben [4]
Menella	G	Radjs
Mion	R.F.	Lezin
Fillicaro [C]	L.F.	Blinder
Santoro	R.H.	Cleson
Mueller	C.H.	Robinson
Ressi	L.H.	Brin
Alvarez	O.R.	Stone
Valenzio	I.R.	Wishner
Alaniz	C	Kalmin
Wojdyla	I.L.	Bengston
Ceaser	O.L.	Goldberg [C]

Goals—Wishner, Kalmin, Mueller.
Officials—Robert Jones, Joe Springer.
Coaches—Julian Steinmetz, Crane; Charles Goldstein, Von Steuben.

Buddy Bomar, Wilman Meet in Pin Match

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Buddy Bomar, the Texas native who ran off with the 1944 national individual match game bowling championship, and Joe Wilman, Chicago ex-soldier who pursued him right down to the finish in the big show, will play an encore of their battle of last year in a special match tomorrow and Sunday.

Bomar's title will not be involved, since Buddy will not put that up against the nation's top flight sharpshooters until Dec. 1, when the nine day struggle sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America opens in the Auditorium service men's center.

The duel between Bomar and Wilman is set for 28 games on a total pin basis, with the first two blocks scheduled for tomorrow on Wilman's home drives, the Dearborn-Jackson recreation, and the last 14 games set for Bomar's favorite lanes, Faetz's recreation, 5951 N. Ridge av., Sunday. Starting times each day will be 2:30 and 8:30 p. m.

This is the second of three special matches with which Bomar hopes to condition himself for the defense of his title next month. Buddy didn't come off so well in the first of these, losing early this month to Joe Sinke, fourth finisher in the 1944 All-Star field by 276 pins, 5,804 to 5,528.

After the Wilman match Buddy will wind up his match game preparations in a two day fight with Ned Day, former title holder.

College Football's Fighting Men

Iowa's Art Johnson Defied Death at 8,000 Ft.

[This is another of a series recounting thrilling war experiences of athletes who have returned to midwestern college gridirons. Today's hero is Arthur Johnson, Iowa full back from Fort Dodge, Ia., who also played with the Hawkeyes in 1940-'41.]

BY EDWARD PRELL

CAPT. ARTHUR JOHNSON'S war thrills bounced around Europe like a rubber ball. He was navigator of a B-24 bomber in the first raid on the Ploesti oil fields in Romania. . . . Was in a shot-up bomber which plastered bombs on Sicily . . . Participated in the first air raid attack on Rome. . . . Was interned in Portugal. . . . Flew from England to Danzig in East Prussia, an 11 hour mission.

Most exciting was the raid on Ploesti, the first low level bombing job in air forces history. With his mates of the 9th air force, Johnson drilled two weeks in Africa for this strike.

Art Johnson

"On Aug. 1, 1943," he says, "we left our base in Bengasi for what we hoped would be a surprise raid on Ploesti. But on the 1,200 mile flight we had to travel up a mountain valley. We made a wrong turn and had to go back. By this time the Germans were well alerted and ready with heavy ack-ack and small arms fire."

Johnson's plane swooped in at about 150 feet, barely clearing 100-foot smokestacks. The bomb door bays became wedged so the missiles had to be dropped right thru them—with 100 per cent effectiveness.

The plane's stabilizer was knocked out and it was Capt. Johnson's job to fly between 9,000-foot mountains—at 8,000 feet—by the process of dodging the peaks, something like a broken field run in football. The B-24 was shot up, but Johnson and his eight companions returned safely.

Johnson participated in the air phase of the Sicily invasion. His plane lost an engine and was badly damaged. The nose of the B-24, where he sat, was full of holes but he didn't even get a scratch.

Enroute from Africa to England to join the 8th air force, his plane lost an engine 200 miles out in the Atlantic. The ship dropped from 10,000 to 1,000 feet. All movable equipment was tossed out and the plane landed near Lisbon. The crew was interned for 35 days, then without explanation, placed on a boat for England.

[This series will be resumed Monday.]

KIRKWOOD LEADS IN MOBILE OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

Mobile, Ala., Nov. 15 (AP) — Joe Kirkwood of Philadelphia, Pa., took a one-stroke lead in the $10,000 Azalea open golf tournament by posting a four under par 68 today. Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., Sam Byrd of Detroit, and Denny Shute of Akron, O., were on his heels with 69s. Lt. Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., army dentist, who won the recent North and South Open, was the best of the amateurs, turning in a 73. A stroke behind him was Frank Stranahan, 23 year old Toledo, O., amateur.

Tilden Tech Eyes Another City Crown

Tilden Tech, which last year won the Kelly bowl football championship, again has a chance to perform in the post-season charity game, and don't think Coach Chuck Harvey isn't concentrating on that.

Three of the last four years Tilden has represented the public school circuit in its battle against the Catholic league champion, and Harvey wouldn't feel the least bit selfish should his Blue Devil eleven come thru with another crown.

However, Tilden must defeat a strong Fenger eleven, south section champion, in a league semi-final play-off in Soldiers' field tomorrow, and then meet the winner of tomorrow's Austin-Schurz semi-final game, in the championship battle Nov. 24. Austin will play Schurz in Hanson park.

Tilden has been a jinx to Fenger, south section champion, in recent years. Bill Gay and Mike Swistowicz, two veteran backs who paced Tilden to its championship last season, again may cause Chuck Palmer's team trouble.

PURDUE STOPS IN CITY EN ROUTE TO MICHIGAN GAME

Thirty-six members of Purdue's once beaten football squad arrived in Chicago last night en route to Ann Arbor, Mich., where the Boilermakers will meet Michigan tomorrow. The squad will proceed to Jackson, Mich., this morning to establish pre-game headquarters.

Coach Cecil Isbell was doubtful on the make-up of his forward wall, but planned to stand pat on the pony back field composed of Bill Canfield and Dave Shaw, half backs; Ed Cody, full back, and Bob DeMoss, quarter back. The traveling squad:

When the new Van Dyck 43's were introduced about two years ago, they sold at 2 for 15¢. Today they are being re-introduced at 9¢ each.

This new price is absolutely necessary to maintain the high standards of quality and value which have always characterized Van Dyck.

Van Dyck 43's are slightly larger and longer than the famous Van Dyck 32's, and contain the same modern-taste blend that satisfies "Smoke-Hunger."

VOTE DOWN AFL MOVE TO INSIST ON UNANIMITY

Parley Agreements Need 30 Assents

BY THOMAS FURLONG
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15—The rules committee of the national labor management conference today rejected a proposal requiring a unanimous vote on any recommendations that come out of the conference.

The proposal was made by American Federation of Labor delegates who are expected to carry the fight for its adoption to the conference floor. Management and Congress of Industrial Organizations members of the committee combined to adopt a voting rule that requires the assent of at least 15 labor delegates and 15 industry delegates to adopt conference recommendations. Each group has 18 delegates. This was the original voting rule proposed by the agenda committee but held up when the AFL proposed the unanimous rule.

Chairman to Rule

A parliamentary question will arise when the rules committee report is sent to the conference floor. Judge Walter C. Stacy, conference chairman, will have to decide if the voting rule recommended by the committee can be accepted by a simple majority vote of the conference or if 15 labor and 15 management votes are necessary. If the latter, the AFL would be in position to block it. The procedure once adopted will apply in all subsequent conference balloting.

George Meany, AFL secretary-treasurer, supported the unanimous vote requirement with the argument that it would give added importance to the recommendations of the conference. Recommendations adopted without unanimous agreement will have little meaning, it was said.

Reconvene Nov. 26

Final action on the rules committee procedure will not be taken until the week of Nov. 26, when the general conference will reconvene to act on the committee reports. The conference may conclude its work during that week.

As the voting question was put aside temporarily, the executive committee moved to speed the deliberations of other conference committees. Final reports from all committees were asked for by Saturday. The action was taken because it was believed that some would extend their deliberations indefinitely.

The executive committee will examine the reports of each of the subcommittees early next week and attempt to coördinate them before the conference recesses for the Thanksgiving week-end. The reports then are expected to go to the floor for the final action when the conference reconvenes.

Expect Wage Policy Decision

Disposition of the resolution offered by CIO President Philip Murray asking a declaration on wage policy is expected to be made tomorrow by the executive committee. The management delegates have agreed upon a statement of policy on this question which they will make public.

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and a management delegate, said that unless the various conference committees come to an agreement on important questions it will be necessary for the executive committee to "do a job." He referred particularly to an agreement on collective bargaining procedure. In reply to questions he said he opposed government bargaining machinery.

Grains Lower as New Curb on Rye Nears

Grain markets turned downward yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade as the exchange took further measures to bring about a more orderly market in rye. The business conduct committee of the exchange called for statements of open interest in rye futures in amounts of 50,000 bushels or more, to be in the hands of the committee this morning.

December rye which sold at $1.90¼ a bushel on Tuesday was down to $1.78½ at one time and brokers reported much less activity. The option closed at $1.79⅞ to $1.80¼, or 1½ cents lower. Other active deliveries of rye were ¼ to 2 lower.

Wheat was unchanged to 1¼ lower with December at the ceiling. All deliveries of corn held at the limit. Oats lost ⅞ to 1⅛ and barley was ⅛ higher to ⅛ lower.

Board Action Expected

Directors of the Board of Trade are scheduled to meet early today to consider the business conduct committee report on rye. It is expected some action will be taken to reduce the volume of uncompleted contracts in December rye. These aggregated about 8 million bushels when trading started yesterday, or nearly 4 million less than 2 weeks ago. A sale of 5,000 bushels of rye was reported in the cash market at $1.85, or 5 cents over December and 6 cents above the ceiling price on No. 2 red and hard winter.

With little prospect elevators will accumulate any large amount of cash corn for delivery on December contracts, directors of the exchange were expected to take some action in that grain.

Open Interest Scattered

Well informed members of the exchange said the speculative interest in December rye is scattered and there are no large holdings. Exchange regulations prevent any individual or company from having a net open interest of 700,000 bushels in any one or all deliveries of rye.

December wheat was in good demand at ceiling prices, but offerings were small. Cash interests were fair buyers of May.

FARMERS TRIM HOG OFFERINGS; PRICES STEADY

Chicago receipts of 16,500 hogs yesterday were 10 per cent below a week earlier, but largest for a Thursday since January. Buyers continued to pay ceiling prices.

Ideal feeding weather caused the decrease in supply, the trade said. The run compared with 18,336 a week earlier, 15,002 two weeks ago, and 13,814 three weeks ago. Despite the decline, the four day total set a new 10 months' high of 74,600, 6 per cent above last week.

Cattle receipts of 5,200 were smallest for a Thursday in nine weeks, with the four day total second lowest since the middle of August. The best grades of steers and heifers held firm at ceiling prices. Other grades were slow and weak, with shortfeds weakest.

The sheep and lamb run of 6,500 was about average for Thursday, but the four day total was smallest in nine weeks and 23 per cent under last week. Buyers gave $14.50 for top native lambs.

Int. Harvester Declares Year End 40 Cent Extra

International Harvester company yesterday declared a year end dividend of 40 cents on common stock and the regular quarterly dividend of 65 cents. In 1944 the company paid a year end extra of 55 cents.

We are pleased to announce that has been released from active duty with the Army Air Forces and has become associated with us as a Vice President.

Major Frederick W. Johnston

CALIFORNIA PACKING

Please inform me regarding California Packing corporation's war time trend of sales and earnings. N. S.

Large deliveries of the company's canned and dried fruits, canned vegetables, and other products to the government were a factor in nearly doubling its sales in the fiscal year ended with February, 1945, compared with the 1940 fiscal period. The 1945 volume of $111,051,000 was the largest ever reported, and the business during the first six months of the current year continued at a yearly rate in excess of 100 millions.

Altho the company has been subject to heavy excess profits taxes, amounting to $4,140,000 in 1945, the war time profits each year were in excess of the average of $2.05 a common share for the four years ended in February, 1940. Per share earnings were: 1945, $3.10; 1944, $3.76; 1943, $2.74; 1942, $4.91; 1941, $2.64. The profits include the company's equity in the earnings of Alaska Packers association, a salmon canner.

Profits normally are sensitive to changes in price levels and industrial conditions. A net loss was shown in the 1939 fiscal period, and common dividends were suspended for a time. Since 1941 yearly payments have totaled $1.50 a share.

Capitalization includes $5,500,000 debentures and 59,989 $2.50 cumulative preferred stock, $50 par. Net working capital last February was $26,057,000. California Packing owns ranches totaling more than 20,000 acres. Two natural gas wells have been developed this year on 1,444 acres leased to Standard Oil of California.

APPROVES END OF NEWSPRINT CONTROL DEC. 31

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers association special newsprint committee today approved the recommendation of the newspaper industry advisory committee that government controls of newsprint be ended Dec. 31, 1945.

The special committee invited presidents and managers of regional and state associations to meet in New York Nov. 28 "to consider the adoption of a regional program similar to the New England Daily Newspaper association plan."

The plan, the resolution said, "will assure continuance of publication of any newspaper in the United States which may otherwise be forced to discontinue because of lack of newsprint." It provides that newspapers, if called upon, would contribute not more than 3 per cent of their tonnage to an emergency supply of newsprint to be used "only where a newspaper is faced with suspension."

Full Chrysler Output Early in '46 Forecast

Full production of Chrysler automobiles is expected to be reached by next March, K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler corporation, yesterday told stockholders in a letter disclosing an increase in earnings in the first nine months this year. However, he included a note of pessimism in his admonition that rising prices may affect sales volume.

Net profit in the nine months was $23,077,062, or $5.30 a share, against $18,334,451, or $4.21 a share, a year earlier. Sales climbed to $880,918,136 from $763,004,784 a year ago.

"In the consideration of the wage-price basis upon which the automobile business will resume operations it should not be overlooked that substantially rising costs and prices of cars may well alter the rate of buying by the consuming public," Keller warned.

War Dividends Smaller

"Chrysler did business during the war at a rate of profit less than half our pre-war rate. Yearly dividends to the corporation stockholders during the war period were half those paid pre-war."

Chrysler's unfilled war orders at the beginning of the third quarter approximated 972 million dollars. They totaled about 6 millions at the end of the September quarter, reflecting post-V-J day cancellations.

F. L. Jacobs company, automotive parts and home appliance manufacturer, said net income in the fiscal year ended July 31 rose to $1,513,014, or $2.37 a share, from $1,266,036, or $1.98 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

Rex C. Jacobs, president, said the producer's automotive business is rapidly expanding to full production and many new items have been added to the company's line. He said an automatic washing machine and an electric steam iron are being tooled. Production of the two units will begin in January and December, respectively. An automatic dishwasher and garbage disposal unit will follow soon.

Anaconda Profits Down

Anaconda Copper Mining company reported preliminary net income in the first three quarters of 1945 was $18,702,051, or $2.16 a share, compared with $24,839,914, or $2.86 a share, a year ago. C. F. Kelley, chairman, said reduced profits reflected smaller production chiefly because of continued man power shortages in the domestic mines and cancellations of government contracts.

Alleghany corporation, top holding company of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, reported net income in the first nine months was $6,186,866, against $3,838,000 a year ago. The net income reduced the deficit from $67,285,836 to $61,098,969.

LARGE ILLEGAL USE OF OILS AND FATS CHARGED

Criminal information charging the illegal use of more than 4½ million pounds of fats and oils in the last three years in the manufacture of soap were filed by Atty. Raymond L. McClory yesterday against Zoll M. Zilberbrand, operating Zoll Soap company, and Family Soap company, of which Zilberbrand is a director.

Zilberbrand also was charged with wilfully failing to make required government reports. The complaint against Family Soap, which succeeded Zoll company, charged illegal use of 1,200,000 pounds of fats and oil from July 1 to Sept. 30 of this year. Defendants in this complaint included Loring Conn, 3325 N. Lavergne av., president, and George H. Podolsky, 5036 N. Albany, a director.

Another criminal information naming Fort Dearborn Electrical company, 230 N. Jefferson st., and Lawrence J. Bender and Robert J. Carney, its owners, charged they made an illegal profit of $5,000 by violating WPB regulations.

Jewel Tea Sales Exceed Year Ago by 19½ Pct.

Jewel Tea company yesterday reported sales of $5,346,042 in the four weeks ended Nov. 3, compared with $4,474,877 a year earlier, an increase of 19.5 per cent. Total 1945 sales to Nov. 3 were $51,310,501, compared with $47,087,240 in the corresponding period a year ago.

ATOMIC POWER HELD POSSIBLE OIL SUBSTITUTE

Scientist Discusses Future Uses

The petroleum refinery of the future may develop into more of a chemical factory than a producer of fuel because of the possibility atomic energy eventually will displace petroleum products in the fuel industry, Clark Goodman, assistant professor of physics of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said yesterday. He made his prediction to approximately 2,600 representatives of all segments of the oil industry at the annual meeting of the American Petroleum institute in the Stevens hotel.

Vice Adm. Moreell tells of future oil needs.

Atomic energy could be available for industrial uses within the next decade provided developments in the atomic field are permitted to flourish unhampered by military restrictions and government controls, said Goodman. He said it seemed use of such energy could be solved in a reasonably short time.

No Clear Answer, He Says

"The question will then be, can atomic power compete with petroleum, coal, and water power on an economic basis?" said Goodman. "Too many unknowns are involved to allow other than speculation, but in all likelihood the answer will not be clear cut.

"Since coal is the most economical fuel for large installations, it would appear that natural uranium piles may compete with coal, particularly in the generation of electric power. The piles could be located near the populated areas but sufficiently remote to prevent radiation hazards. The heat released would be used to produce steam to drive turbo-electric generators."

The natural uranium and graphite piles which may compete with coal are far too bulky to be used in units for mobile power, he said. But with the decrease in size of power units the competition with petroleum probably would begin in replacing fuel oil in large transports and naval vessels. Distinct advantages would be that refueling would be infrequent, and that atomic fuel is noninflammable, he explained.

Would Add to Size of Units

"Shielding from the radiations would be a major problem and would add considerably to the weight and size of the units," he said. "Such applications of atomic energy might be entirely ruled out on this basis alone."

When the time of atomic automobiles or of planes powered by nuclear energy arrives petroleum will no longer primarily be used for fuel, but it will be the raw material for all kinds of organic substances.

The war has emphasized the importance of petroleum as a source substance in organic synthesis. It already seems a waste to burn hydrocarbon molecules when they can be converted into valuable compounds such as synthetic rubber, plastics, and medicinal substances, he said.

Reports Military Need

Vice Adm. Ben Moreell, chief of the navy's bureau of yards and docks, said if another war comes the army and navy would require not less than 2 billion barrels oil a year, the amount used at the peak of World War II. In expanding resources at home and abroad, the government "should lend its aid to industry, and in the field of synthetic fuels it should be prepared to underwrite plants which will insure production on a commercial scale," he said.

A steadily expanding market for petroleum products was predicted by Stewart P. Coleman of Standard Oil company [N. J.]. He said domestic consumption is expected to rise from slightly above 4 million barrels daily in 1941 to about 6 million in 1965.

W. A. Matheson, president of the Oil-Heat Institute of America, discounted the oil shortage warnings of "professional alarmists," and said an abundance of oil exists.

FCC RULES RAIL LINES MAY BEGIN RADIO USE DEC. 31

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—The country's railroads may start using two way radio facilities on Dec. 31, the federal communications commission announced today.

It said its "railroad radio service will contribute to the safety of life and property in preventing rail accidents and in reducing the seriousness of injury and damage after accidents by permitting the prompt summoning of aid to the accident."

Supreme Court Weighs Utility 'Death' Rule After Long Delay

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—The fate of holding companies under the "death sentence" clause of the 1935 public utility holding company act was taken under consideration today by the Supreme court. The clause requires interstate gas and electric holding companies to limit operations to a single, integrated system.

The tribunal began consideration of the issue after hearing arguments on an appeal by the giant North American company from an order by the securities and exchange commission. North American was told by SEC to divest itself of all its utilities systems except one serving the St. Louis area.

Contends It Is Not Commerce

Charles E. Hughes Jr., company attorney and son of the retired chief justice, contended that the ownership by one corporation of securities of other corporations in itself is not interstate or intrastate commerce.

"The right to own or retain the ownership of property is characteristically a matter governed by the laws of the states, with which the federal government has no concern," he asserted.

Solicitor General J. Howard McGrath, recently appointed by President Truman, made his first argument before the court in replying to Hughes.

Operates in 17 States

"The North American system consists of 80 different companies stretched across the United States, some of them holding companies themselves," he said. "The companies operate in 17 states and serve 3 million customers. How can North American say it is not engaged in interstate commerce, when every physical act company officials perform is done outside of New York?" [North American has headquarters in New York City.]

Only six justices heard the case, Justices Douglas, Jackson, and Reed having disqualified themselves. North American appealed to the high court almost three years ago, but consideration has been delayed because of lack of a legal quorum of six justices.

PUBLIC TAKING SIDES WITH MANAGEMENT, SAYS OPINION TESTER

Elmo Roper, public opinion analyst and marketing consultant, yesterday said the public generally is siding with employers rather than unions and that the "crying need of unions is better leadership."

The public is "actually annoyed because of a belief that many unions are interested only in their rights—not their responsibilities," Roper said at the annual meeting of the American Trade Association Executives in the Stevens hotel. He said "really responsible and forward looking business men" may come to the aid of responsible unions to save the good they have done.

END PRICE RULE FOR SOME PAPER PRODUCTS NOV. 20

Washington, D. C., Nov. 15 (AP)—Some printed paper products and services will be freed of price controls Nov. 20, along with additional metals and a number of other items, OPA announced today. It said that in each case the action is prompted by balanced supply and demand or by a finding that living and business costs will not be affected.

Price ceilings will be suspended on such printed paper products as bound blank books, indexing systems, social stationery, pads and commercial supplies, and on some greeting cards. Seasonal greeting cards remain under retail price ceilings but ceilings at prior sales levels are suspended.

The ceiling suspension also covers services on these items, including the printing, publishing, typesetting, plate making, and binding of them.

RAIL'S 6 POINT ADVANCE LEADS STOCKS HIGHER

Rises on Dividend Boost of 25 Cents

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Southern Pacific, aided by a 25 cent dividend boost, rose 6⅞ points today and closed at 59¼ to lead all other rail and industrial stocks on one of the widest recovery swings of the last month. Many favorites touched new peaks for a year or more.

At the start gold mines attracted the principal buying on hopes for the resumption of the minting of gold coins and a possible increase in the price of the yellow metal. This group took a back seat after midday, however, when the good railway news arrived. Carriers then monopolized the ticker tape in sizable volume. Turnover was 2,010,000 shares, compared with 1,610,000 yesterday.

Inflation Views Help

Besides optimism over the Southern Pacific payment, customers added to their rail accounts on reports other roads may increase year-end disbursements. Inflation views and the belief that despite wage-price controversies prosperity was in the making stimulated the optimists. Some customers held aloof to await an extension of the technical correction which started Tuesday.

The Associated Press 60 stock average rose 1 point at 75.1, a top since March 10, 1937, and the largest upturn since Oct. 31. The 15 rail composite was up 1.7 points at 47.6, a high since March 31, 1937. The market was fairly broad with 962 issues traded. Of these, 578 advanced and 229 declined.

In the new high category with gains of fractions to 4 points were Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Dome Mines, Alaska Juneau, South American Gold, American and Foreign Power 2d preferred, R-K-O, Texas Pacific Land Trust, and American Water Works.

RAIL BONDS RISE

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—Rails advanced fractions to about 2 points in today's bond market after Southern Pacific directors increased the dividend to $1 a share. However, other groups failed to follow thru in the rise.

Dealings were fairly active with volume totaling $7,780,000, against $5,870,000 yesterday. The Associated Press rail average was up 0.3 point to a yearly high of 102, but this was partly offset by a decline of 0.2 in utilities. Other groups were unchanged.

United States government issues were quiet and about unchanged. Foreign bonds were mixed.

CHICAGO LIST HIGHER

Prices advanced on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday in turnover of 49,000 shares. Active issues included Central and South West Utilities, up ⅝; Chicago corporation and Admiral, each up ¼, and Consolidated Biscuit, up 1⅝.

GUARD INTEREST OF CUSTOMERS, BROKERS URGED

SEC Aid Says Confidence Must Be Merited

An appeal to brokers to guard against "betrayals" of investors by investment bankers and securities salesmen such as occurred in the late 1920s was made yesterday by James A. Treanor Jr., director of the trading and exchange division of the securities and exchange commission. Addressing the Stock Brokers' Association of Chicago at the Chicago Stock exchange, Treanor asked for "every reasonable precaution to prevent a repetition of the '20s."

Securities dealers should show concern over customers who suffer unnecessary losses because they have acted on recommendations "which no person having any claim to be expert in the securities field ought to make," he said.

Would Put Public's Interest First

Also meriting investigation are firms adopting unsound business practices "because they are unwilling to face the facts of life as they pertain to the securities business," and others which do not realize they must place the interest of public customers before their own, he said.

"Before offering a security to his customer it is enlightened self-interest for the professional to ask not 'Can it be sold?' but rather 'Should it be purchased?'" he said. "There is abundant evidence that investment bankers and selling group members usually do exercise care and restraint in their offerings of new securities to their customers.

"Altho it is disturbing to note that of late there is increasing criticism of some offerings of the securities of 'war babies,' it is worth recording that much of the criticism of such offerings has come from the ranks of the professional brokers and dealers themselves."

Raps Compensation Secrecy

Treanor warned that if the average individual investor should become convinced that he could not look with confidence for impartial advice "to those whose business it is to be expert in securities matters, then there would be no future to your business."

He attacked especially an unwillingness to disclose the amount of compensation dealers receive from a trade, a practice hardly calculated to inspire public confidence, he asserted. He termed the practice "particularly vicious when followed by stock exchange firms which have for years held themselves out to the public as brokers and are generally regarded as such by the persons with whom they transact business."

"They do most of their business as brokers, yet not infrequently it happens that when unlisted securities are involved some member firms take off their broker's coat and put on a dealer's coat without informing the customer of the reason for the change or its significance. Such conduct is frequently inconsistent with the best interests of the customer, and in such cases is highly detrimental to the welfare of the exchange itself."

Treanor contended that the most dangerous threat to the dealers' claims to public confidence is their attitude toward the disclosure of the market value of over the counter securities.

PLAN 2D BIGGEST NEGRO PRIVATE HOMES PROJECT

Plans for home units for 800 families will be built on the 16 acre tract at the southwest corner of 63d st. and South Park av., formerly occupied by the "White City," an amusement park, were announced yesterday. About 5 million dollars will be spent in land and apartment buildings, said Henry K. Holsman, executive secretary of Community Development trust, which acquired the site.

Holsman & Holsman and Klekamp, architects, are drawing plans for a group of three and four story walkups and several six story elevator type buildings containing five and six room units.

The entire project is contingent on obtaining changes in zoning, it was said, with work to be started early in the spring.

This will be Chicago's second largest privately financed Negro residential development. The largest is Princeton Park, with 900 units, at Wentworth av. and 95th st., designed by the same architects.

PARTS SHORTAGE PREVENTS BUICK OUTPUT 2D DAY

Flint, Mich., Nov. 15 (AP)—Production of General Motors' Buick automobiles was halted for the second consecutive day today because of a lack of chassis frames which are obtained from the Midland Steel company of Cleveland, O. The halt in production caused the lay-off of 3,500 men at Buick and Fisher Body yesterday.

Midland Steel blamed a "slow-down" in its plant for the shortage. The CIO United Automobile Workers said Midland Steel had fired 200 men making frames in a production rate dispute and had refused to bargain.

Together Buick and Fisher Body employ 15,500 men. General Motors said 1,000 more men at Buick would be laid off tomorrow and 500 more at Fisher Body next week if the shortage of frames continued.

Ford Strike May End Soon

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 15 (AP)—Hopes for a settlement of the 66 day old Ford Motor company of Canada strike were running high in Windsor today as the strikers met to consider "unanimous recommendations" from a top union group.

The proposals were drawn up last night by leaders of the CIO United Automobile Workers and the Canadian Congress of Labor, recently returned from conferences with dominion officials at Ottawa, and heads of striking Ford local 200, UAW-CIO.

The 10,000 Ford employes whose strike has drawn sympathy work stoppages by 8,500 other Windsor workers and 24 hour "work holidays" by several thousand others thruout Canada, are demanding a union shop, dues check-off, wage increases, and other concessions.

Halt Ontario Car Output

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 15 (AP)—Automobile production in Ontario was paralyzed completely today with announcement that General Motors at Oshawa, Ont., was closing its production departments because of lack of parts.

The company said the shortage resulted from strikes involving 28 plants in the Windsor district, including the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Ltd., and Chrysler.

Leather Workers Strike

New York, Nov. 15 (AP)—A protest work stoppage today by approximately 57,000 to 63,000 leather workers in 16 states received "100 per cent support," a spokesman for the International Fur and Leather Workers union, CIO, said today.

George Kleinman, publicity director for the union, said the success of the one day work holiday, called in support of a 30 per cent wage increase demand, was indicated by reports from district directors in three of the union's four districts.

STATE URGES COMMITMENT ON RAPE COUNT

Alleged Confession of Stiles Is Cited

Commitment of Howard G. Stiles Jr., 16, of 2326 Brown av., Evanston, to the Illinois State Training School for Boys at St. Charles was asked by the state yesterday in closing arguments in a hearing before Judge Frank H. Bicek in Juvenile court.

Assistant State's Atty. Patrick Egan told the court that he believed Stiles, charged with the attempted rape of a 10 year old girl Aug. 24 and the rape of an 8 year old girl Sept. 6 was mentally ill and should be committed to the training school "or some other institution where something can be done for him."

Witness Is Recalled

Evidence to have Stiles declared a delinquent indicated that he needs the attention of psychiatrists, Egan said, adding, "I don't want to brand him a criminal if the acts were caused by something beyond his control."

Joseph M. Skeffington, probation officer who had testified that Stiles admitted the rape and attempted rape to him, was recalled as a rebuttal witness for the state yesterday and asserted he had told Stiles' parents of the confession when he talked to them Sept. 15.

Parents Not Called

Lt. L. W. Calderwood of the Evanston police, who had testified that Stiles made a confession in the police station, also was recalled by the state and said that when the 10 year old girl identified Stiles as her assailant she said she "was sure Howard was the boy."

The state closed its case without calling as rebuttal witnesses the father of the 10 year old girl or the mother of the 8 year old girl. Both were in court, but Egan said their testimony as rebuttal witnesses was not needed.

Gag Is Stressed

Egan stressed the testimony of Lt. Calderwood that the police did not know a handkerchief had been used to gag the rape victim Sept. 6 in a forest preserve near Lincolnwood school until Stiles mentioned it in his confession.

Judge Bicep will give a decision in the case Monday, Nov. 26. Because attorneys are not in agreement of testimony in the record, Judge Bicek said that when a transcript of the testimony is completed he will take several days to study it.

OVERSEAS GI GIFTS STILL ARE LIMITED

Rumors that the five pound limit on packages sent to soldiers overseas has been lifted were denied yesterday by postoffice officials in Chicago.

Requirements for shipping articles remain the same, a spokesman said. First, a soldier must request the package and his request, with the envelope in which it was mailed, must be presented to the postoffice for approval. When mailed, it must not weigh more than five pounds, be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth. It must be wrapped sturdily and tied twice lengthwise and twice crosswise. The address should be typed or in ink.

The sender also should place a card within the package giving his name, address, and listing its contents.

SPUR TOURIST TRADE AS JOB MOVE IS PLEA

Revival and expansion of the tourist industry offers a quick means of stimulating employment without a federal subsidy, Don Thomas, president of the National Association of Travel Officials, told the organization's annual convention at its closing sessions in the Hotel Sherman yesterday.

Thomas said the predicted 10 million dollar tourist business during the first year of normal conditions would provide employment for 2,412,000 persons in transportation, trades, and services which, he said, are capable of still greater expansion.

J. Herbert Walker of the Pennsylvania department of commerce, Harrisburg, was elected president. Others named included George E. Bishop, Michigan Tourist council, Marquette, secretary.

Vet Is Seized in Case Involving Girl, 16

James Sayles, 20, of 2321 Charleston st., discharged sailor and former inmate of the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles, was arrested yesterday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a 16 year old girl whose father told police she spent three days with him after she vanished from her home Nov. 11. Detectives said they were investigating Sayles' reputed elopement to Crown Point, Ind., last January with another woman.

Relocation Authority to Close Illinois Office

The war relocation authority will close its greater Illinois office at 226 W. Adams st., Dec. 15, Miss Prudence Ross, area supervisor, said yesterday. The Chicago district office and the north central area office of the WRA, at the same address, will remain open.
